In Memoriam

Tyronee Bussey

Ben Gregory

Earlier this year, the University of Colorado football team lost two of the most popular people ever associated with the program.

On January 3, Tyronee "Tiger" Bussey passed away in Detroit after a nearly three-year battle against Leukemia. Tiger was first diagnosed with the disease a month after signing a letter-of-intent to attend CU in 1994. Though he never played in a game, the fact that he battled back to where he could practice with his teammates was an inspiration to all. Tiger was 20 years old.

On April 10, assistant coach Bennett "Ben" Gregory suffered a heart attack and expired in his sleep. The running backs coach at CU since 1991 who was also known as "Pope," he was not only a wonderful coach, but an even better person. His most famous student of the game, Rashaan Salaam, won the Heisman Trophy in 1994, but Salaam cited what Ben did for him off the field as the real contribution to his life. Ben was 50 years old.

The Buffaloes have dedicated the 1997 season to the memories of Tiger and Ben. Look for "56" on the helmet to honor Tiger, and "Pope" on the uniforms to honor Ben.

The Bowl Alliance

The Bowl Alliance was formed in 1995 to create a mechanism for providing the best possible bowl games, including a game between the two top-ranked schools, when possible, to decide the national championship. The Orange, Sugar and Fiesta Bowls have joined with the Big 12, Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big 10, Pacific 10 and Southeastern conferences and the University of Notre Dame to form the Alliance.

The champions of the Big 12, Atlantic Coast, Big East and Southeastern conferences will appear in one of the aforementioned bowl games following the 1997 regular season. The remaining two at-large positions may be filled by any Division I-A college football team eligible for postseason competition that meets any one of the following requirements (excluding the Big 10 and Pacific 10 champions, which are contracted to play in the Rose Bowl):

- 1) Has won at least eight games during the regular season (and not including wins in either the Pigskin or Kickoff Classic);
- 2) Is ranked among the top 12 bowl-eligible teams in either the Associated Press or USA Today/CNN final regular season polls;
- 3) Is ranked no lower in either poll than the lowest ranked team selected by a bowl from the conference champions.

In the event that two or more teams tie for the championship of the ACC or the Big East, and remain tied after all tie-breaking procedures are implemented, the tied team with the highest ranking shall be included in the conference champions pool. If the polls disagree as to the highest ranked team, then all such tied teams will be eligible and the selecting bowl shall have the right to select which team it desires.

Team selection shall occur no later than the Sunday following the championship games in the Big 12 and SEC conferences. The selection order for 1997 is as follows: Orange Bowl (selects first and second); Sugar Bowl (selects third and fifth); Fiesta Bowl (selects fourth and sixth). The Orange Bowl shall select any team ranked No. 1 in the AP poll and any team ranked No. 1 in the USA Today/CNN poll if the teams so ranked are different and are available to the Alliance. In any other case, teams ranked No. 1 and No. 2 in either poll are to be selected if again they are available to the Alliance.

All other team selections shall come from the pool of teams specified above and will be at the discretion of the participating bowls.

THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

A brief history of 121 years has transformed the University of Colorado from a lone building on a bleak, windswept hill to one of the nation's leading public research institutions. Established in 1861, the University was formally founded in 1876, the year Colorado became a state. The doors of Old Main opened the following year with 44 students, an instructor, and the president who taught and lived there with his family, pasturing his horse nearby.

Here at the foot of the Flatirons, the distinguished faculty and students from a variety of backgrounds work together to create a lively academic environment. CU-Boulder's challenging academic programs, inspiring natural setting, and acclaimed architecture attract about 25,000 students from this country and around the globe. Another 13,000 study at the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center in Denver, the University of Colorado at Denver and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. The four-campus system is led by the President and nine elected Regents, while each campus has a Chancellor who serves as the chief academic and administrative officer.

The University System, and especially the flagship institution in Boulder, has played a key role in the economic development of the state and the Rocky Mountain region. CU ranks 10th among all public institutions in federally sponsored research and 15th among the top 100 public universities and colleges in overall research expenditures. Many of the high-tech companies located along the Front Range owe their origins to CU-Boulder's cutting-edge science.

CU has shown that RNA can act as a catalyst in biochemical reactions, developed the first classification system of human chromosomes, created the first national model to assess child development, successfully completed the first instance of human cloning, identified the battered child syndrome, discovered the process of aging is under direct genetic control, developed ways of dealing with natural hazards, created the coldest temperature on Earth, and alerted the nation to heightened academic pressures on kindergarten children.

CU-Boulder has played a major role in NASA space programs, designing and building many scientific instruments flown in outer space, and graduated 15 men and women who became astronauts. CU-Boulder is the only university where undergraduate students have operated a NASA satellite.

Students can enter any of 10 schools and colleges offering more than 2,500 courses in 150 fields, representing a full range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, physical and biological sciences, the fine and performing arts, and the professions.

Teaching, research, and creative work are closely linked, providing students with a broad range of experiences in classrooms, laboratories, seminars, field work, and study abroad opportunities. Some programs provide off-campus internships for on-the-job learning while others require a commitment by students to public service. For those whose interests cross traditional lines, a number of interdisciplinary programs are available.

Visitors can experience the University's cosmopolitan atmosphere by visiting Fiske Planetarium, Sommers-Bausch Observatory, the Heritage Center in the original Old Main, the University of Colorado Museum, and Norlin Library. Lively performances are staged by the Artist Series, Department of Theatre and Dance, and the College of Music, and movie fans can relax with classic, contemporary, and avant garde films.

At CU-Boulder, the students and faculty recognize the mind-body connection, taking advantage of Boulder's foothills location to participate year-round in recreational and sports activities. In addition to intercollegiate programs for men and women, the Student Recreation Center offers clubs and intramural sports in one of the finest college recreational facilities in the nation.

From the baccalaureate to the post-doctoral degree, CU-Boulder is distinguished by the broad scope of its programs and courses, the outstanding reputation of its research facilities, the diversity of its student body, and the professionalism and dedication of its faculty.

THE DAL WARD ATHLETIC CENTER

The 1990-91 athletic season is landmark for the University of Colorado in two areas. The year produced national championships in football (its first) and skiing (its 14th), and the men's basketball team reached the NIT Final Four.

That was also the year that the magnificent Dal Ward Athletic Center became a reality. The entire construction process was completed in less than nine months, from ground-breaking in December, 1990, to completion the following August.

The $14 million building was completely funded through private donations. This multi-functional, state-of-the-art structure is one of the top facilities anywhere in college athletics.

The Dal Ward Center boasts 92,000 square feet that includes a massive academic center, sports medicine and weight training centers, a full-service kitchen and daily dining area, an auditorium, men's and women's lockerrooms, a player's lounge and offices for athletic administration and coaches.

Construction on the project actually began in November, 1990, with the demolition of the old team house building, which had stood in the north end of Folsom Field since its erection in 1967. The foundation was dug and concrete poured over the next couple of months, with construction of the actual building starting in February, 1991. The structure was available for the football team's use by mid-August, with the remainder of the building completed later that fall.

The building is named for Dallas Ward, the football coach who led CU into the Big Seven Conference in 1948. Ward was the head coach for the Buffaloes for 11 seasons (1948-1958), compiling a 63-41-6 record, which made him the third-winningest coach in CU history at the time. His teams, noted for the single wing offense, were a constant threat to Oklahoma's supremacy in the Big Seven Conference.

The facility has several outstanding attributes, which benefit both the athletic department and the entire CU—Boulder campus. The tile roof, native stone walls and traditional Italianate architecture were selected to compliment the style of the Boulder campus. The Center also establishes a new sense of entry to the campus coming from the north. The building features a dramatic two-story entry and lobby space with a grand staircase.

The Dal Ward Center allows CU athletics to provide a facility that is competitive with equivalent successful NCAA athletic programs. "We have built something that will truly give our athletes a chance to compete with the best," then-athletic director Bill Marolt said. "This is a modern facility where we can accommodate the needs of the athletes on and off the field," added football coach Rick Neuheisel.

The building was designed by the architectural firm of Sink Combs Dethlefs of Denver, with construction performed by Gerald H. Phipps, Inc.

MASCOT/NICKNAME

The University of Colorado has the most unique mascot in all of intercollegiate athletics, a real buffalo named Ralphie. The live buffalo mascot, actually "Ralphie III," has continued the tradition of leading the football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half.

It is truly one of the special sights that exists anywhere in college or professional sports, especially for opposing teams, who often stop in their tracks watching the massive buffalo round the end zone and head directly at their sideline.

The buffalo first appeared in 1934, three weeks after a contest to select an official school nickname by the Silver and Gold newspaper had come to an end and "Buffaloes" was the winning entry. For the final game of the '34 season, some students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf mascot along with a real cowboy as his keeper. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines, a 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. The campus newspaper announced the contest in the fall of 1934, with a $5 prize to go to the author of the winning selection. Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted Buffaloes as their entry. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy of the Silver and Gold were the judges. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Bufs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

The first buffalo, "Mr. Chips," was eventually given to the University by Mahlon White. The buffalo was a regular at CU home games through the 1950's and was cared for by a men's honorary.

The CU football teams were without a mascot for several years before the original Ralphie made its first appearance at a CU function in 1966 (and as a six-month-old calf). For awhile, she was billed as Ralph, the name given by the student body. An astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a girl, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

Ralphie attended every CU home football game for 13 years (including bowl games), and retired at the end of the 1978 season.

Ralphie's replacement on the sidelines was Ralphie II, making her first-ever appearance at CU's final home game of the 1978 season. The buffalo's original name was Moon, short for Moonshine, but the name Ralphie had become so popular and traditional that it was restored. The Bank of Boulder, a significant contributor through the years to the Ralphie program, purchased and donated Ralphie II to CU. At the age of 12, and after serving the Buffs for 10 years, Ralphie II passed away on Sept. 19, 1987, following a 31-17 CU win over Stanford.

Colorado's latest mascot, Ralphie III, was pressed into action earlier than anticipated. She was being trained for the 1988 season as Ralphie II was to retire following the 1987 campaign. But Ralphie III, after only five weeks of training, made her debut, Nov. 7, 1987, at the CU-Missouri game. And like the original Ralphie, the Buffs welcomed her with a 27-10 victory.

Ralphie III is a 12-year-old buffalo, weighing about 1,300 pounds and is able to reach speeds of up to 25 miles per hour. An orphan, she was donated to the athletic department by John and Shaaron Parker, and is kept at the Parker Ranch (which was also the home of Ralphie II).

CU & NIKE

The University of Colorado and NIKE, Inc., are in the third year of a six-year agreement which calls for the world's largest shoe manufacturer to provide both equipment and financial support to the CU athletic department.

Being the well-renowned leader in the athletic shoe industry, NIKE has made a foray into the athletic apparel venue and is striving to create the absolute best quality workout gear and uniforms available to any college student-athlete. The University of Colorado stands to benefit from NIKE's foresight as the company lends its research for new products and designs to make things better for the student-athlete.

The agreement, which has a value of at least $6 million, is one of the best arrangements between a corporate sponsor and a university in the nation. NIKE will supply all 17 of CU's intercollegiate sports programs and its 475-plus student-athletes with equipment as well as game uniforms, promotional support for coaches' camps and team performance bonus provisions. NIKE also will contribute over $2.7 million in cash to the athletic department over the course of the contract.

"It's difficult to value the entire transaction, given price fluctuations in equipment, but I think it's fair to say that the agreement has a minimum value of approximately $6 million," CU athletic director Dick Tharp said. "The equipment needs for our athletes is extensive, and this is probably the best product supply agreement in the country. I was pleased with the final agreement and NIKE's good faith efforts."

NIKE, a powerhouse in the world of sports, makes shoes for about every activity imaginable, including football, basketball, baseball, volleyball, golf, soccer, tennis, wrestling, cross-training and cheerleading. The company also makes casual shoes in addition to its growing line of athletic wear, which features shirts, shorts, uniforms, running clothes, caps and leotards. NIKE sells its products in over 80 countries worldwide, is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, employs over 17,000 people and did over $6.5 billion in business for its fiscal 1996 year.

ROBERT E. SIEVERS—Democrat, Professor, University of Colorado at Boulder; graduated with a B. Chem. degree from the University of Tulsa in 1956 and earned his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois in 1960. He was elected to the Board from Congressional District 2 in 1990 for a six-year term, which will expire in 1996.

PETER F. STEINHAUER, D.D.S.—Republican, Boulder oral surgeon; attended the University of Colorado at Boulder from 1954 to 1958; received his D.D.S. from the University of Missouri at Kansas City in 1962, and completed his residency in 1965. A United States Navy and Vietnam Veteran, he was elected in 1994 to a statewide seat for a six-year term, which will expire in 2000.

PRESIDENT JOHN BUECHNER

Dr. John C. Buechner was officially named the 18th president of the University of Colorado on April 25, 1996. He was appointed on an interim basis on Nov. 16, 1995, and emerged as the Board of Regents' sole choice for the position in the search that followed.

Dr. Buechner, 63, has been with the University of Colorado system for 33 years, most recently serving as Chancellor of the CU-Denver campus from 1988 until his appointment as President. He also taught in the Graduate School of Public Affairs at UCD.

He earned his bachelor of arts degree in Political Science from The College of Wooster (Ohio) in 1956, and received his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan in the same field in 1963. He also earned his Master's Degree from Michigan in Public Administration.

He has served his community and the state of Colorado in many capacities. He has been CU's Director of Community and Local Government Relations, a professor of Political Science (1969-81), and an Associate Dean of Arts and Sciences (1969-71).

Dr. Buechner was also the Republican nominee to the U.S. House of Representatives (2nd District) in 1982, and was a member of the State House of Representatives for three years (1972-74), which followed a two-year term as Mayor of the City of Boulder (1970-71). He was a member of the Boulder City Council from 1967 to 1976, and has been and is a member of numerous community and civic organizations.

Currently he is serving as co-chair of the Executive Board of the Metropolitan Denver Homeless Initiative and the Colorado Combined Campaign. He has served recently as chair of the Metro Denver Forum, composed of leaders and chief executives from Colorado public and private sectors. Dr. Buechner has authored and co-authored four books, numerous monographs and articles on a number of topics relating to leadership, public administration and politics.

He has been the recipient of numerous awards and prizes. Among those most recent are the University's prestigious Thomas Jefferson Award for the advancement of the ideals of Thomas Jefferson, a Special Recognition Award from the Asian Education Advisory Council and the John V. Christensen Memorial Award for outstanding contribution to regionalism and local governments.

Dr. Buechner has conducted management and training seminars for various national, state and local organizations and agencies throughout the United States, including the Colorado Municipal League, Western Interstate Commission on Higher Education, Denver Regional Council of Governments, Colorado State University Extension Division, Metro-North Chamber of Commerce and over 20 municipalities and governmental agencies around the country.

Born July 30, 1934, in Cleveland, Ohio, he is married (Katie) and is the father of a son and two daughters and is the grandfather of five. He lettered in baseball and basketball in college, and was in the Detroit Tigers organization for a brief time as a pitcher.

CHANCELLOR RICHARD BYNY

Dr. Richard Byyny, M.D., was named chancellor for the University of Colorado Boulder campus on May 8, 1997, after serving in an interim capacity for the previous four months.

Byyny, 58, has been associated with CU since 1977, when he came to Colorado from the University of Chicago to accept the vice chairman position in the Department of Medicine at the Health Sciences Center in Denver. He was serving in a similar capacity at Chicago when he moved out west to begin his career at CU.

In conjunction with his vice chairman position with the Department of Medicine, he also served as the Head of the Division of Internal Medicine, a position he held until 1994. He was responsible for developing the first Division of General Internal Medicine for CU, taking the program from the foundation stage to one that operated programs in three hospitals and two neighborhood health care centers.

In 1988, he became the director of CU's General Internal Medicine Faculty Development and Fellowship Program, a position he would hold for seven years. He planned and acquired grant support, implemented and directed faculty development and postgraduate fellowship programs (including curriculum, academic experiences and evaluation) to prepare participants for careers in academic general internal medicine.

He was promoted to Executive Vice Chancellor of the Health Sciences Center in February, 1994, a job he performed for the next 18 months. In August, 1995, he made the move to the Boulder campus, accepting the position of Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and Research and Dean of the System Graduate School. In that position, he was the chief academic officer of CU's four-campus system, a $1 billion entity serving some 40,000 students. He worked with all facets of the University, including the Board of Regents, the President, the chancellors, all vice chancellors and the faculty.

Byyny was selected the University of Colorado's Administrator of the Year for 1996, as he was the choice for the honor by the University System-wide Faculty Council and Senate.

He is a 1960 graduate of the University of Southern California, earning his bachelor's degree in history. He earned his doctor of medicine degree from USC in 1964. He has also studied at Stanford, Vanderbilt, Columbia and the University of Sydney in Australia to enhance his postgraduate education. He has earned a total of 16 awards and fellowships.

Born Jan. 6, 1939, in South Gate, Calif., he is married to the former Jo Garverick. The couple have three grown children, Kristen, Jan and Richard, Jr. He lettered in swimming and water polo as a prep at Woodrow Wilson High School in Long Beach, Calif.

FACULTY REPRESENTATIVE JAMES CORBRIDGE

James N. Corbridge, Jr., is entering his seventh year as CU's faculty representative to the Big 12 Conference.

Corbridge was the chair of the representatives for the 1993-94 academic year, and thus played an instrumental role in the Big Eight's expansion, when the league added four Southwest Conference schools in February, 1994.

He retired as the Chancellor of the University of Colorado at Boulder campus in June, 1994, after eight years in the position. A professor of law, he returned to teaching on the UCB campus.

Corbridge also is known on campus for his administrative skills and accomplishments. In his 31 years at CU, he has held many top-level administrative posts — as well as developing a distinguished teaching and research career in the School of Law.

Corbridge joined the CU faculty in 1965, coming to Colorado from the law firm of Lord, Day and Lord in New York. On the law faculty, Corbridge quickly developed an interest and expertise in natural resources, focusing on water and mining issues.

His enthusiasm for teaching was apparent to colleagues and students alike. In 1972, Corbridge was honored with the CU Teaching Excellence Award in recognition of outstanding skills in instruction. Over the years, he has taught basic property, future interests, mining law, oil and gas, real property security and conveyancing, and water law.

Corbridge's leadership qualities came to the attention of campus administrators not long after his arrival. In 1970, he was named vice president for student affairs, followed by an appointment as vice president for student and minority affairs in 1972.

Two years later, he was named vice chancellor for academic affairs, a position he held until 1977. Then, from 1979 to 1981, Corbridge served as interim vice chancellor for academic services. He was acting vice chancellor for academic affairs in 1986 when he became Chancellor.

Born in Mineola, N.Y., Corbridge lived most of his early years on Long Island. He earned a bachelor's degree from Brown University in 1955, majoring in English and American Literature. He graduated from Yale Law School in 1963. He has two children, Loren and Stuart, and is married to Pauline Hale.

THE UNIVERSITY ... DID YOU KNOW?

Here are some intriguing facts about the University of Colorado:

Once again, the University of Colorado has been ranked among the most outstanding universities in the United States in the 1996 Fiske Guide to Colleges (written by the former education writer at the New York Times). CU was joined by Brown, Stanford and Virginia, its usual company, in receiving 14 out of a maximum 15 points (no school received the full allotment). Points are assigned for academics, social life and quality of life; CU received four points in academics and five each in the other two areas. Very few schools receive four or more academic points, with CU joined only by Boston University, Notre Dame, Rutgers, Texas and UCLA. The University of Colorado has often been referred to as a "Public Ivy."

The University of Colorado, one of 32 public schools in the prestigious 61-member AAU (Association of American Universities), leads this group in the most dollars spent on student services (campus-wide). In 1993-94, CU spent 5.5 percent of its budget on services for its enrollment (or over $55 million). Cal-Berkeley was next at 5.4 percent; other Big 12 Conference schools in this prestigious academic membership are Iowa State, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Texas.

The Apollo 13 astronaut Jack Swigert (played by Kevin Bacon in Ron Howard's movie in 1995) lettered in football at the University of Colorado from 1950 to 1952. Swigert is one of 15 CU graduates to fly in a NASA mission. Swigert passed away from cancer at the age of 52 several years ago. CU has several ties with NASA, and has been heavily involved in the Hubble Telescope and the recent Galileo probe of Jupiter's atmosphere and moons.

Colorado was one of just nine schools to receive a passing grade in the area of gender equity in a recent USA Today survey (the only Big Twelve school listed among the nine). On campus, CU has a 46 percent female student body, with 44 percent of CU's athletes also female, which was also the fourth highest percentage of female athletes at any Division I school.

The University of Colorado's graduate atomic and molecular physics program was ranked first in the nation last spring by U.S. News and World Report. The honor enabled CU to surpass perennial powers Harvard and M.I.T. in this field of study. Two CU physicists, Eric Cornell and Carl Wieman, created a new state of matter in the summer of 1995, which Albert Einstein first predicted would occur some 70 years ago.

CU is among the top universities in the country in gaining research support. Revenues from contracts and grants reached over $321.9 million in 1995, ranking CU 18th among the top 100 public research universities in overall research and expenditures. CU emphasizes both quality teaching and research as dual components of fine scholarship.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR DICK THARP

Dick Tharp is in his second year as athletic director, as he was selected for a permanent appointment offered by the President and Chancellor on May 20, 1997, and was approved by the University of Colorado Board of Regents on June 4, 1997. He was athletic director in an interim capacity for the 1996-97 athletic year.

He is only the fourth athletic director in University of Colorado history, as he succeeded his good friend, Bill Marolt, when Marolt was named chief operating officer of U.S. Skiing. Marolt held the position between 1984 and 1996, and he followed Eddie Crowder (1965-84) and Harry Carlson (1927-65).

Tharp, 49, rejoined CU from private law practice, in which he had been engaged since leaving the University in 1994. Tharp has enjoyed a long association with the Boulder campus, dating back to his days as a student in CU's School of Law, earning his juris doctorate degree in 1973.

Following his graduation from CU, he became the school's assistant university counsel, a position he held until 1976, when he was named acting university counsel. He remained in that capacity through 1983.

He left CU in 1984 to become a full-time partner with the Boulder law firm of Martin and Mehaffy, a firm he has been a partner in since 1976. He worked with Martin and Mehaffy exclusively until 1989, when he returned to CU after being named vice president and university counsel by then-President Dr. Gordon Gee. He spent six years in that capacity before returning to his private practice.

Born March 10, 1948, in St. Louis, Mo., Tharp graduated from Omaha (Neb.) Westside High School, where he lettered in basketball, football and baseball. He went on to attend DePauw University (Greencastle, Ind.) on a basketball scholarship, earning a bachelor of arts degree in history in 1970. He graduated with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

At DePauw, he lettered twice in basketball (sophomore and senior years), and was the team's most valuable player his senior season, when he averaged 24.5 points per game (which to this day remains DePauw's scoring average record for a single season). As a senior, he was also the school's most outstanding student-athlete, an Academic All-American and winner of an NCAA postgraduate scholarship.

He spent his junior year in college attending St. Andrews University in Scotland, where he also played basketball. He was named to the All-Scottish and All-British university basketball teams, and earned the highest university sports award in Britain in 1969 when he was awarded a British Blue.

During his previous employment at CU, he was involved with athletic issues which included NCAA relationships, conference alignment, television contracts, coaches' contracts and negotiations, policies and regulations of the athletic department and compliance with Title IX.

Tharp is a member of the Colorado Bar Association, and was admitted to practice law in the Courts of Colorado, U.S. District Court, 10th Circuit Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court (by special admission). He has also been very active in community and charitable events in and around Boulder County, and has won several awards for his work. He is a former director of the Boulder Community Hospital Foundation (1986-90), and has been the director of Lifecare International since 1985. He is also an honorary member of the Alumni C-Club at Colorado.

He has been married to the former Melinda Siebert for 26 years, and they are the parents of three boys, Travis (17), Taylor (13) and Tucker (5).

HEAD COACH RICK NEUHEISEL

The Neuheisels,
Rick and Susan

Rick Neuheisel is in his third season as head football coach at the University of Colorado, as he was named the 21st head coach in CU history on Nov. 28, 1994.

Neuheisel is 20-4 in two seasons as CU's head coach. The 20 wins are the fifth most ever for a first-time head coach in NCAA Division I-A competition in his first two seasons. His first two CU teams have played 11 ranked opponents, posting a 7-4 mark, and he is only the fourth to ever guide his team to a pair of top 10 finishes in his first two years as a head coach.

Neuheisel succeeded Bill McCartney, who had coached the Buffaloes the previous 13 years, the second longest tenure ever at the school. Neuheisel is currently the third-youngest head coach in the NCAA Division I ranks, and also tutors the quarterbacks in addition to all of his head coaching duties.

McCartney was responsible for bringing Neuheisel to Colorado, as he hired him as quarterbacks and receivers coach on Feb. 28, 1994. McCartney coached the 1994 team to an 11-1 record, and after announcing his resignation on Nov. 19, coached CU's 41-24 Fiesta Bowl win over Notre Dame. Neuheisel assumed all duties as head coach on Jan. 3, 1995, although he coordinated recruiting after being named.

His first Buffalo team in 1995 posted a 10-2 record and earned an invitation to the Cotton Bowl against Oregon, where the Buffs rolled to an easy 38-6 win. He accomplished quite a few firsts in his rookie season as a head coach. He became the first first-year head coach in CU history to take the Buffaloes to a bowl game, and obviously the earliest to take CU to a New Year's Day bowl (three others did it in their third seasons). With 10 wins, he was also the winningest first-year coach in Colorado history (three others had eight wins, all before 1905), and is the first to win more than five games when replacing a "legend." CU's No. 5 national ranking (Associated Press) enabled the Buffs to finish with the eighth-highest ranking ever for a first-year coach, with the 10 wins tied for the fifth most ever by a rookie.

Neuheisel also snapped a 10-game streak by first-year CU head coaches in their first games when CU beat Wisconsin. He was only the fourth coach (and the first since 1905) to win his first five games at CU, and the only one to win four non-league games in his first season.

His second CU team also went 10-2, posting a 7-1 mark in league play in the first season of competition in the Big 12 Conference. Colorado, which opened the season ranked No. 5 nationally in both major polls, lost only to No. 11 Michigan and No. 3 Nebraska, and were arguably one play away from winning both games. The 1996 Buffaloes set a school record for consecutive road victories with 10, breaking the previous record of eight set three-quarters of a century earlier. The Buffs led the league in all-conference selections (six first-team picks by the coaches), had three All-Americans and the Butkus Award winner (Matt Russell). CU defeated Washington, 33-21 in the Holiday Bowl, to close out his second season on a winning note.

This is the first head coaching position for the 36-year-old Neuheisel, who spent seven seasons as an assistant coach prior to securing the Colorado job. He worked six years at his alma mater, UCLA, under his college coach Terry Donahue, along with the one season on McCartney's staff in Boulder. He is the third-youngest head coach in the Division I-A ranks.

Rick with his father, Dick, after his first career coaching win at Madison, Wis., in 1995 (CU defeated Wisconsin, 43-7).

Rick with one of his prize pupils, Kordell Stewart.

The road that led Neuheisel into coaching was an interesting, if not a unique one. After finishing his college career with a spectacular performance in the 1984 Rose Bowl in which he was named the game's most valuable player, he graduated from UCLA in May, 1984, with a bachelor's degree in political science. Neuheisel had a solid 3.4 grade point average, the highest of all graduating football seniors, and was named Academic all-Pac 10. He won the Jack R. Robinson and Paul I. Wellman awards from the school to honor his academic excellence, and he also earned an NCAA postgraduate scholarship as he aspired to attend law school.

He played two seasons (1984, 1985), with the San Antonio Gunslingers of the United States Football League. Following the 1985 USFL season (which was over by the end of summer), he decided to use his NCAA scholarship award and enrolled in law school at Southern California. The following summer, he joined the UCLA staff as a volunteer coach, specifically to tutor Troy Aikman on the UCLA offense. Aikman matured under Neuheisel's tutelage, and the two remain very close friends to this day.

In 1987, Neuheisel had a "cup of coffee" in the National Football League. He played three games for the San Diego Chargers (starting two), and still holds a team record to this day for completion percentage in a game (81.8, going 18-of-22 for 217 yards and a touchdown at Tampa Bay). He completed 40-of-59 passes in those three games for 367 yards and one touchdown, and he added another touchdown rushing. Another claim to his short-lived NFL fame is that he is the last player to rush for a one-point conversion, running in a muffed PAT attempt at Cincinnati. This is forever a trivia answer, with the NFL now sporting the two-point conversion.

He closed out the season with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (dressing out for two games, but never getting the chance to play). He wore the same number at Tampa Bay (No. 7) that he wore for San Diego. But the NFL strike that season left him with a bad taste in his mouth for professional football, and he decided to return to the college ranks.

Neuheisel would again return to his alma mater, UCLA, but this time in the capacity of a full-time assistant coach in charge of the quarterbacks, which he would coach for the next two seasons before switching to receivers coach in 1990.

While an assistant at UCLA, Neuheisel continued his studies in his pursuit of a law degree. He graduated from the University of Southern California's School of Law in 1990 with his Juris Doctor degree. He would be sworn into the Arizona State Bar Association in May of 1991, and the Washington, D.C. Bar in March, 1993.

As is the case in any high profile hiring, there are hundreds of quotes from and/or about the person selected to fill that particular position. But the best few sentences came from Neuheisel himself the night of the announcement.

"I'm going to build on what coach Mac has implemented," Neuheisel said. "But I can't be coach Mac. I have to be Rick Neuheisel, and all I want to do is give the team the best chance to win. I really have to say thank you to my Mom and Dad. They taught me how to dream with my feet on the ground. Have your dreams, but have a plan to make them come true."

He originally walked on at UCLA as a holder for kicker John Lee, and eventually battled Steve Bono for the starting job by his senior year. He secured the starting job four games into the regular season and quarterbacked the Bruins to the Pacific-10 Conference championship in 1983, earning honorable mention all-Pac 10 honors in the process. He was named the most valuable player in the 1984 Rose Bowl when UCLA beat Illinois, 45-9. In that game, Neuheisel completed 22 of 31 passes for 298 yards and four touchdowns, including a pair to Karl Dorrell, who is now CU's offensive coordinator.

Neuheisel completed 198 of 290 passes for 2,480 yards and 15 touchdowns in his UCLA career, which at the time placed him sixth on the Bruins' all-time passing yards list. He still holds school records in completion percentage for both a single season

Neuheisel as a senior at UCLA.

(69.3 as a senior) and career (68.3). Another school record he still holds, completion percentage in a single game, set an NCAA record which still stands: he completed 25 of 27 passes (including 18 straight at one point and for 287 yards overall) against Washington in 1983, a remarkable 92.6 percent.

He graduated from McClintock High School in Tempe, Ariz., in 1979, and was the school's most outstanding athlete his senior year as he lettered in football (quarterback), basketball (guard) and baseball (shortstop, outfield, pitcher). He is a member of McClintock's Hall-of-Fame.

Richard Gerald Neuheisel, Jr., was born on Feb. 7, 1961, in Madison, Wis., where he made his debut as a head coach when CU beat Wisconsin, 43-7, on Sept. 2, 1995. He is married to the former Susan Wilkinson, and they have three children, Jerry (5), Jack (2), and Joe (born this past Jan. 16).

Neuheisel's father, Dick, was one of the original Tempe Diablos in helping the Fiesta Bowl get off the ground, and is president of Sister Cities International, a worldwide good will organization. Rick is one of Dick and Jane's four children, as he has three sisters, Nancy, Katie and Deborah. Neuheisel is also an accomplished guitar player, a fairly decent singer (he is a huge country music fan but likes most kinds of music), and his hobbies include skiing, golf, and basketball.

1997 COLORADO FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

11-10-10-2? What will replace that question mark at season's end could very well make this an historic season for the Colorado Buffaloes.

The numbers represent the win total in each of the 1994, 1995 and 1996 seasons, and Colorado is joined nationally by only Florida, Florida State and Nebraska as schools who have won 10 or more games in each of these years. The 1997 seniors could become the first group of seniors, and thus the winningest, to take part in four 10-plus seasons in school history.

Is this an attainable goal for the Buffs? "Our goal in 1997 will be to play our best, certainly not as newsworthy as my statement last year, but certainly very true," coach Rick Neuheisel said. "We're just going to play our best and see how things shake out. We've got goals like anybody else, and all those goals can be realized if we do just that. I made a mistake a year ago by stating that our goal was to win the national championship, and that we felt it was possible. It wasn't the stating of it that was wrong as much as what it did in raising the expectation level early in the season to a level that wasn't realistic."

The Buffaloes return 53 lettermen and 13 starters from their 10-2 team in 1996, which was in the hunt for both the inaugural Big 12 Championship and the national title until a 17-12 loss at Nebraska the day after Thanksgiving. CU rebounded from a 20-13 loss to Michigan in the third game of the season with seven consecutive conference wins, and went into the Nebraska game 9-1 and ranked fifth in the nation. The Buffs went on to defeat No. 12 Washington, 33-21, in the Holiday Bowl and finished No. 8 in the final polls.

Though CU loses the likes of Butkus Award winner Matt Russell, Biletnikoff Award finalist Rae Carruth, consensus All-American Chris Naeole and all-Big 12 quarterback Koy Detmer, the Buffs are in shape to reload and maintain the momentum the program has built up in Neuheisel's first two seasons.

John Hessler

Colorado has gone 20-4 in his short tenure, making him the fifth-winningest all-time in Division I-A history for a coach in his first two years as a head coach.

"The 1996 season was a more difficult year than the 1995 one in that we were no longer a surprise to anyone," Neuheisel noted. "We had benefited greatly my first year as a head coach because people thought we were going to be down a little after losing 10 players to the NFL, including Heisman Trophy and Thorpe Award winners. Everyone came out last year and gave us their best shot, and I was very proud of the way the team hung together after the early going and strung together seven league wins in a row. Any time you win 10 games, especially competing in the Big 12, you'd be hard pressed not to call it a successful season."

Momentum and tradition are evident all over the Buffalo map. The program will enter 1997 with the nation's second longest current streak of consecutive weeks ranked at 135, and the fourth-longest streak of consecutive bowl invitations with nine. The Buffaloes have also defeated at least one ranked team in nine straight years, trailing only Florida State (10), and CU's 78-15-4 record dating back to 1989 is the fourth-best nationally over the last eight seasons.

Neuheisel isn't planning any kind of radical departure from what's made the team successful, just some fine-tuning and re-emphasis. "I would hope that the learning curve will become more vertical as we enter year three in both our offensive and defensive systems," Neuheisel said. "We've stayed pretty consistent in what we've tried to both teach and accomplish, with just a few minor adjustments. Hopefully, the kids will know what to do with a reckless abandon. We experimented in the spring on offense with some additional two-back sets, as well as with the shotgun, but nothing that was earth-shattering."

Ryan Black

Ron Merkerson

While both sides of the ball lose some very familiar names, most of the attention will likely be focused on offense and who will be directing CU's fortunes. John Hessler is the heir apparent to Detmer at quarterback, although Jeremy Weisinger will be there to push him and give him the proverbial run for the money. Hessler, who has emerged as one of college football's all-time best known back-ups, has come off the bench to lead CU to an 8-2 record in games subbing for an injured Detmer over the last two years.

Top returnees on offense also include wide receivers Phil Savoy (fifth all-time on CU's reception and receiving yards lists), Chris Anderson and Darrin Chiaverini, offensive linemen Melvin Thomas (who has moved from tackle to guard), Andrew Welsh and Adam Reed, tailbacks Herchell Troutman and Lendon Henry, and tight ends Tennyson McCarty and Brody Heffner.

One thing offensive coordinator Karl Dorrell and the coaches have addressed is the running game, as the addition of some two-back sets with more features involving the fullback position are in the playbook. "Last year, I thought that our offense evolved in the throwing game, but possibly a consequence of that was a diminished running game," Neuheisel said. "Most of that was a cause-and-effect result of how people played defense against us, but we obviously had some shortcomings we'll continue to address. Had it not been for two inclement weather games late in the season (Kansas State in Boulder and at Nebraska), we would have again averaged just under 500 yards on offense, so it's not a matter of getting yards. It's how and when, and we want to be more effective."

On defense, the main battle is at middle linebacker. Mike Phillips moved inside from the weakside during the spring, and is battling Clifton Peters to see who replaces Russell, who was a consensus All-America in addition to becoming CU's second Butkus Award recipient. Frosh recruit Ty Gregorak will be in that mix as well, but the entire linebacking picture is much clearer following spring drills. Hannibal Navies has emerged as the clear starter on the weakside, with Ron Merkerson maintaining the status quo on the strong side.

A good, solid nucleus on defense remains from last year, and this year's unit will be built around team strong-man Ryan Olson at nose tackle, defensive tackle Viliami Maumau, strong safety Ryan Black, cornerbacks Marcus Washington and Damen Wheeler, and defensive end Nick Ziegler, along with Navies and Merkerson.

Defensive coordinator A.J. Christoff has developed a reputation for steering a defense that plays very aggressively, is based on speed and flies to the ball. "I thought the defense played very well last year and was pivotal in our team's late-season success," Neuheisel said. "They had tremendous games against Kansas State, Nebraska and in the Holiday Bowl against Washington, allowing only three offensive touchdowns and a field goal in those 180 minutes. That's good defense, allowing just eight points per game to three high-powered offenses like that."

CU's enigma over the last two seasons has been in the kicking game. Despite showing much talent at times, both punting and placekicking have been inconsistent. Jeremy Aldrich emerged at season's end in 1996 as CU's placekicker, but the year ended with Nick Pietsch often alternating in-game with Andy Mitchell at punter. "Much has been said about our kicking game, and most of it hasn't been positive," Neuheisel admitted. "All we can do is to continue to address it and work to improve it. I'm confident that we will do that and both will occur."

Neuheisel, probably like his 11 counterparts in the Big 12, again predicts another brutal season in league play. "The Big 12 Conference did what it intended to do—it put 12 very competitive programs together in the same league and created a lot of excitement and television interest," he said. "Unfortunately, it took its toll on the teams. The competition was stiff, and some weren't up to their usual par in won-lost percentage. Any time you're in a conference that sends two teams to the bowl alliance and finishes the year with two teams ranked in the top eight in the nation, it's a good sign that it's a league which is difficult and commands respect. There's no reason to believe the same won't occur this fall."

KNOW COLORADO FOOTBALL

COACH RICK NEUHEISEL . . . Rick Neuheisel has completed two seasons at the reins of the Buffalo program, owning a 20-4 record (which is also his career record as a head coach). That mark includes a 9-1 record on the road (9-3 at home, 2-0 neutral). The 20 wins in his first two seasons as a college coach are tied for the fifth most ever by a first-time college coach in the modern era in Division I-A. His 10 wins in his second year are the most by a coach in CU history and are tied for fifth most in NCAA I-A history. Unlike most of his collegiate counterparts, he also coaches a position (quarterback).

Neuheisel has piloted CU to a pair of top 10 finishes in his first two seasons; the most top 10 finishes ever by CU under one coach is three in the Bill McCartney Era. Neuheisel's two top 10 finishes in his first two years as a college coach is almost without precedence; only three other coaches in NCAA history have guided their team to two top 10 finishes in their first years as a college coach: Bill Battle, Tennessee (No. 4 in 1970, No. 9 in 1971), Barry Switzer, Oklahoma (No. 3 in 1973, No. 1 in 1974) and Tom Osborne, Nebraska (No. 7 in 1973, No. 9 in 1974). Add Neuheisel to that list (No. 5 in 1995, No. 8 in 1996). (All rankings Associated Press only; Oklahoma was on probation Switzer's first two years).

Neuheisel became the winningest first-year head coach in CU history with the 10-2 record in 1995, a record which also tied him for the fifth-most wins ever by a rookie head coach in the NCAA. CU's final No. 5 ranking was the eighth highest ever by a first-year coach (AP poll; CU was No. 4 in the USAT/CNN balloting). He was the first coach at CU to win more than five games when replacing a "legend," and was the first coach at CU to win his first game since 1932 when the Buffs defeated Wisconsin (43-7) in Madison to open the 1995 season. This is Neuheisel's first head coaching position, as he spent eight years as assistant coach (UCLA, 1986, 1988-93; and Colorado, 1994). He is the third youngest head coach in the NCAA Division I-A ranks, as only John Blake (Oklahoma) and Ron Cooper (Louisville) are younger. Neuheisel lettered as a quarterback (he earned a scholarship after walking on), and eventually led the Bruins to victory in the 1984 Rose Bowl, a game in which he was named MVP. He played two seasons with San Antonio in the USFL and one in the NFL prior to entering the coaching profession. The "Neu" Difference—In his tenure as head coach at CU, Neuheisel has put the word fun back into college football. Team functions have included: a team golf tournament, tubing down Boulder Creek, a ski outing, a bowling tournament, and a day at the reservoir which included boating and jet skiing. He has also started a tradition of inviting other CU varsity sports teams to join in the game day experience (in the locker room and running on the field behind Ralphie).

1996 SUMMARY . . . Colorado's 10-2 record in 1996 marked the school's 12th consecutive winning season and ninth in a row with at least eight wins (the latter is a school record). The 1996 team was the sixth at Colorado to win 10 or more games in a single season (joining the 1971, 1989, 1990, 1994 and 1995 teams). CU has now finished conference play with either a first- or second-place finish in every season between 1989 and 1996 (Big Eight 1989-95; Big 12 North Division 1996).

IN-THE-POLLS . . . Colorado finished the 1996 season ranked No. 8 in both the Associated Press (media) and the USA Today/CNN Coaches ballots. CU opened the year No. 5 in both, occupying that position the first month of the polls, and spent five out of 18 weeks last year in the top five and all but two in the top 10. The Buffs own the nation's second longest streak of consecutive weeks ranked at 135 (AP Poll; 131 in the coaches, trailing only Nebraska). The Buffs have been ranked in the top 10 in 48 of the last 52 weeks, and in the top five in 15 of the last 46 polls. CU has held the top spot seven times in the AP poll during this time frame, last occupying No. 1 at the end of 1990.

ONE OF JUST TWO . . . Colorado is one of only two teams to be ranked in every poll (both the Associated Press and Coaches, be it UPI or USA Today/CNN) since the start of the 1989 season (135 AP polls, 131 coaches). Only Nebraska can also make that claim; in this span, Nebraska has held the top spot 16 times and CU seven, with NU winning two national championships and Colorado one. The lowest rankings in this span have been No. 24 for Nebraska and No. 25 for Colorado (these last notes are AP poll only). Consecutive Weeks Ranked (AP Poll, through 1996): Nebraska 257, Colorado 135, Florida State 130, Florida 117, Alabama 89, Penn State 69, Michigan 56, Ohio State 40, Tennessee 36, Notre Dame 35, Kansas State 33.

CHART WATCH . . . Here's where several Buffs rank on some of CU's all-time statistical charts heading into the 1997 season:

- QB JOHN HESSLER is ninth in passing yards (2,310), fifth in touchdown passes (20) and 21st in total offense (2,298);
- WR PHIL SAVOY is fourth in receiving yards (1,517), fifth in receptions (109) and is tied for seventh in touchdown receptions (9);
- WR CHRIS ANDERSON is 21st in receiving yards (669) and 21st in receptions (45);
- TB HERCHELL TROUTMAN is 15th in rushing yards (1,874), 29th in receiving yards (595; the fourth most for a running back) and is 20th in scoring (134 points);
- TB LENDON HENRY is 34th in rushing yards (1,115) and is tied for 47th in scoring (78 points);
- NT RYAN OLSON is 12th in quarterback sacks (13½) and is 66th in tackles (166);
- CB RYAN BLACK is 43rd all-time in tackles (199; the 10th defensive back);
- CB TORAY ELTON DAVIS is tied for 23rd all-time in interceptions (6) and is tied for 16th in pass deflections (17);
- CB MARCUS WASHINGTON is sixth all-time in pass deflections (24).

CU WINS HOLIDAY BOWL . . . Colorado rallied from an early 14-0 deficit to defeat the No. 13 Washington Huskies, 33-21, in the 1996 Holiday Bowl on Dec. 30 in San Diego. Koy Detmer passed for 371 yards and three touchdowns in being named the game's offensive MVP, while Nick Ziegler had a 31-yard interception return for a touchdown along with a quarterback sack in being named the defensive MVP. The comeback was tied for the fifth best in CU history (14 points, the first time since 1991 the Buffs rallied from that far behind), and was the biggest comeback in CU bowl history (CU had rallied twice from seven down, both times at 14-7 in the second quarter against Miami and Houston in the 1967 and 1971 Bluebonnet Bowls, respectively) . . . It was the 10th time CU saw its opponent score first in a bowl game, owning a 2-8 record in those games—but both wins have come in the Rick Neuheisel Era.

THE BOWL WIN . . . enabled Colorado to achieve several milestones. It gave the Buffs three straight 10-win seasons for the first time in their history, only the 22nd Division I-A team in NCAA history to do it. The 1996 seniors tied for the most wins (39) by any senior class in CU history, with the fifth-year seniors setting a school record for wins over a five-year span (48). The win also enabled the Buffs to finish in the top 10 for a third straight year, another school first (No. 3 in 1994, No. 5 in 1995 and No. 8 in 1996). It was CU's fourth straight bowl victory, adding to the school best and made Colorado only the 14th different school to accomplish that feat. Rick Neuheisel became only the fifth coach in NCAA Division I-A history to win 10 or more games in each of his first two seasons (joining Barry Switzer, Dick Crum, Gary Blackney and Bill Battle), and made Neuheisel the 61st coach (out of 423) to win his first two bowl games, and only the 31st to do it in back-to-back seasons (only four other active coaches have done it in their first two seasons as a college coach: Gary Blackney, Bowling Green; Fisher DeBerry, Air Force; Tom Osborne, Nebraska; John Robinson, Southern Cal).

STREAKS-N-SUCH . . . Colorado is now 26-1 in its last 27 games against teams who were not undefeated at the time of the game (the loss at Nebraska snapped a 25-game win streak) . . . CU is 35-5 in its last 40 games, trailing only Nebraska (37-3) and Florida (35-4-1) nationally . . . The Buffs are 34-0-2 in their last 36 games against unranked teams (49-1-2 in the last 52; CU's last loss to an unranked team was at Stanford in 1991) . . . CU has won 10 consecutive night games and eight straight on grass . . . CU is 7-3-1 wearing all black garb, including a 3-0 mark in 1996 (wins over Oklahoma State, Texas and Kansas State, the first time CU's worn all black more than once in the same year) . . . CU has scored in a school record 99 straight games (dating back to 1988, the fourth longest streak in the Big 12 behind Texas, Texas A & M and Texas Tech).

HARDWARE UPDATE . . . Three Colorado players advanced to the finalist stage of the national awards in 1996, with LB Matt Russell bringing home the bacon by winning the Butkus Award in Orlando on Dec. 14. WR Rae Carruth was among three finalists for the Biletnikoff Award, won by Wyoming's Marcus Harris, and QB Koy Detmer was among 10 finalists for the Davey O'Brien Award, won by Danny Wuerffel. FS Steve Rosga was a semifinalist for the Thorpe Award, and Russell was a semifinalist for both the Nagurski and Lombardi awards. In the 1990s, Colorado athletes have won seven trophies, tied for the second most nationally. The postseason "hardware" includes the Heisman Trophy and the Lombardi, Maxwell, Walter Camp, Butkus, Thorpe, O'Brien, Unitas, Groza, Biletnikoff, Walker and Nagurski awards. The roll call of schools who have had the winners this decade (counting 1996): Ohio State 8, Colorado 7, Florida 7, Florida State 7, Miami, Fla. 7, Arizona 4, BYU 4, Michigan 4, Nebraska 3, Notre Dame 3, Penn State 3, Washington 3, Illinois 2, Northwestern 2, Texas Tech 2, Alabama 1, Colorado State 1, Georgia 1, Memphis 1, North Carolina State 1, TCU 1, UCLA 1, Wyoming 1. In the 1990s, Colorado has had the most different players win with five.

OPPONENTS IN 1996 . . . Colorado's 11 opponents in 1996 combined for a 70-59 record, a 54.3 winning percentage. Eliminate what they did against Colorado, and the record was 68-50 (.576). The teams and records: Washington State (5-6), Colorado State (7-5), Michigan (8-4), Texas A & M (6-6), Oklahoma State (5-6), Kansas (4-7), Texas (8-5), Missouri (5-6), Iowa State (2-9), Kansas State (9-3) and Nebraska (11-2). Four teams went to bowl games (Michigan, Texas, Kansas State, Nebraska). AND IN 1997 . . . Sub in Wyoming (10-2 in 1996) for Washington State, otherwise it will be the exact same slate except for reversed sites. Thus, CU's 1997 opponents went 75-55 last season (.577) with an impressive 73-45 (.619) without the results against the Buffs.

ON THE ROAD
(1988-current)

School	W	L	T	Pct.
Colorado	37	7	1	.833
Nebraska	32	6	1	.833
Notre Dame	35	8	1	.807
Miami, Fla.	35	9	0	.795
Florida State	31	9	0	.775
Michigan	31	10	3	.739
Tennessee	29	10	2	.732
Florida	27	11	1	.705

seasons, CU is 37-7-1 away from home (an 83.3 winning percentage), which ties Nebraska (32-6-1, .833) for the best road record in America in this time frame. The Buffaloes own a 28-4-1 mark in their last 33 road conference games (Big 8 & Big 12—losses at Nebraska in 1988-1992-1994-1996 and a tie at Kansas State in 1993). In this same time frame, CU has posted a 2-0 mark at Texas and 1-0 at Baylor, thus CU has a 31-4-1 record in the last 12 years in enemy Big 12 stadiums. CU's 10-game road winning streak was the longest in the nation until the NU loss.

HISTORICALLY . . . This fall will be Colorado's 108th season of intercollegiate football, as the Buffaloes have a chance of attaining their 600th all-time victory in 1997. With an all-time record of 589-352-36 in 977 games, Colorado and Louisiana State are in a race to become just the 15th school to win 600 games (LSU enters 1997 with 594 wins). CU currently stands 16th on the all-time win list and is 20th in all-time win percentage (.620). CU's 1,000th game is fast approaching, as that game could be played in late 1998 or early 1999 (depending on championship games and bowls).

NO CREAMPUFFS HERE . . . As previously mentioned, Colorado has the fourth best record in college football since the start of the 1989 season (78-15-4). Of these 97 games, Colorado has played a whopping 41 ranked teams, believed to be the most in the nation during this time frame (42 percent), with another 12 games against teams receiving significant (10 or more) votes. CU is 25-14-2 against ranked teams during this time frame (which includes a remarkable 11-5 record on the road). CU has played the most games against ranked teams in the last four seasons (23 of the last 48 contests), going 3-3 in 1993, 5-1 in 1994, 5-2 in 1995 and 2-2 in 1996. (NOTE: In 1990, the Buffs became only the second team in NCAA history to win the national championship after playing the nation's toughest schedule. CU's foes in 1990 won 63 percent of their games; Penn State was the first to accomplish the feat, in 1982).

RECRUITING . . . Colorado's 1997 recruiting class, which included 22 high school seniors and one junior college transfer, was the consensus No. 6 class in the nation this past February. SuperPrep (Allen Wallace) ranked the class No. 5, with Prep Football Report (Tom Lemming) and Student Sports (Brent Eads) ranking Colorado's class No. 6, and PrepStar (Jeff Duva) and the National Recruiting Advisor ranking the class No. 7.

COLLECTING A CHECK . . . There were 34 Colorado Buffalo alums playing professional football, 33 in the National Football League (all active roster) and one in the Canadian Football League at the end of the 1996 season. The 33 active players ranked Colorado No. 4 in the NFL in players produced, which tops Texas A & M (31) for the lead in the Big 12. The Buffs led the Big Eight in this area the majority of this decade; the most Buffs active in the NFL at one time was 47 in 1979 and CU regularly had around 40 players active in the late 1970s and early 1980s. The player in the CFL, Darian Hagan, has returned to CU following his retirement as its Alumni C-Club director.

ROAD-SWEET-ROAD . . . CU had won a school record 10 straight road games (4-0 in 1996, 5-0 in 1995 and the '94 finale), before the season-ending 17-12 loss at Nebraska. The previous record of eight was first set between 1922 and 1924). Still, the Buffs have been victorious 39 of the last 47 times away from Boulder and is 46-13-1 dating back to the 1985 season (a 77.5 winning clip). Over the last nine

TRENDS AND STUFF I . . . Since 1985, when the Buffs converted to wishbone and returned to their traditional winning ways, Colorado is 106-34-4 (the ninth best record nationally in this span). In these 144 games, CU has posted the following records (including bowls):

- 68- 3-2 with 400-plus yards total offense (34-2 with 500-plus);
- 84- 5-2 when scoring 24 or more points;
- 71- 5-3 when leading in time of possession;
- 67- 7-1 when making 20-plus first downs;
- 48- 1-1 when converting 50 percent or better on 3rd down;

- 90- 4-3 when leading after three quarters (86-2-3 in last 91);
- 91- 8-2 when leading at halftime (75-6-2 in last 83);
- 103-17-4 when scoring 14 or more points (3-17 scoring 13 or less);
- 31-11-2 when passing for more yards than rushing;
- 61- 3-2 when holding edge in 1st downs and time of possession.

TRENDS AND STUFF II . . . Since 1989, CU has posted the nation's fourth best overall record at 78-15-4. Here's a look at some trends during this time frame (97 games, also includes bowls):

- 46- 4-3 when running more plays than the opponent;
- 54- 3-2 with 400-plus yards total offense (29-2 500-plus);
- 50- 1-1 when scoring 30 or more points (52 of 97 games);
- 50- 3-3 when leading in time of poss. (28-12-1 when not);
- 55- 4-1 when making 20-plus first downs;
- 34- 0-1 when converting 50 percent or better on 3rd down;
- 39- 8-2 passing for 200+ yards (15-1-1 300+; 6-0-1 400+);

- 31-11-2 when passing for more yards than rushing;
- 43- 2-2 when holding edge in 1st downs and time of poss.;
- 59- 5-1 when holding edge in field position;
- 65- 2-3 when outrushing the opponent;

GAME DAY . . . The coaching staff is split between the sidelines and the press box. In the box are offensive coordinator Karl Dorrell, defensive tackles coach Tim Hundley, tight end coach Chuck Heater and the graduate assistants. Dorrell will call the plays and relay them to head coach Rick Neuheisel who will wear headsets on the sideline (along with defensive coordinator A. J. Christoff, inside linebackers coach Brian Cabral, running backs coach Kennedy Pola, offensive line coach Terry Lewis and defensive ends coach Jon Embree); special teams coach Bob Hauck is also on the sidelines but does not wear a headset. Plays are shuttled in by the players (receivers or running backs) with sideline signals also an option. And, CU quarterbacks also have the option of calling their own play after reading the defense.

• STATISTICALLY SPEAKING . . . Here's where the Buffs finished statistically in some categories in the Big 12 and the NCAA in 1996:

	Big 12	NCAA
Rushing Offense	11th	62nd
Passing Offense	1st	10th
Total Offense	2nd	15th
Scoring Offense	6th	39th
Rushing Defense	3rd	31st
Passing Eff. Defense	4th	23rd
Total Defense	3rd	23rd
Scoring Defense	3rd	21st
Punt Returns	11th	88th
Kickoff Returns	12th	111th
Net Punting	9th	60th
Turnover Margin	6th	39th

Koy Detmer was first in the Big 12 and 15th in the nation in pass efficiency (143.72), and first and ninth in both, respectively, in total offense (286.4). • Herchell Troutman was ninth in the conference in rushing (80.4), 13th in all-purpose yards (101.1 per) and 24th in total offense (80.4). • Lendon Henry was 18th in the conference in rushing (53.9). • Rae Carruth was first in the league and 14th in the nation in receiving yards per game (101.5), and was second and 32nd, respectively, in receptions per game (4.9). He was also ninth in the Big 12 in all-purpose yards (110.8), and was 14th in scoring (5.5/ppg). • Phil Savoy was sixth in the Big 12 in both receptions per game (3.9) and receiving yards per game (59.3). • James Kidd finished 18th in the league in receptions per game (2.3) and 17th in receiving yards (37.1). • Chris Anderson was 21st in the league in receptions (2.1/gm) and 18th in receiving yards (34.4 per). • Brody Heffner was 24th in the league in receiving yards (26.2; the top number for a freshman). • Steve Rosga tied for first in the league and 14th in the NCAA in interceptions per game (5, or .45/gm). • Toray Davis and Dalton Simmons tied for 17th in the league in interceptions (2, or .18 per game). • Ryan Nunez was seventh in the league in punt returns (6.4). • Marcus Stiggers was sixth in the league in kickoff returns (17.5 per). • Jason Lesley was 10th in the league in field goals (.55 per game). Colorado's punters did not make the list because they fell short of the minimum games needed.

POSTSEASON SURGERIES . . . Only two Buffs had postseason surgeries as a result of season injuries, as both CB Marcus Washington and DT Matt Cirulli underwent shoulder reconstructions (trainer Dave Burton reports both are doing fine with their rehab). Since, TE Tennyson McCarty had surgery by a specialist in Houston to help relieve degenerative arthritis in both feet, DE Fred Jones had surgery to repair a torn ACL in his right knee which he injured in conditioning, and NT Sean Jarne suffered a broken bone in his left foot (fifth metatarsal); all missed the spring but will return for the fall (although Jones may miss the start of the season).

AMERICA'S TEAM . . . Colorado is the second-most televised team in the nation on a national or regional basis this decade, as through the 1996 season, the Buffs have had 47 of 85 games (55 percent) dating back to 1990 broadcast. The first seven games (and 10 of 12 overall) this year fall into that category. Colorado has now been on national or regional television 51 times dating back to the start of the 1989 season, which is an impressive 53 percent of all CU games played (97) in this period of time.

SENIOR WINS . . . The 18 Colorado seniors last year tied the school mark as the winningest group of graduating players in CU history. They won 39 games (1993 through 1996), tying the 1992 class, with the fifth-year seniors experiencing 48 wins, the most in school history. The 1996 seniors also became the first to enjoy three 10-win seasons. Now, make way for the 1997 senior class, which can become the first to have four 10-win seasons. The '97 class is already 10th in four-year wins and tied for eighth in fifth-year wins and could become the winningest CU class in history. The list (fifth-year wins in parentheses):

Class of	Wins	Class of	Wins	Class of	Wins
1996	39 (48)	1990	36 (42)	1972	32 (38)
1992	39 (47)	1993	36 (47)	1997	31 (39)
1995	38 (46)	1994	36 (47)	1978	30 (35)
1991	38 (45)	1989	32 (39)

NINE IS FINE . . . Colorado has won at least eight games in each of the last nine seasons, a school all-time best. • CU has also defeated at least one top 20 team for nine consecutive seasons, second longest active streak in the nation. CU has defeated at least three ranked teams in five of the last seven seasons, including five in 1995. Including 1996, Florida State has defeated at least one top 20 team in 10 straight years, followed by Colorado (9), Michigan (8), Tennessee (7), and Washington (7). • Colorado has the fourth longest consecutive bowl invitation streak in the NCAA at nine games, trailing Nebraska (28), Michigan (22) and Florida State (15). CU's four-game bowl winning streak is tied for the third longest active streak in the nation with Penn State, behind only Syracuse (7) and Alabama (5).

SLIGHT UNIFORM CHANGE . . . To the standard black jersey (home) and white jersey (road), CU is adding silver as a trim color; no other changes are planned and the pants will remain the same. What will be new is a "throwback" jersey that CU will wear for one game this season (like MLB, NBA and the NFL have done in the past)—those will consist of a "Vegas" gold jersey and a silver pant—but again, will only be worn at one game to be determined (and it's not planned to be Nebraska).

HONORING TIGER . . . This fall, CU will honor Tyronee "Tiger" Bussey, who passed away in his battle against leukemia on Jan. 3 in a Detroit hospital. CU will wear Tiger's number, 56, on the helmet, and Tyronnee Bussey, Sr., will be CU's honorary captain when CU goes out for the coin flip at Michigan on Sept. 13 (the Busseys are from Detroit). Tiger was a member of the 1994 recruiting class, but was diagnosed with the disease shortly after signing with Colorado. He reported with his class that following August, but remained in Detroit after CU's 27-6 win at Michigan ("The Catch" game) for the first of two bone marrow transplants from his sister, Patrice. He returned to school that fall, practicing for the first time with the team in CU's Cotton Bowl preparations with the leukemia in remission. He then practiced full-go with the team for the first time in the spring of 1996 (he had three sacks in spring scrimmages), but fell ill at the end of spring drills and returned home to Detroit; he would never return to Colorado.

STAT SHOTS ... Here are some interesting statistical bullets about Colorado football:

- In its history, Colorado is 243-6-1 when scoring 30 or more points, along with records of 172-3 with 35-plus points and 159-2 with 36-plus, 138-1 with 38-plus and 93-0 with 43 or more tallies. The three losses with 35 more points came to Air Force (58-35 in 1968), Oklahoma (82-42 in 1980) and Stanford (41-37 in 1993). Colorado has played 977 games in its history, and has registered final point totals of every number between 0 and 70 except 68 (and of course 1), and have hit 75 and 109 above that mark. The Buffs hit 50 and 66 for the first time ever in 1995 (against Iowa State and NE Louisiana, respectively).
- Colorado is 5-5-1 in its last 11 games against top five teams (dating back to 1989) and is 11-10-2 against top 10 schools and 25-14-2 against all ranked teams in the same time frame.
- Colorado has scored 30 or more points in 52 of its last 97 games, posting a 50-1-1 record (the loss was at Stanford, 41-37 in 1993, and the tie was a 31-31 affair with Tennessee dating in the 1990 Disneyland Pigskin Classic). The Buffs have scored at least three touchdowns (21 points plus) in 78 of its last 95 games, dating to the start of 1989, going 68-8-2 (CU is 9-6-2 when held to 20 or less in this span).
- CU gained 400 or more yards in eight of 12 games last season, and has made that a habit since the start of the 1993 season. In 48 games in this span, CU has gained 400 or more yards 35 times (73 percent). The Buffaloes had four 500-plus yardage games in 1996, and have topped that mark in 20 of the 48 games since the '93 season opener (42 percent).
- Colorado is 49-6-3 in its last 58 league games, and along with Nebraska, are the only teams to have six or fewer conference losses since 1989 (for schools that have been league members for that time period). Within this record is a 25-game span in which the Buffs did not lose a conference game, which was the fourth longest such streak in the Big Eight after the league grew to eight institutions in 1958. Colorado was 23-0-2 during that run.

TWO-MINUTE WARNING ... Colorado has scored 70 times in 95 tries that the offense has been put into the two-minute drill since 1988 (or 73.7 percent of the time). CU is 4-for-6 this season (first-half touchdowns against Michigan, Oklahoma State and Missouri, along with a first-half field goal at Kansas). CU was 5-of-8 in 1995 (first-half TDs against Wisconsin, NLU and Oklahoma, and a field goal vs. Texas A&M; second-half TD, the game winner, at K-State). The Buffs were 7-of-8 in 1994 (including two scores in the final two minutes at Michigan, including that certain play of the decade). CU was 8-of-11 in 1993 (no spectacular endings), and was 6-of-12 in 1992, including the tying field goal against Oklahoma and game-winning touchdown at Kansas. Colorado was 8-of-12 in the two-minute offense in 1991, 11-of-14 in 1990, 11-of-11 in 1989 and 10-of-13 in 1988. At the end of the first half, the Buffs have converted to an 80 percent clip (48-of-61, including 32 touchdowns). Here's a chart showing CU's scores:

PLAYER BIOGRAPHIES

JEREMY ALDRICH, PK/P
5-10, 165, Soph., 2L
Federal Heights, Colo. (Northglenn)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed number one at placekicker, as he is coming off a fine spring, picking up where he left off last year. 1996: A reserve punter and placekicker most of the season, but at various times during the year he was thrust into competition for the starting role at both. Prior to the Nebraska game, the jobs were again put up for grabs, and he earned the starting nod at placekicker. He responded with a 4-for-4 effort against the Huskers, tying school records for field goals made and percentage in a single game. His first kick caught the back of the cross bar and remained good from 45 yards, with his next three kicks right down the middle from 40, 38 and 27 yards. He made good on his first two field goal tries against Washington in the Holiday Bowl (from 42 and 36 yards) to extend his consecutive string to six before missing in the fourth quarter to end the streak, the second longest in school history. His only other action was one kickoff in the Missouri game. 1995: Saw action in one game (NE Louisiana), as he had two punts for a 37.5 average and long of 42 in his lone appearance of the year. He suffered a back injury in practice shortly following that game, and was granted a hardship for the season by the Big Eight Conference. Since he played in one game and lettered, he could be one of those rare players who could earn five letters in his college career.

High School—Lettered two seasons in football as both a punter and placekicker at Northglenn, and earned a host of honors. He was a two-time all-Colorado (Rocky Mountain News, Denver Post), all-state (News, Post) and all-Front Range League selection, in addition to garnering all-region honors from Blue Chip, Prep Football Report and Street & Smith's his senior year. As a senior, he owned a 43.5 average for 36 punts, with a long of 63 and eight inside-the-20. He made good on six-of-11 field goals, with a long of 41, and converted all 45 of his PAT kicks. As a junior, he averaged 45.5 yards on 25 punts, with a long of 64 and six inside-the-20. He was seven-of-10 in the field goal department (long of 45), and made 25-of-28 extra point kicks. For his career, he averaged 44.3 yards on 61 punts, and converted 70-of-73 PAT kicks and 13-of-21 field goals. Northglenn was 6-4 his senior year and 13-1 his junior year (state runner-ups) under coach Scott Gallas. He lettered his sophomore year in soccer as a defenseman.

Academics—He is majoring in communication at Colorado. An honor roll student, he owned a 3.7 grade point average in high school and earned several academic honors, including Who's Who among American high school students and a Masonic Officers Association Award for academics.

Personal—Born May 23, 1977 in Thornton, Colo. His hobbies include anything to do with computers, card collecting, golf and skiing. He participated in the "Down Under Bowl," an annual summer all-star game which sent several American high school seniors to Australia.

MATT ALTMAN, PK
5-7, 150, Soph., VR
Newton, Mass. (Newton South)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed number three at placekicker. 1996: He did not see any action, but he did dress for five regular season games and the Holiday Bowl. He joined the team as a walk-on in time to participate during spring practice.

High School—Earned two letters in football at placekicker. He hit on 70 percent of his field goal attempts and 98 percent of his extra point kicks in his prep career. He set a school record with a 43-yard field goal during his junior year, also the longest in the state for that season. He had a 34-yard game winner with three seconds left to give his team a homecoming victory his senior year. Newton South was 9-0-1 his senior year and 2-8 his junior season under coach Nicholas Pasquarosa. Also lettered twice in soccer and once in track (300-meter dash).

Academics—He is a pre-journalism and mass communication major at CU. He is a member of CU's Academic Starters team, as he has the best GPA of all the kickers. He was a four-year member of the honor roll in high school.

Personal—Born Apr. 29, 1976 in Boston, Mass. Hobbies include playing soccer.

CHRIS ANDERSON, WR
6-4, 215, Sr., 3L
LaPorte, Texas (LaPorte)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed number two at slot receiver, but for all intents and purposes is considered a starter at the position. One of a possible three candidates on CU's team for the Biletnikoff Award. He is 21st all-time at Colorado in both receptions (45) and receiving yards (669). 1996: He saw action in 10 games and the Holiday Bowl, making two starts (at Missouri, his first of his career, and against Washington in the bowl). He caught 21 passes for 344 yards, with his 16.4 average per reception the second highest on the team. He had two touchdown catches, five third down receptions (all for first downs), and earned 19 first downs all told. He had one catch for 17 yards in the bowl game. 1995: Played in all 12 games (no starts), lining up at both wide receiver and tight end (he will likely move to tight end next season). He proved to be CU's best possession receiver, as all 13 passes he caught on third down earned first downs, with both his touchdowns on the year also coming on that down. He had 23 catches for the season for 316 yards, averaging 13.7 per catch, and added one catch for two yards in the Cotton Bowl against Oregon. He had career highs of five catches and 92 yards and his first college TD versus Northeast Louisiana. He missed some of fall drills with fluid in his right knee, but was fully recovered by the season opener. He led the team in receiving during spring ball, as he caught 14 passes for 186 yards in the three scrimmages. 1994: Saw action in eight games, including the Fiesta Bowl, making one catch for nine yards (against Iowa State). He played enough to letter as a true freshman, one of only four members of the '94 recruiting class to do so.

High School—Garnered SuperPrep All-American honors as a senior, when he was named the Greater Houston Player-of-the-Year by the Houston Chronicle. SuperPrep tabbed him as the No. 4 player nationally in the "athlete" category and the No. 3 overall player coming out of the state of Texas. He also garnered All-America honors by Prep Football Report and Who's Who (the Texas Finest team), and Prep Football Report and Who's Who (the Texas Finest team), and was a second-team selection by Blue Chip and an honorable mention choice by USA Today. He was a first-team all-state selection on both sides of the ball by the Texas High School Writers Association. As a senior, he caught 45 passes for 991 yards (22.0 per catch) and scored 11 touchdowns, while on defense (strong safety), he was in on 100 tackles (52 solo), with nine interceptions and seven pass deflections (he led the Houston area in both total reception yards and interceptions his senior year). As a junior, he caught 33 passes for 777 yards (23.5 per) and eight touchdowns with 45 tackles and two interceptions on defense, earning first-team all-district honors at receiver and second-team mention at safety. As a sophomore, he caught 25 passes for 302 yards (12.1 per) and four touchdowns, with 105 tackles and two interceptions defensively, as he was named Newcomer-of-the-Year in his district (he was second-team on defense and honorable mention on offense). LaPorte was 12-2 his senior year, reaching the state quarterfinals, and was 7-3 his junior season and 5-5 his sophomore year under coach Forrest Wiegand. He also lettered in basketball (averaging 22 points, 10 rebounds and six assists per game as a senior) and was a two-time all-state and all-district honoree.

Academics—Majoring in sociology at Colorado. He was an honor roll student in high school.

Personal—Born April 8, 1976 in Clearlake, Texas. He has 4.42 speed in the 40-yard dash.

College—This Season: Projected as a fullback in his first season of intercollegiate football.

High School—As a senior, he earned SuperPrep All-Far West and Prep Football Report All-West regional honors and was a member of the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune's Western 100 team. SuperPrep tabbed him as the No. 1 player in the state of Arizona in its preseason magazine, with PFR selecting him as the No. 92 player overall in the West. He earned first-team all-Sonoran Region, first-team all-Southern Conference and first-team all-South Arizona League honors as both a junior and senior, and was a two-time All-American by Bigger, Faster, Stronger. As a junior, he had 84 carries for 525 yards and eight TDs, while making 30 tackles with three sacks and two fumble recoveries as a defensive tackle (he played five games before moving exclusively to offense). His top games included a 52-13 win over Mountainview his senior year, when he rushed 13 times for 107 yards with several pancake blocks, and a 24-21 state quarterfinal win over Phoenix Washington, when his 37-yard touchdown run helped rally Sabino from a two-TD deficit. Sabino was 12-1 his senior year and 3-4 his junior season, reaching the state semifinals both years under coach Jeff Scurran. Englewood, Colorado
(Cherry Creek)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed fifth at tight end, but the coaches are impressed with his development. He has added 20 pounds to his frame since arriving at CU as a true freshman. He was the offensive winner of the Dan Staveland Award, presented to the top redshirt freshman-to-be. 1996: Redshirted; did not see any action. Injuries at the tight end position forced him to move there from tackle, and he responded to the challenge well. He was one of three winners on offense of the Offensive Scout Award, presented by the coaching staff following the season.

High School—As a senior, he garnered Blue Chip All-America honors, when he earned first-team all-Colorado honors from both the Denver Post and Rocky Mountain News, and was also first-team all-state for 5A schools. He was listed as the No. 1 player on the News' Colorado Blue Chip Top 10, and was also mentioned on the Post's state Blue Chip list. He was one of 15 offensive linemen to earn mention on the Tacoma News-Tribune's Western 100 squad, and Blue Chip ranked him as the No. 8 offensive line prospect in the Big Eight region, with SuperPrep tabbing him as the No. 3 lineman in the midlands (the No. 27 player overall). Prep Football Report also selected him as the No. 3 lineman in the Midlands region (No. 28 overall), and the National Recruiting Advisor selected him to its All-Midlands team. He was a first-team all-Centennial League selection and was a team captain. He started two years at left tackle, allowing just one sack as a senior, and only two as a junior when he earned second-team all-league honors (he also allowed only two sacks as a sophomore). Under coach Mike Woolford, Cherry Creek was 12-2 his junior and senior seasons, winning the state championship both years, and lost in the state semis his sophomore season in posting a 9-4 mark. San Diego, Calif. (Mt. Carmel)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed fourth at center. He was injured the first day of spring practice (partially torn MCL in his right knee), which did not require surgery but did force him to miss the rest of spring drills. He has added about 15 pounds to his frame since his arrival at CU last fall. 1996: Redshirted; did not see any action. He practiced the entire season on the offensive line, and was one of three winners of the Offensive Scout Award for his efforts during practice.

He earned all-region honors by SuperPrep (Far West) and Blue Chip (Western), and was one of 15 offensive linemen selected to the Tacoma News-Tribune's Western 100 squad while the National Recruiting Advisor selected him to its All-West team. As a senior playing primarily at guard, he had 59 pancake blocks, 19 touchdown blocks and was called for just three penalties (he had six TD blocks in a 42-7 win over Bonita Vista). 7
JOHN HESSLER, QB
6-2, 200, Sr., 2L
Brighton, Colo. (Brighton)

College—This Season: CU's starting quarterback, who Neuheisel boasts could have the kind of year that would make him a first- or second-round NFL draft pick. He is a preseason all-Big 12 pick by Football Action '97 (second-team by Lindy's and The Sporting News), and Street & Smith's/Walter Camp tabbed him as an honorable mention preseason All-American. Lindy's rated him as the No. 10 best quarterback in the nation, with The Sporting News tabbing him No. 14. The best-known "back-up" in college football over the past two seasons, he enters his senior year ninth in all-time passing yards (2,310), fifth in touchdown passes (20) and 21st in total offense (2,298), and he's started just eight career games. He was one of three winners on offense to receive the Joe Romig Award after spring practice, presented by the coaching staff to the top seniors-to-be. 1996: He saw action in five games (no starts), but credit him with a "win out of the bullpen." He replaced an injured Koy Detmer against Texas and rallied the Buffs to a win over the eventual Big 12 champions. He completed 11 of 19 passes for 158 yards in that game, which was most of his passing on the season, but it was his 1-yard touchdown sneak late in the game that provided CU with the winning points. He completed 25-of-49 passes for 409 yards and four touchdowns on the first unit in CU's three major spring scrimmages, and threw just one interception. 1995: If there was such a thing as the Roloids Relief Ace Award for college football, this former baseball pitcher would win going away for 1995. In the first three games of the season, he completed 9-of-15 passes for 98 yards, after all three were long decided, but he would soon find the spotlight. After starter Koy Detmer went down for the year in the first quarter against Texas A&M, Hessler was called upon to take over the reins of the team. He responded by earning two straight Big Eight Offensive Player-of-the-Week honors in leading CU to wins over A&M and Oklahoma. He was 10-of-20 for 177 yards against A&M, throwing one touchdown and running for two others. One week later at Oklahoma, he had arguably the best game ever for a CU quarterback in his first career start. He was 24-of-34 for 348 yards and five touchdown passes, and was selected the national player-of-the-week by the National Football Foundation. Six weeks later in the Sooner state, he completed 22-of-31 for 301 yards and another five TDs in a 45-32 win over Oklahoma State (thus, he was 46-of-65 for 349 yards and 10 TDs, without an interception, in the state of Oklahoma). He completed 11 of 26 passes for 115 yards and two touchdowns in the rain-soaked

Cotton Bowl game against Oregon. 28
ANDY MITCHELL, P
6-3, 190, Sr., 3L
Littleton, Colo. (Littleton)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed second at punter, but he will battle for the regular role in August. He has led the team in punting three straight years, and is bidding to become just the second player in CU history to lead the team for four years (he would join Stan Koleski, who did it from 1973-76). 1996: He saw action in six games, as he entered the year as CU's top punter but was in a battle for the position as the season progressed. He slipped into second on the depth chart for the middle portion of the year, but appeared to be making a run at reclaiming starting honors at season's end. He averaged 40.8 yards on 23 punts, with a solid net average of 39.2. His long kick was 64 yards, one of six he booted longer than 50 yards, and he placed five kicks inside-the-20. 1995: Punted in all 12 games, but did not have the required minimum number of punts to qualify nationally (3.6 per game); he was fifth in the league with 39.8 average. He placed seven punts inside-the-20 and had six travel over 50 yards, including a career long of 73 against Kansas. Despite having five punts blocked (the most at CU since 1958), he owned a personal net average of 38.2, which was third individually in the league. In the Cotton Bowl against Oregon, he completed a 28-yard pass to Ryan Black on a fake punt play, the first pass of his collegiate career. Attended the heralded Ray Pelfrey kicking camp over the summer. 1994: He was the first freshman called on to be CU's regular punter in history, and was only the second to ever play more than a spot role (Stan Koleski punted 29 times in 1973, splitting the duty with Dave Logan, who had 30). For the year, he averaged 38.3 yards per punt, with a solid net figure of 36.9. His average likely would have been higher had he punted more (he punted two or fewer times in five games, including once in two games and none against Iowa State). He allowed only 49 return yards on the season and had only three touchbacks. He had eight kicks inside-the-20 including the Fiesta Bowl (three at Nebraska), with six of those inside-the-10. He pinned Kansas State at its own 2 with CU up by seven late in the game (after KSU blocked the only punt of the season), and he was CU's special teams player-of-the-week against Michigan (averaging 41.0 yards for five punts and limiting the Wolverines to minus-5 return yards). 1993: Redshirted; did not see any action.

High School—As a senior, he garnered All-Colorado (all classes) and all-state honors at punter by the Rocky Mountain News and was a first-team all-Continental League pick (and was a second-team selection as a junior). As a senior, he owned a 39.0 punting average for 27 kicks, placing 12 punts inside the 10 with a long of 71 (he had a 44-yard average when he was kicking away). He had a 38.0-yard average as a junior on 28 punts, with six inside the 10 and a long of 68. He made good on 7-of-13 field goal tries in his career with a long of 49. Kicked a game-winning 34-yard field goal with 13 seconds left to give his team a 10-7 win over Heritage his junior year. He was fifth in the state in punting as a senior. Littleton was 9-2 his senior year, winning the Continental League title and making the state playoffs for the first time in 31 years, and was 7-3 his junior and sophomore seasons under coach Rocky Whitworth. Also lettered three times in basketball (guard), and was team captain as a senior.

Academics—Majoring in communication at Colorado. A two-time member of CU's "Academic Starters" team.

Personal—Born Apr. 15, 1974 in Boulder. Hobbies include golf (owns a 12 handicap), music and working with kids (he was a summer counselor at "The Sky's The Limit" camp for inner-city kids). Father (Dudley, "Bo") played two years in the St. Louis Cardinals farm system after playing both basketball and baseball at Colorado (1968-71). Grandfather (Dale Mitchell) played baseball 10 seasons in the majors with the Cleveland Indians and Brooklyn Dodgers (Oklahoma's ball field is named after him). Uncle (Dale Jr., or "Mitch") played with OU and the Dodgers. He received coaching from Denver Broncos kickers Rich Karlis and Mike Horan during his prep career.

HANNIBAL NAVIES, WLB

6-3, 240, Jr., 2L

Oakland, Calif. (Berkeley)

College—This Season: He enters the fall as CU's starting weak outside linebacker. It's a good bet that he will become a very heralded player for his performance this fall, despite not being recognized for any honors in the preseason publications. He is coming off a tremendous spring, as he was named one of four winners on defense of the Fred Casotti Award, presented to the top juniors-to-be. He also was one of four players to win a Tough Buff Award for achievement in the weight room. A slight groin pull kept him out of CU's spring game, but he wreaked havoc during most of the spring scrimmages. 1996: He played in all 12 games, including five starts (one in the Holiday Bowl), as he earned one of three Most Improved Defensive Player awards presented by the coaching staff. He had 45 tackles on the season (30 solo), with three tackles for loss, four third down stops and two forced fumbles. He had a career-high seven tackles against Nebraska, where he also had a quarterback sack and a caused fumble. He had six tackles in three other games (Oklahoma State, Texas and Missouri). He also finished fifth on the team in special teams points with 22, as he had 10 wedge breaks (the second most on the team), nine tackles (two inside-the-20) and a knockdown block. He had a tremendous spring, as he was one of two winners on defense of the Hale Irwin Award, presented by the coaching staff to the top sophomores-to-be. 1995: Played in six games at defensive end and in all regular season games on special teams, but he missed the Cotton Bowl as he had surgery to mend a torn tendon in his left ring finger (he suffered the injury in the Kansas State game). He was in for 50 plays on defense, making 12 tackles (11 solo, two for losses). His sack came on the final play of the Kansas State game. He was fourth on the squad in special team points with 26, as he had 14 tackles (five inside-the-20), six knockdown blocks and one wedge break.

High School—Earned first-team all-Bay Area Valley Athletic League honors as a senior, and was charted as the No. 3 prospect in the East Bay by the West County Times. He led his team his senior year in tackles with 145, including 21 quarterback sacks and two interceptions. His top game was against Antioch, when he had 15 tackles and eight sacks. He played some spot wide receiver that season, but mainly concentrated on defense. As a junior, he averaged six tackles per game and had about 10 receptions in his first season in California; he previously had attended school in Chicago, where as a sophomore, he was the starting wide receiver for St. Patrick's High (his family moved to Chicago and then moved back). He started every game his sophomore through senior seasons at outside linebacker. Berkeley was 9-3 and reached the state semis his senior year under coach Mike Tuisosopo, after going 2-8 his junior year. He also lettered in track (sprints and relays), with career bests of 10.59 in the 100-meters and 21.6 in the 200 (he was the Northern California champion in the latter as a junior).

Personal—Born July 19, 1977 in Berkeley, Calif. Hobbies include running and traveling. He has impressive speed for an interior defender: 4.4 in the 40 and 10.59 speed in the 100.

BEN NICHOLS, OG

6-6, 285, Sr., VR

Springfield, Mo. (Glendale)

College—This Season: He enters the fall listed second at left offensive guard, where he moved back to from tackle where he last practiced a year earlier. 1996: He missed the entire season due to medical reasons, but for the second time in his career, he lost a year of eligibility because he already had utilized his redshirt year. He did practice in the spring, moving to tackle from guard upon completing rehabilitation after back surgery. 1995: He missed the entire season while continuing therapy following back surgery. He had missed the second half of spring practice after undergoing the surgery to relieve a herniated disc, and it was first thought he would be able to return for the fall. He already had used a redshirt season, so he lost an entire year because of the injury. 1994: Saw action in five games plus the Fiesta Bowl at guard. He was in for 51 plays from scrimmage during the regular season in grading out to 68.6 percent for the season. 1993: Redshirted; did not see any action. He practiced at both guard and tackle the entire fall.

High School—A Who's Who All-America (Joe Terranova's listing) as a senior, when Blue Chip Report selected him a third-team member. He was also on the SuperPrep and Prep Football Report (Tom Lemming) All-Midland Region teams. 6-3, 305, Sr., 2L
New Orleans, La. (Lawless)

College—This Season: CU's starting right offensive guard, as he moved into the position from offensive tackle for spring practices. He made the move because it strengthened the guard position tremendously, and the coaches felt it should benefit him for the NFL draft. He was a first-team preseason All-America by Street & Smith's/Walter Camp, with Preview Sports placing him on its second-team and Athlon and Game Plan Magazine making him third-team choice. Lindy's ranked him as the No. 6 guard in the nation, with The Sporting News tabbing him No. 7, while Playboy listed him on its short "Best-of-the-Rest" list. He also was a unanimous first-team All-Big 12 selection in the seven preseason magazines which picked an all-league team as of press time. He had a great spring practice at his new position, and he was named one of three winners on offense of the Joe Romig Award, presented to the top seniors-to-be. As has been the tradition with some CU interior linemen in the past few years, he saw some spot duty on defense in goal-line situations. In March conditioning tests, he tied for the team lead in the squat (600 pounds), was second in the jerk (370), third in the snatch (245), and fifth in both the power clean (330) and bench press (400). He also owns a 30-inch vertical jump and has impressive 4.92 time in the 40-yard dash. 1996: He started all 12 games at right offensive tackle, earning third-team all-Big 12 honors from both the Associated Press and the league coaches. He was also the winner of the Offensive Trench Award presented by the coaching staff for his play on the offensive line. He was an honorable mention all-Big Eight selection by the league coaches, and he was one of three players to win the Most Improved Offensive Player award as selected by the coaching staff. He was in for 670 snaps from scrimmage and was fourth among all linemen in pancake blocks (21), downfield blocks (20) and touchdown blocks (19). He enjoyed a solid spring, as he was named co-winner of the Hale Irwin Award, which is presented to the team's top sophomore-to-be. 1994: Occupied the second-team right tackle spot for the entire season, as he saw action in five games plus the Fiesta Bowl. On the season, he was in for 51 plays, grading out to 76.5 percent with four pancake blocks. He was in on 63 tackles as a junior, with 10 sacks, five forced fumbles and two pass deflections. A three-year starter, he also played offensive tackle all three seasons. His biggest prep moment came his senior year, when he lined up at tight end on a conversion try and caught the only pass of his career for two points in a 32-14 win over John McDonald High. Lawless was 2-8 his junior and senior seasons, but only 1-3 his sophomore year as a strike catcher the season short. High school coach was Roland Lombard, whom he credits with his parents as the driving forces to all his successes. AARON WADE, OG

Wheat Ridge, Colo. (Wheat Ridge)

College—This Season: Enters the fall as CU's starting left offensive guard, as he settled in solely at the guard slot during spring practice (but could play tackle in a pinch as well). He has worked hard in conditioning and could be one of the surprises around the league in the Big 12 this fall. 1996: He played in 11 games, including the Holiday Bowl, and had one start against Kansas State, the first of his career. The start came at left offensive tackle for an injured Andrew

Welsh, a position Wade played at other various times during the year (as well as on the field goal/PAT team). He was in for 134 snaps from scrimmage, making eight pancake blocks, five downfield blocks and two touchdown blocks for the season. He allowed just one quarterback pressure and one sack. He moved to guard for the first time in his career for spring practice, and looked pretty comfortable at his new position. 1995: Played in six games, including the Cotton Bowl, at left offensive tackle, and practiced with the No. 1 unit early in bowl preparations as Andrew Welsh healed from a neck injury. He saw action for 81 snaps from scrimmage, making three touchdown blocks, one downfield block and one pancake block. He allowed just one sack and one pressure for the season. 1994: He saw action in three regular season games (Missouri, Kansas, Iowa State), as he was in for 25 plays from scrimmage. He graded out 68 percent on the season, allowing one sack and being called for one penalty. He missed most of spring practice with an Achilles injury. 1993: Redshirted; did not see any action. Practiced the entire season at tackle.

High School—His is a most interesting story: he was held out of the ninth grade by his mother so he could work, which he did, working at a few odd jobs. He then enrolled in high school in 10th grade, working as the team manager for the football squad. He went on to play two seasons (1990, 1991), but because he did not attend the ninth grade, was behind on classes he needed to graduate. He remained in school in 1992-93 to meet all the core collegiate requirements as well as taking a few courses for college credit. As a senior (in 1991), he was an all-state selection by the Denver Post and Rocky Mountain News, when he was a SuperPrep Preseason All-American. He was a first-team all-Jefferson County League selection that year after earning second-team honors as a junior, his first real year of organized football. In his two years at Wheat Ridge, he did not allow a single quarterback sack and was never called for holding, playing offensive tackle. He was also all-state on the defensive side of the ball, making 120 tackles with six sacks and a fumble recovery as a senior. Wheat Ridge was 9-2 his senior season and 8-1 his junior year under coach Ed Stevens. He also lettered once in track (shot put, discus).

Academics—Majoring in sociology at Colorado.

Personal—Born Oct. 23, 1972 in Denver, Colo. Hobbies include camping, fishing and all sports. The first commitment of the 1993 CU recruiting class (Nov. 21). In 1992, he actually worked as an assistant coach at Wheat Ridge (defensive line) with his old teammates, and one of his pupils, Shane Magalei, is attending BYU on scholarship.

MARCUS WASHINGTON, CB
6-2, 210, Jr., 2L
Colorado Springs, Colo. (Harrison)

College—This Season: Enters the fall listed second at left cornerback. He missed all of spring practice while completing rehabilitation following January shoulder surgery. Overlooked by the preseason publications, when he's healthy, he's one of the best in the Big 12. He has 24 career pass deflections, which already ties him for fifth all-time at Colorado. 1996: He played in all 12 games, starting the first 10. He set a school record for the most pass deflections in a season with 20, and he tied for the team lead in third down stops with 14. He was an honorable mention all-Big 12 performer, selected by both the Associated Press and the league coaches. For the year, he was in on 46 tackles (36 solo), with two touchdown saves, two fumble recoveries and four tackles for losses (including 1½ sacks). He returned one of the fumbles 54 yards for a touchdown at Missouri, and he tied the school record for pass deflections in a game with five. He had a career-high 10 tackles against Texas A&M, with nine against Michigan. He added three assisted tackles, a forced fumble and two knockdown blocks on special teams duty. 1995: He was the defensive most valuable player in the Cotton Bowl, which he started as CU came out in a nickel back formation. Late in the first half, he intercepted a pass and returned it 95 yards for a touchdown, the longest postseason play in CU's bowl history. He had six tackles and two pass deflections against Oregon as well in CU's 38-6 triumph. He played in all 11 regular season games and made one start, when Colorado came out in a dime defense against Kansas State. He moved from free safety to cornerback midway through the season, and basically elevated himself to co-starter status on the left side. He was a co-winner of the Lee Willard Award, presented by the coaching staff to the most outstanding freshman. He was in for 295 snaps from scrimmage (205 over the last six games), making 23 tackles with four pass deflections, two third down stops and two fumble recoveries (he returned one for 24 yards against Iowa State). His top tackle effort came against Missouri, when he had seven. He finished sixth on the team in special team points with 23. He had eight tackles on coverage units (one inside the 20), with eight knockdown blocks, five wedge breaks and a blocked punt (at Wisconsin, which he was credited with a 16-yard return that set up a CU field goal). 1994: Redshirted; practiced at strong safety for most of the season.

High School—Earned All-Colorado (all classes) and was a first-team all-state pick by the Denver Post. He was also Harrison's most valuable player and was the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph's area player-of-the-week on three occasions. He was a two-time first-team all-South Central League selection (as a junior and senior). As a senior, he was in on 192 tackles, with four interceptions (three returned for touchdowns), three quarterback sacks and three fumble recoveries (and also returned two punts for scores). As a junior, he registered 167 tackles, with five interceptions and two sacks, and as a sophomore, he made 98 tackles and three interceptions. He totalled 457 tackles in his prep career. Harrison was 3-6 his senior year and 1-9 his junior and sophomore years under coach Derrall Mastin. Also lettered in basketball (center/forward; averaged 10 points and two blocks per game as a senior) and in track (sprints and high jump).

Academics—Interested in communication as his major at Colorado.

Personal—Born February 26, 1975 in Mobile, Ala. Hobbies include playing video games.

In a brief stint as a kick returner, he returned one kickoff for 15 yards against Oklahoma State. He had a good spring, completing 63.4 percent of his passes (26-of-41) in CU's three major scrimmages for 350 yards and two touchdowns (with just two interceptions). 1995: Redshirted; he gained valuable experience in practice, as he moved up the depth chart after Koy Detmer's season-ending injury. He was never in danger of having to give up his redshirt season, however.

High School—As a senior, he was a Blue Chip, SuperPrep, USA Today (honorable mention) and Who's Who All-American, and also earned mention on both the Dallas Morning News' and Houston Chronicle's Top 100 lists. He was a first-team all-state (Texas sports-writers), all-Southwest Texas and all-district selection as well. As a senior, he completed 72 of 169 passes for 1,611 yards and 20 touchdowns (with 13 interceptions), while rushing 187 times for 1,450 yards and another 21 touchdowns (he averaged 131.8 per game with a long run of 71 yards). He scored 135 points (21 TD, seven PAT and one two-point conversion), and accounted for 255 points overall. As a junior, he was a first-team all-Southwest

Texas and all-district performer in completing 49 percent of his passes (76 of 156) for 870 yards and seven touchdowns. He rushed for 748 yards and 15 touchdowns, averaging 5.5 yards per carry, which included three runs of 60 yards or longer. All told, he accounted for 4,829 yards of total offense and 57 touchdowns as a junior and senior. He played free safety as a sophomore, recording 148 tackles (81 solo), with eight interceptions (he was all-state, all-Southwest Texas and all-district as a defensive back that season). He also handled his team's punting chores, owning a 40-yard average as a senior. Uvalde was 11-1 his senior year, winning the district championship, and was 7-2-1 his junior and 2-7-1 his sophomore season under coach Johnny Ringo. He also lettered in track (sprints, with personal bests of 10.92 in the 100 and 22.27 in the 200; hurdles, with a PR of 14.1 in the 110-meters; and relays) and baseball (centerfielder). ANDREW WELSH, OT/C

Walnut Creek, Calif. (De La Salle)

College—This Season: Enters the fall as CU's starting left offensive tackle, but is also listed as the back-up center and could be called on to play both. Likely the most athletic of all CU offensive linemen, he was honored in the spring by the strength coaches and earned the "Tough Buff Award" for his commitment in the weight room. Lindy's Big 12 Football selected him as a preseason second-team All-Big 12 team member. 1996: He started 11 games including the Holiday Bowl, as he missed the Kansas State game with a strained right ankle. He played 685 snaps from scrimmage and made 25 pancake blocks on the season, along with 10 downfield blocks and five touchdown blocks. He allowed 14 quarterback pressures (only six in the last seven games) and four quarterback sacks. The coaches selected him one of three winners of the Most Improved Player Award on offense. He settled in nicely at tackle after two position moves during his sophomore season. 1995: He started three games at left tackle, including the Cotton Bowl against Oregon. He came back to play in the bowl game following a neck injury (compressed nerve) he suffered against Kansas State. He made his first career start at any position against Missouri at left tackle, as injuries forced him to shift from center to guard and tackle, and he would play all three offensive line positions during the course of the season. He was in for 308 plays from scrimmage, and was fifth among all linemen in downfield blocks (14), along with 11 pancake blocks and six touchdown blocks. Despite being thrown to the wolves so to speak at times, he allowed just two sacks and four pressures the entire year. He had entered the fall listed second at center on the depth chart. 1994: Saw action in five regular season games plus the Fiesta Bowl, as he was the second team center. He was in for 51 plays from scrimmage, with two pancake and two touchdown blocks, in grading out to 72.5 percent for the season. 1993: Redshirted; did not see any action. Practiced most of the season at center.

High School—He did not play his senior year (1992), as an eligibility problem basically had him attend the 9th grade twice (he transferred from a school in Oakland to De La Salle, in Concord, a private Catholic school, where he had to re-enter the ninth grade. But his athletic "clock" had started as he played each season from 1988 through 1991). He did practice with his team to keep in shape. Regardless, he was still a Who's Who All-American, and SuperPrep placed him on its All-Farwest Region team. As a junior, he was a first-team all-league, all-city and an all-state underclassmen performer. De La Salle was 12-1 his junior year and 13-0 his sophomore season, claiming the North Coast Section Championship under coach Bob Ladacouer. He also lettered twice in wrestling, earning all-league honors and posting a 25-6 record as a junior and a 32-5 mark as a senior, claiming the league's heavyweight title his junior year (he had 21 pins in his career).

Academics—He is majoring in environmental studies at Colorado. A scholar-athlete in high school with a 3.4 grade point average.

Personal—Born Nov. 17, 1974 in Berkeley, Calif. Hobbies include racquetball, reading and watching old movies.

DAMEN WHEELER, CB

5-10, 165, Soph., 1L

Sacramento, Calif. (Valley)

College—This Season: Enters the fall as CU's starting right cornerback, as he picked up in the spring where he left off at the end of his freshman year. Preview Sports made him as a preseason first-team All-Big 12 selection, with The Sporting News naming him second-team. TSN ranked him as the No. 13 cornerback in the nation, with Lindy's Big 12 Football ranking him No. 21. He had a great spring practice, and the coaches named him the defensive winner of the Hale Irwin Award, presented to the top sophomores-to-be. 1996: He played in 10 games overall, including eight on defense and two starts (in the regular season finale at Nebraska and against Washington in the Holiday Bowl). He had 12 tackles on the season (six solo), six passes broken up and two third down stops, along with a pair of interceptions. Both picks came against Kansas State, which is believed to be the first time a freshman had two in the same game in Colorado history. His first one set up a CU touchdown, and the second one came in the end zone preventing a KSU score. He was the first true freshman to start a game for Colorado since 1994 when he did just that against Nebraska. He was a recipient of the Lee Willard Award, presented to the most outstanding freshmen on the team.

High School—As a senior, he garnered USA Today (honorable mention) and Who's Who All-America honors, and earned second-team all-state honors at tailback. He earned all-city honors in being named Sacramento's Player-of-the-Year, and also was all-Delta League and was the league player-of-the-year as well). The National Recruiting Advisor selected him to its All-West team. As a senior, he rushed 193 times for 2,284 yards and 33 touchdowns, breaking Rae Carruth's (a fellow Buff) school record of 1,811. He had two interceptions for 115 yards, and he scored three touchdowns on just six kick returns (two punt, one kickoff); he had two interceptions on defense. He had a huge game against Sacramento High, gaining 223 yards on just 13 carries, scoring six touchdowns. He also had 12 rushes for 278 yards and four TDs against Grant. In that game, he became the co-holder of the national record for the longest run from scrimmage, 99 yards. As a junior, when he was a first-team all-league performer (and his team's offensive most valuable player), he rushed 70 times for 956 yards and 14 touchdowns. He led the league in rushing both years, and in scoring as a senior. School policy dictated that only juniors and seniors play on the varsity; he had over 3,000 yards rushing as a junior varsity player, including 210 yards on his first three carries, all leading to touchdowns. Valley was 12-1 his senior year, losing the city championship game (18-15 to Jesuit), and was 9-2 his junior year under coach Dave Hoskins. He played junior varsity as a freshman and sophomore, with those teams going a combined 20-0. He also lettered in track (sprints and relays; owns a personal best of 47.8 in the 400-meter dash), and played junior varsity basketball as a frosh and soph.

Academics—Is interested in business or psychology as his major at Colorado.

1996-IN-REVIEW

COLORADO 37, WASHINGTON STATE 19

Game One—August 31, 1996

BOULDER—Koy Detmer made a triumphant return to the Colorado lineup, passing for three touchdowns and scoring another, as the No. 1 Buffaloes opened the season with a convincing 37-19 win over the Washington State Cougars.

Detmer, who went down in the fourth game of the 1995 season with a season-ending knee injury, scored CU's first touchdown of the year and the first of his own career when he called a sneak and took it in for the score from the WSU 1' to open the second quarter. That gave CU a 10-0 lead at the time, but Detmer was just getting warmed up.

Before the first half clock would expire, Detmer started to return to his form of old. He connected on a 7-yard pass to James Kidd just under two minutes after his own score, and midway through the quarter, he lofted a 43-yard touchdown bomb to Chris Anderson, the latter giving CU an insurmountable 24-0 lead.

Detmer, who was named the Big 12 Conference's offensive player-of-the-week for his efforts in the game, completed his show in the third quarter. He led Herchell Troutman beautifully in the flat, and then Troutman dodged several tackles in rambling 25 yards for a score. The play culminated an eight-play, 96-yard drive which opened the second half. Later in the period, Detmer scrambled for the longest rush of his career, 44 yards, setting up one of three Jason Lesley field goals on the afternoon and a 34-6 CU lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Lesley booted the longest field goal of his career, 48 yards, to close CU's scoring. The Cougars added two late scores to make the score look much closer than the game indicated, one coming on a fumble return and the other after recovering an onside kick.

Despite Detmer's 20-of-33 for 254 yards passing, the day belonged to the CU defense. Washington State earned just nine first downs, had only five rushing yards and only 168 yards of total offense. But looking inside-the-numbers, the CU defense was stifling for the Cougars: they were held to two yards or less on 15 of 21 first down plays, their average yards-per-play on third down was 10.7 (for 15 plays), and WSU gained yards on only 22 of 54 plays. Matt Russell set the tone early, making the first two tackles of the game en route to a game-high seven (with Steve Rosga) or the Buffs.

Colorado had 470 yards on offense, 278 passing and 192 rushing. Troutman led all rushers with 83 yards, including his regular season best carry of 50 yards.

COLORADO 48, COLORADO STATE 34

Game Two—September 7, 1996

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—The No. 5 Colorado Buffaloes overcame a couple of early punches as head coach Rick Neuheisel would say in coming back to defeat the unranked Colorado State Rams, 48-34, in the 68th meeting between the neighboring schools. The night game was nationally televised on ESPN2.

For the second straight week, Colorado controlled the tempo of the game, running over 30 plays more than opponent and possessing the ball almost two-thirds of the game. The Buffs amassed 645 yards of total offense, the eighth-most in their history and the second highest total outside of Boulder.

Koy Detmer continued his personal comeback with one of the best days of his career, completing 31-of-42 passes for 364 yards and two touchdowns. At one point in the first half, he completed 14 straight passes to break the school record, which had been 12 by Kordell Stewart (set back in 1992).

It was the Lendon Henry show early on, as the junior tailback scored CU's first three touchdowns, including a 27-yard effort on a screen pass from Detmer which put the Buffs ahead to stay, 21-14, early in the second quarter. CU earned its first cushion of the game just three minutes after Henry's third score when defensive tackle Viliani Maumau made CU's defensive play-of-the-game. He batted a Moses Moreno pass in the air, caught it and then raced 33 yards for a touchdown to put CU ahead, 28-14.

The three-touchdown, second-quarter blitz was topped off by a beautiful 41-yard pass on a dime from Detmer to James Kidd with 4:23 left in the half. CU led 35-17 at the time, and CSU would get no closer than two touchdowns the remainder of the game.

The Rams had worked to a 14-7 lead on the strength of a Calvin Branch five-yard run, with Henry scoring his first TD on CU's next drive to pull the Buffs even early. Branch then gave CSU its last lead of the night with a 96-yard kickoff return for a score.

Colorado mastered the clock during the game, not to mention the long drive. The Buffs had four 80-yard marches for touchdowns, along with an 18-play, 96-yard effort which ate up 8:51 of the fourth quarter clock. Rae Carruth's three-yard score on a fourth down reverse sealed the game for CU, as it padded the lead to 48-27 with 1:34 left.

CU gained 364 yards passing and 281 rushing in earning 33 first downs on the night. The Rams had 393 total yards, but only 81 rushing after three different backs went for 100-plus in the Ram's season-opening win over UT-Chattanooga the previous week.

MICHIGAN 20, COLORADO 13

Game Three—September 14, 1996

BOULDER—The No. 11 Michigan Wolverines held the No. 5 Colorado Buffaloes scoreless in the second half in rallying for a 20-13 win before the third-largest crowd in Folsom Field history.

Colorado had several chances to win the game, but despite being who many felt was the better team, penalties (14 on the day) helped to squander any comeback attempt on the part of the Buffaloes. CU limited Michigan to just 247 yards of total offense (and only 3.4 per play, 2.8 rushing). However, the Wolverines took advantage of the CU miscues and a couple of short punts to grab the victory.

Lendon Henry's eight-yard run early in the second quarter put the Buffs up by a 7-3 score, but Michigan came back with a 16-play, 75-yard drive that consumed over eight minutes to retake a 10-7 advantage. The Buffs then used their classic two-minute offense in going 78 yards in just six plays, culminated by a five-yard touchdown pass from Koy Detmer to Phil Savoy, to go on top 13-10 at halftime (the extra point kick was blocked).

Michigan tied the game on a 42-yard Remy Hamilton field goal midway with six minutes left in the third quarter, and took a 20-13 lead on a three-yard pass from Scott Dreisbach to Matt Tuman in the quarter's final minute. Both plays were set up by CU punts of just 34 and 26 yards, as the Wolverines had to drive a combined 56 yards (on 16 plays) for the tying and go-ahead points.

The Buffs would be held scoreless in the second half for the first time since 1992 (a 42-game span), but had their opportunities. CU failed on two fourth down tries in Michigan territory in the fourth quarter, one at the 41 and the other at the 9, the latter a 14-play drive that saw CU commit five penalties.

A crowd of 53,788 witnessed the game, which ended in an ironic twist with a flashback from CU's 27-26 win in 1994. Bad clock management by Michigan gave the Buffs a crack at throwing to the end zone from the Wolverine 37 with five seconds left in the game. But Detmer's pass, after being tipped by Darrin Chiaverini, fell harmlessly to the ground, about two feet from a diving Rae Carruth to end the game.

The Buffs had 357 yards of total offense on the afternoon, including 287 through the air.

COLORADO 24, TEXAS A & M 10

Game Four—September 28, 1996

COLLEGE STATION, Texas—Colorado scored on the first offensive play of the game and never looked back as the No. 12 Buffaloes cruised to an easy 24-10 win over Texas A&M, only the Aggies' third home loss in the last eight seasons. The game marked the first league game for both schools in the new Big 12 Conference.

On the opening kickoff, Ryan Sutter forced a fumble that Brandon Southward recovered on the A&M 28-yard line. It took one play for CU to score, as Rae Carruth ran around the left side on a reverse for an easy touchdown and a 7-0 Buff lead.

The advantage grew to 14-0 early in the second quarter, as a perfect Koy Detmer screen pass to Herchell Troutman turned into a 50-yard touchdown play. The score culminated a 90-yard drive in seven plays, and the Aggies would never have the ball again the entire game trailing by less than two scores.

A & M pulled to within 14-7 two series later, as Brannndon Stewart found Sirr Parker in the end zone with a 13-yard touchdown pass. But the Buffs esponded three minutes later as an eight-play, 80-yard drive was completed with a 9-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Darrin Chiaverini. It was Chiaverini's first career touchdown, and it gave CU a 21-7 lead leading into intermission.

The teams would simply trade field goals in the second half, as Jason Lesley connected on a 32-yard kick in the third quarter, and Kyle Bryant matched the effort with a 30-yarder for the Aggies with less than four minutes to go in the game.

A big play in the game came six minutes into the second half, when the Aggies drove to the CU 3 where they were faced with a 4th-and-1. But the Buffs put plenty of pressure on Stewart and his pass to Marc Broyles fell incomplete, ending the scoring threat.

Texas A&M outgained the Buffs, 447-337, on the afternoon, but ran 37 plays to just 56 for the Buffs. The win enabled Colorado to tie the school record for consecutive road wins with eight, and marked the eighth straight year CU won its conference opener.

COLORADO 35, OKLAHOMA STATE 13

Game Five—October 12, 1996

BOULDER—Koy Detmer passed for 402 yards and three touchdowns and Steve Rosga rivaled a school record set 58 years ago as No. 9 Colorado defeated Oklahoma State, 35-13, under the lights in its first ever Big 12 Conference home game.

After spotting Oklahoma State a 3-0 lead on the game's first possession, Colorado marched 85 yards in nine plays and scored on a 25-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Chris Anderson. After the CU defense held Oklahoma State to three plays and forced a punt on the next possession, CU struck quickly on a 62-yard pass from Detmer to Rae Carruth. The one-play drive gave CU a 14-3 head start en route to what would be its eighth straight win over OSU.

David Thompson's 12-yard touchdown run on the first play of the second quarter narrowed the CU lead to 14-10. But the Buffs used their infamous two-minute offense late in the quarter and took just three plays to go 66 yards. Detmer used passes of 18 yards to Desmond Dennis and 26 yards to Brody Heffner to get to the OSU 22, where he threw to a wide-open Phil Savoy in the end zone for a 21-10 CU lead with 2:03 left in the half.

Oklahoma State's hopes of staying in the game were dashed midway through the third quarter, when Steve Rosga intercepted a Toné Jones pass in the end zone. But instead of taking a knee for possession at the 20, Rosga decided to run it out. The ensuing result was a spectacular 100-yard interception return (actually 105 yards, but the NCAA doesn't allow for the end zone yardage), matching Dick Kearns' effort against the University of Denver back in 1938. Kearns' return was for 102 yards, the official CU record, which will be amended to make room for Rosga.

After a 55-yard field goal by OSU's Tim Sydnes made the score 28-13 in favor of the Buffs, CU put together an 80-yard drive in 11 plays which was topped off with an 8-yard touchdown run by Lendon Henry, closing the scoring on the night.

Henry rushed for 101 yards to lead all running backs in the game, with Carruth tying the sixth-best receiving day in Colorado history with 166 yards. Detmer's effort marked only the fourth time in school history a player surpassed the 400-yard mark for passing in a single game. All told, the Buffs rolled up 543 yards on offense.

The game's 8:07 p.m. kickoff was the latest regular season kickoff in Colorado history.

COLORADO 20, KANSAS 7

Game Six—October 19, 1996

LAWRENCE, Kan.—The Buffalo defense dominated and Rae Carruth continued his excellent play on offense as No. 9 Colorado updated a 70-plus-year-old record in defeating the Kansas Jayhawks, 20-7. The win was the ninth straight for the Buffs on the road, breaking the school record of eight, which was set between 1922 and 1924.

In moving to 5-1 on the season and to 3-0 in the Big 12, the story in this game was about the CU defense and how it limited a potent Jayhawk offensive attack to just 190 total yards and to zero points in a key sequence in the first half. The game was played in constant gusting winds, which at times approach 30 miles per hour.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead on the game's opening possession, as Koy Detmer found Desmond Dennis all alone in the end zone on a 3-yard touchdown pass, as the play capped a 14-play, 76-yard drive. Detmer was 4-of-4 on third down passes in the drive, which culminated with Dennis' first career touchdown reception.

The defenses then took over, but CU's was more up for the occasion. Kansas started its final three drives of the first half in Colorado territory (at the 31, 20 and 34), but came away with just 19 yards in offense and no points. The Buffs forced KU into a missed field goal, a fumble at the 1, and a punt. CU extended its lead right before the half, as Jason Lesley's 20-yard field goal gave CU a 10-0 lead.

The Buffs sealed the game away on the first drive of the second half, as Detmer hit Carruth on a 21-yard pass for a touchdown and a 17-0 CU lead. Carruth, a leading candidate for the Biletnikoff Award, had over 100 yards receiving for the second straight game (6-106), and also converted a fourth down try with a 29-yard run on a reverse.

Kansas crept to within 17-7 on a June Henley 1-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, but would get no closer. Lesley closed the scoring in the fourth with a 32-yard field goal.

Detmer passed for 244 yards and two touchdowns, moving into second place on the school's all-time passing yards list (4,031). Matt Russell had 11 tackles on defense, as he moved into fourth place all-time with 373 career stops.

Herchell Troutman led the Buffs on the ground with 79 yards, with Lendon Henry contributing 41. Colorado rolled up 413 yards on offense, and played keep-away with KU by having almost 36 minutes of possession time. Kansas' Heisman Trophy candidate, June Henley, was limited to 80 yards on 26 carries, as the entire Kansas offense was held in check all afternoon.

COLORADO 28, TEXAS 24

Game Seven—October 26, 1996

BOULDER—College football's top "relief ace" sparkled again as John Hessler came off the bench to quarterback No. 8 Colorado to a come-from-behind, 28-24 win over the Texas Longhorns.

Hessler replaced Koy Detmer, who was lost for the game with a second-degree concussion after being slammed to the turf by UT's Gray Mosier late in the first half.

Texas put a 10-spot on the board before the Buffs got going, as a Phil Dawson 41-yard field goal and a 13-yard pass from James Brown to Wayne McGarity had the Horns up 10-0 midway through the first quarter. The teams exchanged touchdown bombs early in the second quarter, as Detmer hooked up with Biletnikoff Award semifinalist Rae Carruth on a 54-yard aerial which got CU on the board and to within 10-7. Carruth wrestled the ball away from two defenders at about the 10-yard line and dashed into the end zone. Texas came back five plays later, with Brown finding a streaking Mike Adams down the right sideline on a 50-yard pass, and the UT lead was 10 again.

Colorado sliced the lead back to three after Lendon Henry's four-yard run with 4:43 left in the half. It completed a 6-play, 45-yard drive which featured a 28-yard pass from Detmer to Chris Anderson on a fourth-and-2. On CU's next series, Detmer was injured, and Hessler was called upon to perform his off-the-bench heroics.

A 13-yard run by Herchell Troutman on a trick play UT defended perfectly gave CU its first lead of the game at 21-17 late in the third quarter. Troutman took the hand-off and was supposed to throw back to Hessler, but UT sniffed out the play and the pass wasn't there. Troutman improvised and broke several tackles on his way into the end zone. Texas came back on its next possession, going 76 yards in 12 plays and scored on a short pass to regain the lead at 24-21.

After the teams swapped balls on fumbles, Hessler settled down and coolly directed the Buffs on a 16-play, 90-yard drive that used 7:18 on the clock, with Hessler following Chris Naeole into the end zone from a yard out for what proved to be the winning touchdown. CU twice stopped Texas in its territory in the final 3:10, as Steve Rosga's second interception of the day ended one drive and he batted away a pass into the end zone on the game's final play.

Rosga also had 11 tackles and a fumble recovery in being named the Big 12's defensive player-of-the-week for his efforts. Troutman led all rushers in the game with 98 yards, and Hessler completed 11 of 19 passes for 158 yards in piloting the CU comeback. The Buffs outgained Texas, 447-363, on the day.

COLORADO 41, MISSOURI 13

Game Eight—November 2, 1996

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Koy Detmer and Rae Carruth put their fingerprints all over the Colorado record book this cold, windy afternoon as the No. 7 Buffaloes ran away in the second half in defeating the Missouri Tigers, 41-13. It was CU's 10th straight win on the road, and seventh in a row on grass.

Detmer passed for a school record 457 yards, setting a CU single-season mark in the process as well (2,391 yards), while Carruth hauled down seven receptions for 222 yards, tying the school mark for receiving yards in a game. It was also his 19th straight game with three or more receptions, adding to his school record, and put him to within one of the CU mark for consecutive games with two or more catches.

Detmer also passed Kordell Stewart in career touchdown passes, taking over the CU record with 35; two were to Carruth, who with 17, is three away from establishing a new mark for receivers.

History aside, Missouri came out and battled CU tough for the first two-plus quarters. A long field goal by the Tigers was the only scoring in the game's first 21 minutes, until Detmer hooked up with Carruth on a nifty 69-yard touchdown play. Carruth made the grab around the Mizzou 25, faked a defender out of his shoes, and cruised into the end zone for a 7-3 CU lead.

The Tigers rallied two possessions later to take their last lead on the afternoon, when quarterback Corby Jones escaped the CU rush by design and ran it in from 13 yards out. The Buffs then drove 89 yards in just eight plays in their patented two-minute offense, with Lendon Henry scoring from the four to give CU a 14-10 intermission lead.

The Buffs would then sandwich two fourth down, 34-yard touchdown passes around a Missouri field goal to extend their lead to 28-13 early in the fourth quarter. On the first drive of the second half, Detmer found Carruth wide open on a 4th-and-12, and Carruth again escaped a defender and took it in for a score. Then on a 4th-and-7 a minute into the fourth quarter, Detmer and Phil Savoy repeated the trick, with Savoy taking the pass on the left side and sprinting into the end zone.

A 2-yard run by Dwayne Cherrington, his first collegiate touchdown, and a 54-yard fumble return by Marcus Washington closed the day's scoring.

Savoy had 117 yards receiving, thus with Carruth's effort, made it only the seventh time in school history that two receivers both had 100-plus yards in the same game. Colorado had 562 yards of total offense and added another 109 in return yards.

COLORADO 49, IOWA STATE 42

Game Nine—November 9, 1996

BOULDER—For the second straight game, Koy Detmer and Rae Carruth put on a show as the No. 7 Colorado Buffaloes amassed almost 600 yards on offense in defeating Iowa State, 49-42. The win was CU's sixth in a row and improved its season record to 8-1, including a 6-0 mark in the Big 12.

Detmer and Carruth connected on three touchdown passes, including CU's longest play from scrimmage for the season, a 77-yard pass that put CU on top, 14-3, with just under six minutes remaining in the first quarter. The pair added a 3-yard scoring play late in the first half and a 42-yard bomb that closed CU's scoring on the afternoon, the latter giving the Detmer-to-Carruth combo the most touchdown passes between a duo for both a season (8) and career (12) in Colorado history.

The game was one where the Buffs dictated tempo, and while always appearing to be in control, could never put the Cyclones away. Iowa State came out in the second half and put 15 points on the board in the first 7½ minutes of the third quarter to take its largest lead of the game, 28-21. Colorado stormed back at that point, scoring 28 points in the next 16 minutes to put the game away. Iowa State scored two late touchdowns against a combination of starters and reserves, and had a short way to go for its final score after CU fumbled the ball away with 2:08 remaining.

Carruth set a school record for career touchdown receptions with 20, while Detmer added single-season records for attempts, completions and touchdowns to the yardage record he set the previous week against Missouri. Not to be outdone, over on defense Steve Rosga made his fifth interception of the season, the 18th time this season he personally stopped an opponent drive to give CU the ball back.

Colorado had 591 yards of total offense, including 401 in the air, the second straight week CU topped 500 yards in total offense and the 400-yard mark in passing yards. Iowa State countered with 405, as Troy Davis ran for 228 yards in his quest to become college football's first two-time 2,000-yard rusher (he finished the game with 1,822). Though the win was Colorado's 13th in a row over Iowa State, the Buffs and Cyclones have had some wild games of late, with the average score in the last three games being 47-30.

COLORADO 12, KANSAS STATE 0

Game Ten—November 16, 1996

BOULDER—Colorado continued its dominance over Kansas State, as the No. 6 Buffaloes were the better team in adverse weather conditions in defeating the No. 9 Wildcats, 12-0, setting up a showdown with Nebraska in the regular season finale for the Big 12 Conference North Division title.

CU improved to 9-1 on the season, topped only by a 10-0 start in 1989 and matched by efforts in 1961 and 1994. In going to 11-0-1 versus K-State since 1985, the Buffs also moved to 7-0 in the Big 12.

The temperature hovered between 10 and 16 degrees with the wind chill dipping under zero all evening, the latest point in the season in CU history for a home night game. As both teams deviated from their original game plans to deal with a slippery and frozen field, the Buffs' running game proved to be the difference.

CU came out and marched 63 yards in eight plays on its first possession of the game, capped by a 27-yard touchdown run by Herchell Troutman. The score remained 6-0 in favor of the Buffs when Jason Lesley's extra point kick slid off to the right.

Meanwhile, the Buff defense was establishing control of the game, as three of Kansas State's first five drives ended with three plays and a punt, and on the sixth, Damen Wheeler's first career interception set up what would be the game's final points. Wheeler intercepted a Brian Kavanaugh pass at the KSU 40 and raced down the sidelines into the end zone, but he stepped out of bounds at the 14. A spectacular catch by Troutman of a Koy Detmer pass gave CU a first-and-goal at the 1, with Detmer taking the ball over himself for a 12-0 CU lead. Detmer tried to hook up with Rae Carruth for the two-point conversion, but the ball was swatted away by K-State's Chris Canty.

Both teams seemed to be on the move in the third quarter, as CU drove to the Wildcat 35 to open the second half, only to see a couple of false starts lead to a Nick Pietsch punt. Kansas State took over on its own 8-yard line, and would go on to mount its only real scoring threat of the game. Some 18 plays and over eight minutes later, the 'Cats were faced with a fourth-and-four at the CU 7. Kavanaugh dropped back to pass, but Steve Rosga blanketed his primary receiver on the play, giving Ryan Olson time to penetrate and make a big fourth-down sack. KSU wouldn't penetrate the CU 35-yard line the remainder of the evening. One drive ended on a long pass into the end zone that was intercepted by Wheeler, his second of the night.

Troutman rushed for 112 yards to lead all rushers in the game, with Detmer completing 15 of 22 passes for 138 yards in the altered passing game. How altered? Detmer passed for 150 or more yards in five different quarters this season. The Buffs outgained the 'Cats, 301-228, which included a hefty 153-65 edge on the ground.

NEBRASKA 17, COLORADO 12

Game Eleven—November 29, 1996

LINCOLN, Neb.—Defense was center stage in this post-Thanksgiving battle, as No. 4 Nebraska held on to defeat No. 5 Colorado, 17-12, to claim the North Division title in the Big 12 Conference.

Two of the most prolific offenses in the nation were held in check all day long, as the teams not only battled each other but the elements as well, with a light but steady rainfall a constant during the entire game, which at times turned into snow flurries.

Colorado did what no other team was able to do against Nebraska this season, and that was to score on its opening drive. The Buffs marched 52 yards in 10 plays, ending with Jeremy Aldrich's first career field goal. The CU sophomore booted it through from 45 yards, with a bounce off the back of the crossbar, and the Buffs led, 3-0. That lead improved to 6-0 a little over three minutes later, when Aldrich connected from 40 yards out. Colorado took over on the Nebraska 35 after a Greg Jones strip and Ryan Black fumble recovery, but CU managed just one first down and settled for the trey.

After CU forced Nebraska to punt, John Foreman intercepted Koy Detmer on the first play of the next series, and he ran it back 21 yards for a touchdown and a 7-6 Nebraska lead. Not only did momentum swing on the play, but it enabled the 75,695 in attendance to get back into the game. The Cornhuskers scored 10 second quarter points to take a 17-6 lead, but momentum swung back to Colorado when Kris Brown missed a 41-yard field goal prior to the halftime gun.

Aldrich added field goals from 38 and 27 yards in the second half, as CU whittled the lead down to 17-12 midway through the fourth quarter. The CU defense stifled Nebraska the entire second half, and with 4:47 remaining, forced the Huskers to punt from their own 15. The Buffs took over at their own 44, with Detmer finding Rae Carruth for a 37-yard gain on a 3rd-and-19 play to get CU a first down at the Nebraska 28 with under four minutes to go. But a one-yard rushing loss and three incomplete passes under tremendous pressure turned out to be CU's last plays on offense, as Nebraska got the ball back with 2:53 left, earned three first downs and ran out the clock.

Matt Russell may have won the Butkus Award with his effort, as he had 16 tackles (12 solo), with two fumble recoveries and two third-down quarterback sacks. Nebraska's Grant Wistrom had a stellar afternoon on the Nebraska side, posting 15 tackles with two sacks and five hurried throws in winning Big 12 player-of-the-week honors. Both were selected players-of-the-game by ABC, which nationally televised the nation's newest Thanksgiving weekend rivalry.

Small consolation to the Buffs, who were 18-point underdogs, was the fact that the CU offense outscored Nebraska, 12-10. The Huskers went three plays and out (or fewer if there was a turnover) nine times in 14 possessions, and managed just 99 yards on offense in the second half. NU outgained CU, 294-277, but CU held a slight edge in first downs and time of possession. CU scored just four field goals on eight trips into NU territory, perhaps the most frustrating aspect for the Buffs on the day.

Since 1950, CU has averaged 5.0 yards on the first play from scrimmage. Of the 47 plays, CU has passed 10 times (completing six). CU has not scored on the first play of scrimmage since 1950, but did commit a turnover on the first play in 1990 (lost fumble). (*—at Anaheim).

NOTE—CU did score the first time it touched the ball in the 1975 season opener. Mike McCoy returned a California punt 61 yards for a touchdown two minutes into the game.

DID YOU KNOW? . . . The last time Colorado scored on its first play of a game was at Texas A&M on Sept. 28, 1996. Rae Carruth scored from 28 yards out on a reverse after CU recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff.

Willie Beebe is the only player to be involved in CU's first play of the year three straight seasons.

FOLSOM FIELD

Folsom Field, named after the legendary CU Coach Frederick Folsom, opened for the 1924 season and has been the home of the Buffs ever since. This will be the 74th season the Buffs will play their home games on the "hilltop."

It was dedicated on Oct. 11, 1924, as CU defeated Regis College, 31-0. It actually was the second home game of the season, as CU closed out playing at Gamble Field the week before with a 31-0 win over Western State.

It originally was called Colorado Stadium, the name being changed to Folsom Field in 1944 following Folsom's death. In addition, old 24th Street was also changed to Folsom Street, honoring the man who coached Colorado teams three different times totaling 15 years between 1895 and 1915. His 76.5 winning percentage (77-23-2) is still tops among all coaches ever at CU.

CU had played its games at Gamble Field for two decades, where seating was limited to temporary bleachers. The original Colorado Stadium had a seating capacity of 30,000, tripling that of the old Gamble Field.

With the addition of an upper deck in 1956, Folsom Field's capacity was upped to 45,000. Some 6,000 more seats were added in 1967 when the running track was removed and the team dressing facilities were constructed at the north end of the field.

Improvements continued, as the gigantic six-level pressbox facility was added on the west side for the start of the 1968 season. It also serves as the home for CU's Flatirons Club, a group of donors who financially support the athletic program.

In the summer of 1976, Folsom Field had another face lift, as the wooden bleacher seats were removed and replaced with silver and gold aluminum bleachers, expanding the stadium to a capacity of 52,005.

The renovation of CU's team house in the summer of 1979 took away a few seats, changing the capacity to 51,463. The construction of the magnificent Dal Ward Center in 1991 added new bleacher seating in the north end zone and increased the capacity to 51,748, and corporate boxes (in 1995) brought the capacity to its current 51,808 level.

Prior to the 1971 season, the playing surface at Folsom Field was natural grass. Monsanto of St. Louis, Mo., replaced the natural grass with AstroTurf for the 1971 campaign, with the first game being played on the artificial surface against the University of Wyoming on Sept. 18 (the Buffs won 56-13). The original AstroTurf surface was replaced with a "new rug" for the start of the 1978 season, and in the summer of 1989, "Astroturf-8" was installed, the third artificial surfacing in the school's history.

THE BUFFS AND THE WEATHER

Colorado's wacky weather, for the most part, has not played havoc with the Buffaloes through the years. Here are the last times the elements affected games in Boulder. Snow: There has seldom been snowfall during a game in Boulder. In fact, only five times since 1949 has any real snowfall of note occurred during a game. It last happened on Nov. 16, 1996, in a 12-0 win over Kansas State, with light snowfall throughout the first half before tapering off. That was the first time in five years that snow fell during a game, as it snowed late in a 30-24 win over Kansas on Nov. 16, 1991. There was light snowfall in a 21-6 win over Kansas State in 1979, but nothing major. In 1971, about two feet of snow fell the morning of a 56-13 win over Wyoming; what made that day unique is that it was Sept. 18, and that it was CU's first home game on artificial turf. The two most famous snow games came in 1969 (a 30-7 win over Indiana) where it snowed all game, and in 1949, when it was sunny at kickoff prior to a 14-7 win over Utah. But the clouds rolled in and by halftime, there were snow flurries. By game's end, there was six inches of snow on the ground. There have been major snowstorms on Fridays but the weather cleared prior to game time (in 1986 before Kansas, in 1987 and 1991 before Nebraska, and in 1992 and 1994 before Iowa State). Rainfall: Rain during a game in Boulder is about as rare as snowfall; light rain or annoying drizzle have happened on occasion. The last time there was heavy rain during a game in Boulder was in the fourth quarter in a 20-13 loss to Michigan in 1996; otherwise you have to go back to Sept. 11, 1982, in a 31-17 loss to California (Bill McCartney's first game). Bitter Cold: There have been only two occasions where the temperature was below 20 degrees at kickoff at Folsom field in the last 30 years. The last time was Nov. 16, 1996, when it was 16 degrees at the start of both halves in a 12-0 win over Kansas State. The mercury reached 12 degrees with a wind-chill of minus-8 in a 19-19 tie against Nebraska on Nov. 2, 1991. Wind: The last time, and the only time in the last 20 years that wind has really affected a game came on Nov. 11, 1995—winds gusting from 30 to 67 miles per hour were prevalent in most of CU's 21-0 win over Missouri.

DID YOU KNOW ... Several University of Colorado graduates have made their careers in the field of sports broadcasting. The first was also a football letterman, Tom Brookshier, who did NFL color commentary for several years on CBS. One of the most visible people on the national college football beat is ESPN's Chris Fowler, a 1985 CU graduate who worked three years in CU's sports information office. Another '80s' grad and SID office veteran, Jim Gray, is a reporter with NBC who has made a name for himself in breaking several stories. Behind the scenes, Peter Lasser is a top producer for TNT's NFL football coverage, and Jay Rothman is one of ESPN's most respected producers, working college football and several other events.

COLORADO VS. NO. 1 TEAMS

The Buffs are 0-9 in their history when they have come up against the number one ranked team. Colorado has played only three teams with number one rankings — Nebraska (0-3); Oklahoma (0-5) and Southern Cal (0-1). In seven of these games, the Buffs have given the nation's best a solid run for their money. Here's a look at each CU-#1 matchup (both AP & UPI/Coaches unless otherwise noted):

NOTE: Colorado is 1-1 as the nation's No. 1 team, losing 21-6 to Notre Dame in the 1990 Orange Bowl and defeating Notre Dame 10-9 in the 1991 Orange Bowl.

DID YOU KNOW . . . That despite not having beaten a #1 team, Colorado has twice knocked Oklahoma out of the #1 slot? CU's efforts in 1957 and 1975 knocked the Sooners from #1 to #2 in the AP poll.

CU'S 1990 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

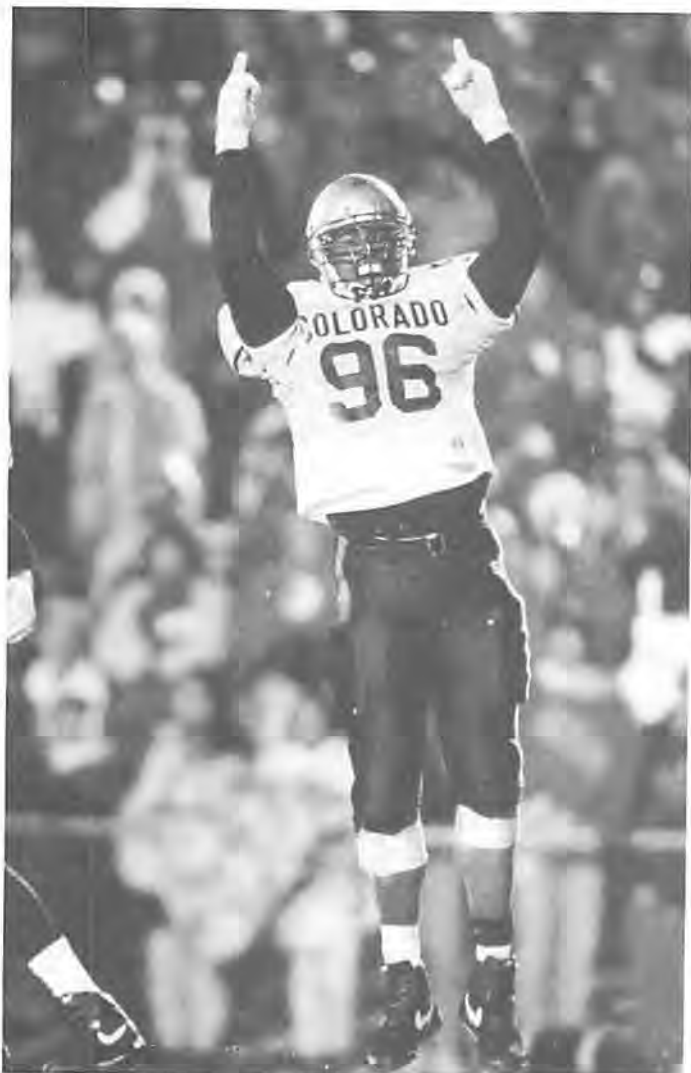

The 1990 edition of the University of Colorado football team accomplished two of the biggest "firsts" in its storied history. The Buffaloes played the nation's toughest schedule and posted an 11-1-1 record overall, with the win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl cementing the school's first national championship. For the second straight year, CU logged a 7-0 record in league play, marking the first time that the Buffs had claimed the Big Eight Conference title in back-to-back years.

Colorado had flirted with the national championship just one season earlier, owning an 11-0 regular season record and entering the Orange Bowl ranked as the nation's No. 1 team. A 21-6 loss to Notre Dame, however, ended CU's dream season and the Buffs finished No. 4 in the national polls. Little did anyone know at the time that the Buffaloes would have the chance to redeem themselves.

Questions prior to the start of the 1990 season included, "What do you do for an encore?" and "Is Colorado for real or was last season a fluke?" Coach Bill McCartney didn't set winning the national championship as the team goal; winning back-to-back Big Eight titles was what he wanted his men to aim for. Shooting for all the marbles includes too many variables that are out of a team's control, while one holds its own destiny in pursuit of a league title. McCartney is not the kind to set a national title as a goal, anyway.

In the Associated Press preseason poll, the Buffs were ranked No. 5; it's first opponent, Tennessee in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic, was ranked No. 8.

Colorado overcame three first-quarter turnovers against the Volunteers (that was almost one-fourth of the entire turnover total of the season before) to lead 24-10 early in the fourth quarter. The Buffs couldn't sustain the lead, and Tennessee caught CU with the game ending in a 31-31 tie.

In game two, Eric Bieniemy scored on fourth-and-goal from the one with 12 seconds remaining to give CU a 21-17 win over Stanford. This was alarming in that Stanford had the worst record in 1989 of the five non-league teams on CU's schedule, along with the fact that the Cardinals led 14-0 at halftime and had stifled the high-powered CU offense.

Illinois dealt CU what proved to be its only loss of the season on Sept. 15, as the 23-22 defeat to the Illini sent the Buffs reeling to No. 20 in the polls. A game that Colorado should have won (CU led, 17-3, in the second quarter) turned into a loss and gave CU a 1-1-1 start. Talk of 1989 being a fluke started to surface, that CU had won only because of emotion in response to the death of quarterback Sal Aunese.

The next two games put the Buffaloes back on track, and ended talk that Colorado was not for real. Colorado's 29-22 win at No. 22 Texas, with CU rallying from a 22-14 deficit early in the fourth quarter, was the game that McCartney and the team point to as the turning point of the season. A 20-14 win over No. 12 Washington a week later reinforced the national opinion of the Buffaloes, as CU took over the No. 12 spot in the polls after its defeat of the Huskies.

Eric Bieniemy

Colorado came through the fierce non-league portion of its schedule with a 3-1-1 record and prepared to defend its Big Eight crown earned the season before. The Buffs topped Missouri, 33-31, in their league opener amid controversy of the now famous "fifth down." CU's Charles Johnson scored the game-winning touchdown as time expired on what turned out to be fifth down. The play, created through an incredible mistake by the officiating crew, and unnoticed by Missouri game administration and virtually everyone in the stadium, tainted the CU win and hurt the Buffs' image. Even though the Buffs defeated Iowa State, 28-12, the following week, Colorado had dropped back to No. 14 in the rankings though it sported a 5-1-1 record.

Still, the Buffaloes were off to a 2-0 start in league play, and improved to 3-0 with a 41-10 drubbing of Kansas at Lawrence in week three of the Big Eight season. The win pushed CU back into the top 10 (No. 10), with the Big Reds next up on the schedule.

Colorado knocked off Oklahoma, ranked No. 22 nationally, 32-23 to deal the one-time fourth-ranked Sooners their third straight defeat. The Buffs trailed, 14-6, late in the first half, with OU in position to kick a field goal. Greg Thomas skied to block the attempt, and quarterback Darian Hagan took over to lead the Buffs to a touchdown right before the halftime gun. Bieniemy broke free for a 69-yard TD run in the third quarter, and the Buffs pulled away in the final 15 minutes to dispose of the first of the Big Reds.

A week later, Colorado, now No. 9, traveled to Lincoln and defeated No. 3 Nebraska, 27-12, in rainy, cold and windy conditions. Bieniemy overcame five fumbles to score four touchdowns in the fourth quarter to rally the Buffaloes to the win. The end result was that Colorado had defeated both Oklahoma and Nebraska for the second straight year, and in back-to-back weeks, no less. The Buffs, with an 8-1-1 record, zoomed to No. 4 in the nation in the polls, and needed just one win in their last two games to get back to the Orange Bowl.

The Buffs steamrolled both Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) to finish the regular season at 10-1-1. The wins also marked the second straight year that CU took the Big Eight title with an undefeated 7-0 record in league play.

When Penn State knocked off Notre Dame hours after CU's win over K-State, the Buffs became the nation's new

No. 1 team. Thus, as was the case in 1989, the Buffaloes entered the Orange Bowl to defend the nation's top ranking against Notre Dame, the team that lost to hand CU the No. 1 claim.

Colorado had the rare chance to play for the national championship a second straight year, and this time around, the Buffs made the most of their opportunity. Colorado overcame the loss of Hagan and Kanavis McGhee to injuries in the first half, taking the lead for good in the third quarter in defeating the Irish, 10-9. The win kicked off a wild celebration by some 20,000-plus CU fans in Miami and hundreds of thousands back home in Colorado.

McCartney's ninth Colorado team attained its goals of claiming the Big Eight title in back-to-back years, and surpassed it by winning the national championship. In the process, CU established itself among the elite in college football.

BIG PLAYS "NOT IN THE BOXSCORE"

Often a play takes place which makes the difference between winning and losing, but it gets lost in the shuffle and then forgotten as time passes by. The following is a listing of some of these moments and the players who created them in the history of Colorado football:

Zack Jordan, 1952 vs. Oklahoma

CU tailback Zack Jordan's powerful right leg was the Buffs' best weapon in a 21-21 tie which was the Sooners' only blemish in what was to become a 47-game undefeated string. Jordan's 72-yard quick kick to the OU 3 set up CU's first TD. His 77-yarder put the Buffs in position for their second score. For good measure he added a 78-yard boot in the fourth period which quickly produced the setting for CU's final score. It was the finest exhibition of kicking in the nation that year and earned Jordan a spot in the NCAA record book. To make his day even more impressive, he scored all three CU touchdowns.

Frank Bernardi, 1954 vs. Missouri

It was a relatively meaningless game but Frank Bernardi played to the end as though it was for the Big Seven championship. CU's chances had faded a week earlier in Boulder with a bitter last quarter 13-6 loss to Oklahoma. The Buffs struggled to a 19-13 advantage over Missouri as time ran out in Columbia. When the Tigers scored with 1:06 left the winning PAT kick seemed a certainty. But Bernardi lined up wide at left end and used his sprinter speed to deflect the ball. The effort cost him two black eyes and a broken nose and a place in the CU record book for unlikely heroes.

John Bayuk, 1956 vs. Missouri

The forearm, not the pounding legs, of fullback John (The Beast) Bayuk provided the impetus for a 14-14 tie at Missouri which ultimately sent CU to its first Orange Bowl appearance. Beaten at the wire by Oklahoma in Boulder a week earlier, the Buffs could clinch a bowl bid with at least a tie with a Tiger team which had made a living annually by catching CU down after a tough battle with OU. Predictably, the Buffs struggled in this one, trailing 14-0 late in the third period. CU scored, then recovered a fumble at the Tiger 37. But Bob Stransky fumbled on first down. At the bottom of the pile, Bayuk was bitten by a Missouri lineman. Getting a reprieve with the 15-yard penalty, CU drove to a tying touchdown which was good enough to send them to Miami and a 27-21 win over Clemson on New Year's Day.

Chuck Weiss, 1959 vs. Oklahoma

A mighty effort by fullback Chuck Weiss preserved CU's 7-0 victory over Oklahoma, the first victory over the Sooners since the Buffs joined the Big Seven Conference. Colorado held a precarious one-touchdown lead late in the third quarter when OU quarterback Bennett Watts broke into the open from the Sooner 14. He headed for the end zone at full speed with Weiss, a power fullback not noted for his speed, in pursuit from his linebacker post on the far side of the field. Using his angle perfectly, Weiss caught Watts at the CU 17. The Buff defense held at the four and CU had a landmark triumph.

Hale Irwin, 1965 vs. Oklahoma

It was Eddie Crowder's third season at the helm and his CU team was on the way back from the depths of three straight 2-8 campaigns. A win over his alma mater's perennial Big Eight champions would be a big step forward for the Buffs. They led 10-0 nearing the half but the Sooners were rallying, driving to a first and goal with less than a minute left. The Oklahoma quarterback spotted the hole in the line and directed a play there. But CU safety Hale Irwin, better known for his golfing prowess, alertly jumped into the breach and helped jam up the play. The Sooners failed to score and CU went on to give Crowder a homecoming victory, 13-0.

Phil Irwin, 1969 vs. Oklahoma State

En route to a furious finish which saw them annihilate Alabama in the Liberty Bowl, CU needed a clutch last-second theft by linebacker Phil Irwin to preserve a 17-14 triumph over OSU in a game which CU had to win to keep its bowl hopes alive. After the Buffs seemingly had won the game with a touchdown with 1:22 left to play, the Cowboys launched an aerial attack which moved them to the CU five in less than a minute. There were 30 seconds remaining. A Cowboy receiver was open in the end zone. The ball was headed for him when Irwin came from nowhere to intercept it. When he downed the ball there was time for one play and the Buffs had taken a big step to Memphis.

John Stearns, 1971 Bluebonnet Bowl vs. Houston

Your team is up by six, 23-17, with seven minutes remaining in the bowl game and it's fourth-and-9 from your own 10-yard line. Punt, right? Don't tell that to John "Bad Dude" Stearns. Moments earlier, Stearns had knocked the ball out of tight end Riley Odoms' hands on fourth down in the end zone to prevent Houston from taking the lead in its home stadium. So perhaps still fired up, Stearns, who doubled as CU's punter, scooped up a bad center snap, looked around, and took off downfield for the first down. He needed nine yards, and the 12 he earned were the impetus the Buffs needed to take the ball in for the clinching score. The win gave CU its best record ever at the time, 10-2, and secured the nation's No. 3 ranking (behind Big Eight rivals Nebraska and Oklahoma).

Steve Vogel and Derek Singleton, 1981 vs. Oklahoma State

Colorado is out of time outs, is faced with second-and-14 at its own 4, there's one minute left in the game, and Oklahoma State holds a 10-3 lead in Boulder. Quarterback Steve Vogel and tailback Derek Singleton would play key roles in one of the greatest comeback drives in CU history. Vogel hits Singleton on a 10-yard pass to get CU into and fourth-and-4 at its 14, and on fourth down, the two hooked up again on a 17-yard play for a first down. From there, it took CU just five plays to get into the end zone to pull to within 10-9. Vogel then found Singleton in the end zone for the two-point conversion and CU won, 11-10. There was some sadness to this story, as it would be the last time Singleton would touch the football in a game for Colorado. He was struck with spinal meningitis the next Friday and would be hospitalized in Ames, Iowa. He would later pass away on New Year's night in California.

Mickey Pruitt, 1985 vs. Oregon

It's year No. 4 of the Bill McCartney Era, and the second game of the season against Oregon in Boulder, while early, is important. A win would double CU's win total of the previous season and could provide momentum for CU's first winning team in six years. Oregon, trailing Colorado, 21-17, drives from its own 13 to the CU 3 and is faced with a fourth-and-goal with nine seconds left. The Buffs called for relentless pressure on Duck quarterback Chris Miller, the game obviously on the line. Miller was flushed out of the pocket, and before he could get the ball off, was sacked for a loss by sophomore safety Mickey Pruitt. The Buffs went on to finish the regular season with a 7-4 mark and earn their first bowl invitation since 1976.

Mickey Pruitt's last-second sack against Oregon in 1985.

Dan McMillen, 1985 vs. Kansas

On his way to setting the Colorado school record for most quarterback sacks in a game, Dan McMillen could have lost his head. Actually, it was just his helmet. As he chased down Kansas quarterback Mike Norseth for his fifth and record-setting sack, McMillen's helmet was knocked free. But that didn't stop the Buff senior outside linebacker from running down Norseth and making the tackle. CU won the game, 14-3, and went on to post its first winning season in seven years.

Darian Hagan, 1989 vs. Texas

The season opener against Texas in Boulder was filled with anticipation, as the Buffs were nationally ranked in the preseason for the first time in 12 years, and ESPN was in town to televise the game to the entire nation. On the second play of the game, quarterback Darian Hagan set all the butterflies free as he scampered 75 yards around the left side to the Texas 2, setting up CU's first touchdown and setting the tone for the game and CU's 11-0 regular season. The Buffs went on to build a 14-0 first quarter lead and a 27-6 win.

Deon Figures, 1990 vs. Washington

Colorado, at 2-1-1 on the season and riding high after an emotional 29-22 comeback win at Texas, leads No. 12 Washington, 20-14 in the final moments. The Huskies are faced with a fourth-and-goal at the CU 7 with 1:04 left, and quarterback Mark Brunell throws a lob pass in the direction of Mario Bailey in the end zone. However, CU sophomore Deon Figures is in the way, making the game-saving interception to preserve CU's victory. Later in the same season, Figures also made an interception at the end of CU's 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, a play which prevented Notre Dame from getting into field goal range. Figures picked off the Rick Mirer pass and ran out the clock, helping CU to the national championship.

David Gibbs, 1990 vs. Nebraska

This game on a cold and rainy day in Lincoln had both Big Eight title and national championship implications riding on the outcome. Colorado had just taken a 13-12 lead over Nebraska, rallying from a 12-0 deficit, but the Huskers were trying to mount a comeback. Faced with a fourth-and-3 on their own 28 and seven minutes remaining, Nebraska called for a fake punt, the snap going to the upback, Tim Johnk. But the play was sniffed out by David Gibbs, who stopped Johnk for only a two-yard gain, giving possession back to the Buffs. CU scored in just five plays to take a 20-12 lead, and went on to win, 27-12, CU's first win in Lincoln since 1967. Colorado jumped from No. 9 to No. 4 in the polls, eventually going on to win the national championship.

Ron Bradford, 1991 Orange Bowl vs. Notre Dame

Bradford, a sophomore who eventually would go on to play in the National Football League, saw action in 1990 mostly in nickel situations and on special teams. However, on this New Year's night, Bradford made one of the biggest plays in CU history. Midway through the second quarter, after Notre Dame scored a touchdown to take a 6-3 lead over the Buffs, Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Colorado rallied to win the game, 10-9, with that one-point margin, courtesy of Bradford, giving CU its first national championship in football.

Jeff Brunner and Greg Thomas, 1991 vs. Nebraska

On a frosty night in Boulder before an ESPN national television audience, two plays stand out from a game that ended in a 19-19 tie, which would lead to Colorado and Nebraska sharing the 1991 Big Eight Conference championship. The first one is best remembered because it seemed to take five minutes for Greg Bickert to return a blocked extra point 85 yards for a defensive two-point conversion; however, the play was made possible because of Jeff Brunner's block. Then later, on the game's final play and after three CU timeouts, Greg Thomas skied high to block a Byron Bennett 41-yard field goal try to preserve the tie and CU's share of the title.

Blake Anderson, 1994 vs. Michigan

Anderson, the son of CU great and college football Hall-of-Fame member Dick Anderson, made his mark at CU primarily on special teams. In fact, he was so committed to special teams play that he earned an invitation to the Hula Bowl based on that commitment. But on Sept. 24 in Ann Arbor, and Colorado trailing Michigan 26-21 with only six seconds to go, Anderson played a huge role in what would become college football's play of the decade. As time expired, Kordell Stewart threw the ball over 70 yards downfield in the direction of a quartet of CU receivers: Anderson, Michael Westbrook, Rae Carruth and James Kidd. The play, "Rocket Jet," called for Anderson to be in position for a deflection, with the other three a few yards back to make the catch. The play, so improbable it rarely worked in practice, worked to perfection. Anderson tipped the ball to Westbrook, who landed in the end zone with 0:00 on the clock to give CU a 27-26 win.

RETIRED NUMBERS

#24 BYRON "WHIZZER" WHITE

Colorado's first All-American and one of the greatest students in the history of the school, Byron (Whizzer) White, retired as a justice of the Supreme Court in March, 1993, after serving 31 years on the nation's high court.

White made all the All-America teams after a brilliant 1937 season in which he led CU to an 8-0 record and Cotton Bowl bid as he set national records with 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points. Those marks, erased nationally only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules, set CU records. The scoring mark still stands.

White was a Phi Beta Kappa, Rhodes Scholar, two-time All-Pro halfback with Pittsburgh and Detroit, leading graduate of the Yale Law School in 1946, decorated naval intelligence officer in World War II, leading Denver attorney, and deputy attorney general for the United States. White is a member of the NFL Hall-of-Fame, the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall-of-Fame, the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame, and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team."

#67 JOE ROMIG

Romig, a two-time All-American selection, is a member of the Big Eight Hall-of-Fame and the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame. Now a senior research associate in radio physics in Boulder, Romig was the Buffs' 1961 team captain and the United Press International Lineman of the year. Romig had no peers as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle linebacker position behind a four-man line. Fast and strong, he was consistently in on most of CU's tackles.

Offensively, Romig developed into an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Like White, he was an inspirational leader gifted with extraordinary physical and mental abilities.

Romig was a tremendous student, logging straight A's in his last six semesters and building a 3.9 grade-point average. He was also a Danforth and Woodrow Wilson Scholar. A Rhodes Scholar, Joe received his master's degree in physics at Oxford University in England and a doctorate in physics at Colorado in 1975. He is a member of the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team."

#11 BOBBY ANDERSON

Anderson set 18 single-game, single-season and career marks during his three-season career with the Buffs along with earning All-Big Eight and All-American honors.

A professional player with Denver (the team's No. 1 draft choice), Washington and New England, Anderson started his CU career as a quarterback but switched to tailback for the third game of his senior season (1969). In his career, he rushed for 2,729 yards and had over 5,000 yards in total offense.

Anderson concluded his Colorado career with a 254-yard rushing effort in the 1969 Liberty Bowl as the Buffs beat Alabama 47-33. He currently is a Denver-area businessman, and has worked several years for KOA-Radio handling pre- and post-game shows on the CU Football Network. He is a member of CU's "All-Century Team."

THE NATIONAL PLAY-OF-THE-YEAR

In 1992, Nu Skin International and CoSIDA started sponsorship of "The National Play-of-the-Year," honoring the most outstanding play annually in college football. Notre Dame won the inaugural honor in 1992, but the University of Colorado won for both the 1993 and 1994 seasons. Here's a closer look at CU's winning plays:

1993 (October 16; Colorado 27, Oklahoma 10)
— Lamont Warren throws a 34-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson on the halfback option play. What made it special? Warren slipped on the slick artificial surface as he threw the ball, and some 40 yards later in the end zone, Johnson made the catch on the ground after he was interfered with. The play defied imagination, and is truly appreciated when looked at in slow motion.

1994 (September 24; Colorado 27, Michigan 26)
— Already called college football's play of the decade, this effort also won an Espy from ESPN for the play of the year in all of sports for 1994. As time expired, Kordell Stewart throws a 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, who made the catch after a Blake Anderson deflection. CU had trailed, 26-14, with under four minutes remaining, and trailed by five with 15 seconds left on its own 15-yard line after stopping Michigan on defense.

An artist's conception of CU's 1993 award-winning play.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

That several others also earn letters who are associated with the University of Colorado football program, even though they never dressed for a game? Student equipment managers and trainers who put in as many hours as the coaches also earn varsity letters for their efforts. Perhaps the most famous letterman at CU in this category is Steve Hatchell, the commissioner of the Big 12 Conference. Hatchell earned four letters as a student manager in the 1960s, which back then included duties such as scout team quarterback, film coordinator and caring for the grass fields. After graduating from CU with a journalism degree, he went on to work full-time in the athletic department, first in the equipment office and then as co-sports information director. His travels took him to Colorado State (SID), the Big Eight Conference (assistant commissioner) and the Orange Bowl (executive director). Prior to his appointment as Big 12 commissioner, he was the commissioner of the South-west Athletic Conference.

Leon White, 1977

Leon White, 1994

Leon White has a flair for the unique. He is believed to be the only person in Big Eight history (and one of just a handful nationally) to have lettered at three different positions since players stopped performing on both sides of the ball (which ended in the early 1960s). Leon lettered at offensive guard in 1974, at offensive tackle in 1975 and at center in 1977, earning all-America honors as a senior. Leon now makes his living as a professional wrestler, best known as the "Baby Bull" and "Vader," and resides in Boulder.

ALL-CENTURY TEAM

The University of Colorado selected an "All-Century Football Team," a public balloting in 1989 tabbed 11 All-Americans among the top 25 elected to the 100-year squad.

Over 6,200 ballots were received in the public selection process, with over 150,000 votes cast from those ballots. Former CU players pared a list of 881 lettermen down to 118, which were in turn presented to the public for the final team selection.

Byron "Whizzer" White, the U.S. Supreme Court Justice who was CU's first All-American (1937), received 5,812 of a possible 6,265 votes. Bobby Anderson, who starred at both quarterback and tailback between 1967 and 1969, was the second leading vote-getter with 5,636, and two-way-star Joe Romig, who led CU to its first outright Big Eight Championship in 1961, was third with 5,145. White (#24), Anderson (#11) and Romig (#67) are the only Buffs to ever have their numbers retired.

One other player topped the 5,000 vote mark, as flashy Cliff Branch, whose name still frequently appears in the CU record book and who played a big part in the Buffs' No. 3 national ranking of 1971, captured 5,111 votes. The player with the fifth most votes, 3,989, was the only active Buff at the time to make the top 25, tailback Eric Bieniemy (a junior in 1989).

Joining White, Anderson and Romig as All-Americans on the century squad were Dick Anderson ('67), Pete Brock ('75), Mark Haynes ('79), Dave Logan ('75), Herb Orvis ('71) and Bob Stransky ('57).

Four players in the early years of CU football made the team, led by Walt Franklin, who played center and end between 1917 and 1921. Back Lee Willard ('21), Judge Hatfield Chilson ('25) and guard Bill McGlone ('26) round out the quartet which represents the formative seasons of CU football, when the team was known as the "Silver and Gold."

Other familiar names on the team include Hale Irwin, who starred at defensive back in the mid-60's but gained his fame on the PGA Tour; John Stearns, another pivotal player of the 1971 team who went on to be a star catcher with the New York Mets; Dave Logan, a veteran of 10-plus NFL seasons and current sportstalk celebrity in Denver; Carroll Hardy, who played in the early 1950's and is the only man ever to pinch-hit for Ted Williams; and John Wooten, one of the first black players at CU who has spent several years in the scouting department with the NFL Dallas Cowboys.

DID YOU KNOW . . . Over the past four years, Colorado has had the most players selected in the National Football League Draft. The Buffaloes had 27 players drafted when combining the 1994 through 1997 drafts; CU and Florida State tied for most in 1995 with 10 each. In the 1995 draft, CU had seven players of the first 71 players selected, which is believed to be the most players ever selected from one school in the first 75 picks of any NFL Draft. In the '96 draft, CU had five of its seven seniors drafted, with a sixth signing as a free agent. Colorado has dominated the Big 12 in both draft picks as well as those going on to play in the NFL in the 1990's. At the end of 1996, CU had 33 players active in the NFL, by far the most of all the Big 12 schools, and the Buffs have also had a Big 12 best 47 players selected in this decade.

Colorado's "Mr. Irrelevants"

Colorado is the only school in the nation to "boast" about having two "Mr. Irrelevants." Begun in 1976, the honor is bestowed on the last selection of the annual National Football League draft. In 1977, the Minnesota Vikings made running back Jim Kelleher the last pick of the draft, and in 1984, the Los Angeles Raiders selected quarterback Randy Essington to close the books on that year's proceedings.

BOWL HISTORY

1938 COTTON BOWL

Rice 28, Colorado 14

Jan. 1, 1938 at Dallas, Texas

Colorado made its first bowl appearance ever, but the Buffs fell short to Rice 28-14, in the second annual Cotton Bowl. It was a one-man show for both teams, as All-Americans Byron "Whizzer" White (Colorado) and Ernie Lain (Rice) dominated for their respective squads. White was involved in both Colorado scores and Lain in all four Owl touchdowns.

Colorado led 14-0 at the end of the first quarter, when White threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio for the first TD, and then returned an interception 47 yards for a score minutes later. Rice battled back and scored 21 second-quarter points to take a 21-14 lead at the half. Lain threw two touchdowns and ran for another.

The Owls added another TD as the third period came to an even close when Joe Steene caught an eleven-yard pass from Lain. Lain and White were both named the outstanding players of the game.

Dal Ward's Buffs got first half touchdowns by John Bayuk, Howard Cook and Boyd Dowler to take the seemingly safe halftime lead. But Frank Howard's Tigers roared back to go ahead by 21-20 with 11:12 left in the game on a nine-yard run by fullback Bob Spooner.

But the Buffs sucked it up and drove 53 yards for the winning score after a Clemson onside kick attempt following the TD had failed. Eddie Dove carried four times and Bayuk three in the drive, with Bayuk getting the TD from the one-yard line with 7:13 left to play. Ellwin Indorf's kick gave CU its final winning margin. But it still took a pass interception at the Colorado 17-yard line by Bob Stransky to nail down the decision.

1957 ORANGE BOWL

Colorado 27, Clemson 21

Jan. 1, 1957 at Miami, Florida

Big Seven runner-up Colorado stormed out of the chute and had ACC champ Clemson down 20-0 at the half as 72,552 fans yawned and went for refreshments at the 23rd Orange Bowl Classic.

But a lot of those drinks were spilled in the second half as Clemson rallied to take a 21-20 lead in the final period before the resurgent Buffs buckled up and drove for the winning score to take their first bowl triumph in history by 27-21.

1962 ORANGE BOWL

Louisiana State 25, Colorado 7

Jan. 1, 1962 at Miami, Florida

Jittery Colorado was out-classed by LSU's smooth football hordes, and the Buffs lost a 25-7 decision in the 28th Orange Bowl Classic before 62,391 onlookers.

Coach Paul Dietzel's SEC Champions spotted Colorado an early 7-5 lead on Buff defender Loren Schweninger's 59-yard pass interception return for a score, then methodically dismantled the Big Seven Champions.

LSU took the lead for good in the second period, marching 82 yards for the score with Chuck Crawford going in from the one with 8:57 left in the first half to give the Tigers an 11-7 halftime margin.

The Tigers scored twice in the third period to put the game away quickly, going 43 yards after a poor Charlie McBride punt and blocking another McBride punt for a touchdown just as the third quarter ended.

Sonny Grandelius' Buffs managed only 143 yards in total offense against the LSU "Chinese Bandit" defense, while the Tigers got 343 yards. CU had come into the game with a 9-1 mark, losing to Utah and winning all seven Big Eight games.

1967 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Colorado 31, Miami, Fla. 21

Dec. 23, 1967 at Houston, Texas

Soph quarterback Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle problem and ignited Colorado's 31-21 Bluebonnet Bowl win over Miami of Florida in Rice Stadium.

The 19-year-old Boulder-bred signal caller led the Buffs on an 80-yard TD march in the third period to give the Herd a 17-14 lead. Then, after the Hurricanes had gone back into the lead again, Anderson sped 38 yards or a touchdown with 6:55 left in the game to put CU back ahead by 24-21. Anderson then took the Buffs 34 yards for another score with 1:02 to play after Isaac Howard had picked off a Miami pass at the Hurricane 34-yard line.

Anderson was the complete player in winning game MVP honors, running for 108 yards on 17 carries, scoring two touchdowns on runs of 38 and 2 yards, and passing for 49 yards on 5 of 10 attempts. Oddly, Anderson did not start the game, giving way to fleet Dan Kelley because of his bothersome ankle. Bobby entered the game in the second period with Miami ahead, 14-7.

1969 LIBERTY BOWL

Colorado 47, Alabama 33

Dec. 13, 1969 at Memphis, Tennessee

All-American tailback Bobby Anderson and his herd of Bison stamped into Memphis and outslugged Alabama, 47-33, before 50,042 fans and a nationwide television audience. It was the first post-season appearance by CU since the 1967 Bluebonnet Bowl and showcased Colorado's return to national prominence.

Anderson, a bullish 6-0, 208-pounder from Boulder, capped his All-America campaign by rushing for a Liberty Bowl record 254 yards and scoring three touchdowns. It gave him a total of 5,017 yards in total offense for his career and enabled him to become the first Big Eight player ever to hit the 5,000-yard mark for a career.

Fullback Ward Walsh scored twice on short runs, Dave Haney kicked a 30-yard field goal, Anderson scored from the two, and Steve Engel and Bob Masten collaborated on a 91-yard kickoff return as CU stormed to a 31-19 halftime lead.

A total of 16 new Liberty bowl records were set in the long and exciting afternoon in Memphis Memorial Stadium before ABC-TV sports cameras.

1970 LIBERTY BOWL

Tulane 17, Colorado 3

Dec. 12, 1970 at Memphis, Tennessee

Hungry Tulane ruined Colorado's return to the Liberty Bowl and the Green Wave walked off with a stunning 17-3 upset of the Buffs as 44,640 fans shivered in the cold at Memphis Memorial Stadium.

Colorado, playing without injured quarterback Jimmy Bratten, and going with soph Paul Arendt, mounted little offense and fell to the emotional Tulane effort. CU had come into the game only 6-4, but had upset powers Penn State and Sugar Bowl-bound Air Force during the season.

CU got only a 33-yard field goal from Dave Haney and managed only 175 yards in total offense after leading the Big Eight with a per-game average of almost 425 yards.

Tulane's David Abercrombie returned a second half kickoff 66 yards and scored himself on runs of two and four yards to cap drives that broke a 3-3 halftime tie and sent Tulane to its win over the Buffaloes. Linebacker Rick Kingrea set up the second tally with a 44-yard interception return off Arendt in the final period.

1972 GATOR BOWL

Auburn 24, Colorado 3

Dec. 30, 1972 at Jacksonville, Florida

Auburn, an 11-point underdog to Colorado, took command in the second period and went on to beat the Buffs, 24-3, in the 28th Gator Bowl Classic before 71,114 fans.

It was 17-0 in favor of the Tigers before CU got on the board with just 7:31 left in the game on a Freddie Lima field goal. Auburn shut off the fearsome Colorado rushing attack with just 63 yards in 29 attempts and forced Buff quarterback Ken Johnson to the air.

Auburn, sixth-ranked in the nation, took it to Colorado by capitalizing on two CU fumbles and two pass thefts. Johnson, who had directed Colorado to an 8-3 season coming into the game, hit on 17 of 29 passes for 169 yards, but the Buff running game was shut down.

Garner Jett's 27-yard field goal and a fumble recovery at the Colorado 16-yard line a minute later led to the 10-0 halftime lead for Auburn. Then, in the second half, wingback Mike Fuller hit tight end Rob Spivey with a 22-yard TD pass and holder Dave Beck threw a 16-yard TD pass off a fake field goal to Dan Nugent to ice the win.

1971 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Colorado 29, Houston 17

Dec. 31, 1971 at Houston, Texas

Colorado sophomore tailback Charlie Davis returned to his home town and ripped host Houston for a whopping 202 yards on 37 carries as the Buffs whipped the Cougars, 29-17, in the 13th Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl Classic at the Astrodome.

Davis scored twice and was a one-man show in the first half. CU took a 23-14 lead into the dressing rooms thanks to a 27-yard run by Davis, a TD pass of five yards from Ken Johnson to Larry Brunson, a 32-yard field goal by J. B. Dean, and another TD run by Davis.

Houston, behind the running of Robert Newhouse, roared back to narrow the margin to 23-17 with 2:16 left in the third quarter as Mike Terrell kicked a 29-yard field goal. Newhouse, who lost out to Davis for the game's MVP Award, had 168 yards on 35 carries and also scored twice.

Safety John Stearns was a Colorado hero in the fourth period, running with his faked punt from his own 10 to his 22 for a crucial first down after Houston had turned the momentum around and narrowed the margin to just a touchdown on the Terrell field goal. Stearns then knocked down a sure TD pass on fourth down with the Cougs at the CU nine. The Buffs turned that one around and marched for the clinching tally with 3:48 left in the game.

1975 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Texas 38, Colorado 21

Dec. 27, 1975 at Houston, Texas

Colorado rolled up a commanding 21-7 halftime lead over Texas, then kicked it away as the Longhorns rallied to a 38-21 win in the 17th Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in the Houston Astrodome before 52,748.

In the first half, Colorado rolled up a commanding 16-5 edge in first downs, an edge of 225-89 in total yards, and a 48-20 edge in plays to go ahead 21-7. CU fullback Terry Kunz scored on a one-yard dive with 2:29 left in the first period, quarterback David Williams threw a four-yard TD ass to Dave Logan with 12:42 left in the second period, then added a 25-yard scoring drive to huge end Don Hasselbeck with 0:24 left to play to make the 21-7 margin.

But Kunz opened the second half with costly fumble at the Buff 34 and Texas allback Jimmy Walker scored eight plays later to make it 21-13. UT end Tim Campbell blocked a CU punt a minute later and scored 25 yards for the TD. A two-point conversion pass from quarterback Marty Jinks to full-back Earl Campbell tied the game at 21-21 with 10:56 left in the third quarter.

Texas kicker Russell Erxleben's record 55-yard field goal with 6:25 left in the third period gave the Longhorns a 24-21 lead. Fleet Johnny Jones scored from four yards out with 3:15 left in the third period giving the Horns a 31-21 lead that stood up.

1985 FREEDOM BOWL

Washington 20, Colorado 17

Dec. 30, 1985 at Anaheim, California

Washington staved off a pair of late Colorado rallies and held on to defeat the Buffaloes, 20-17, in the second annual Freedom Bowl before 30,961 in attendance at Anaheim Stadium.

It was close throughout. Washington took a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter on a 30-yard field goal by Jeff Jaeger. The Buffs came back to take what would be their only lead of the night early in the second quarter. Fullback Anthony Weatherspoon scored from a yard out and Larry Eckel added the point after to give CU a 7-3 lead. The Huskies' David Toy scored on a three-yard run and Jaeger added the point with only 30 seconds left in the first half to put Washington up 10-7 at intermission.

Eckel tied the score at 10-10 with a 33-yard field goal with 8:41 left in the third quarter, but Washington countered three minutes later with a one-yard scoring run by Tony Covington for a 17-10 lead. Jaeger added an 18-yard field goal three seconds into the fourth quarter to make it 20-10.

All-American punter Barry Helton threw out of punt formation to Jon Embree for a dazzling 31-yard touchdown pass and Eckel added the extra point with 11:05 to go to pull CU to within three. The Buffs would get no closer, but had the ball at inside the Husky 10 in the final five minutes. Halfback Mike Marquez fumbled the ball at the two ending drive, although television replays indicated the ground may have caused the fumble.

The game capped CU's turnaround season, as the Buffs went from 1-10 the previous year to 7-5 and captured the NCAA's most-improved team honor.

Marquez led the Buffs with 80 yards on 10 carries, while Chris Chandler led the Huskies with 72 yards on seven tries. It was a defensive game, with each team committing just a single turnover, but Washington was penalized 13 times for 88 yards on the evening.

1977 ORANGE BOWL

Ohio State 27, Colorado 10

Jan. 1, 1977 at Miami, Florida

Colorado returned to the Orange Bowl as Big Eight co-champions for the first time since 1961, but Ohio State's defense and an injury to CU middle guard Charlie Johnson in the first half killed CU's chances in a 27-10 Buckeye win before 65,537.

Colorado opened with a bang, getting ahead 10-0 in the first period on a 26-yard field goal by Mark Zetterberg with 5:56 elapsed, then a touchdown pass of 11 yards from soph quarterback Jeff Knapple to wingback Emery Moorehead with 3:43 left.

But Johnson went down with a broken ankle, and Ohio State coach Woody Hayes substituted fleet Rod Gerald at quarterback for the often-sacked Tom Pacenta and the Buckeye offense came alive in the second period.

OSU tailback Jeff Logan rambled for a 36-yard touchdown up the middle as the first period came to an end, then the Bucks tied it on a 28-yard field goal by Tom Skladany with 9:29 left in the half.

Ohio State put on a 99-yard drive capped by fullback Pete Johnson's three-yard run with 0:20 left in the half to take a 17-10 lead which stood up until Skladany added another 20-yard field goal with 2:30 left in the third quarter to make it 20-10 in favor of OSU.

The Buffs could not do anything offensively in the second half, and a pass interception at the Colorado 28 with 3:08 left led to the final Ohio State touchdown and the winning margin of 27-10.

1986 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Baylor 21, Colorado 9

Dec. 31, 1986 at Houston, Texas

Baylor turned two Colorado turnovers into touchdowns and then thwarted two Buff scoring threats in the fourth quarter as the Bears defeated CU, 21-9, before 40,470 in attendance at Rice Stadium in the 28th Bluebonnet Bowl.

Baylor drew first blood with 3:34 left in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge by Derrick McAdoo. Colorado countered two drives later with a 36-yard field goal by Dave DeLine to slice the lead to 7-3 early in the second stanza. But the Buffs turned the ball over on their own eight and it took Baylor three plays to score to extend the lead to 14-3, which stood at intermission.

CU turned the ball over on its second play from scrimmage in the second half and McAdoo scored again from a yard out to put Baylor up 21-3. The Buffs finally put six on the board late in the quarter on a 31-yard touchdown run by Mark Hatcher, but CU couldn't convert the two and score remained 21-9 in favor of the Bears.

The Buffs twice had the ball deep in Baylor territory in the fourth quarter, but the Bear defense held as CU couldn't convert either time on fourth down. In a game dominated by defense, Baylor outgained Colorado 279-194. Each team had 12 first downs, and the Buff defense held the Bears to over 200 yards under its per-game average for the season.

Brigham Young's only lead of the game came when it counted the most, as Jason Chaffetz' 35-yard field goal with 2:33 remaining in the fourth quarter rallied the Cougars to a 20-17 win over Colorado in the fifth annual Freedom Bowl.

The Buffs turned a BYU turnover into seven points just two-and-one-half minutes into the game, as Eric Bieniemy scored from one yard out to cap a six-play, 49-yard drive. Pat Blottiaux's PAT kick put CU up 7-0, but the Cougars tied the score some seven minutes later on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Sean Covey to Mike Salido.

Bieniemy's second touchdown of the game, also from a yard out, enabled CU to forge a 14-7 lead with 1:04 left in the half. The margin stood at halftime.

The Buffs blew several scoring opportunities, twice penetrating the BYU 20 and coming away empty. In the meantime, Ty Detmer's 14-yard scoring strike to Chuck Cutler knotted the score at 14 after three quarters. Blottiaux made good on a 19-yard field goal early in the fourth to give CU its last lead (17-14), but Chaffetz countered with a 31-yarder before nailing the game winner in the final minutes.

Colorado outgained the Cougars, 337-320, on the evening, but its or mistakes and penalties (nine, the most in CU bowl history), added up to the fifth straight bowl loss by the Buffaloes.

1990 ORANGE BOWL

Notre Dame 21, Colorado 6

Jan. 1, 1990 at Miami, Florida

Fullback Anthony Johnson's second touchdown run of the game late in the fourth quarter put an end to Colorado's undefeated season and national championship hopes as Notre Dame defeated the Buffaloes, 21-6.

Colorado came into the game with an 11-0 record and its first-ever No. 1 national ranking. The Buffs appeared headed to the national championship in the first half, as CU dominated the line of scrimmage in gaining 186 first-half yards, but couldn't convert on three golden scoring opportunities. Instead of leading 17- or 21-0 at halftime, the Buffs found themselves in a scoreless deadlock, and that thanks to Gary Howe's block of a Notre Dame field goal attempt at the intermission gun.

The Irish took control of the game in the third quarter, using a two-yard scoring run by Johnson and a 35-yard touchdown run on a reverse by Raghib Ismail to take a 14-0 lead midway through the period. Colorado sliced the lead to 14-6 on a spectacular 39-yard run by Darian Hagan to close the quarter, but the PAT kick sailed wide by Ken Culbertson, leaving the Buffs eight points back.

Johnson's second touchdown, a seven-yard effort, culminated a mammoth 17-play, 82-yard drive which ate up almost nine minutes of the clock. The Buffs got the ball back with 1:32 left in the game, and after Mike Pritchard returned the Irish kickoff 28 yards to the CU 41, could not get anything going prior to time running out.

1991 BLOCKBUSTER BOWL

Alabama 30, Colorado 25

Dec. 28, 1991 at Miami, Florida

Jay Barker threw three touchdown passes and David Palmer scored twice to lead No. 8 Alabama to a 30-25 victory over No. 13 Colorado in the second annual Blockbuster Bowl.

Palmer scored the game's first points on a 52-yard punt return six minutes into the first quarter. The Buffaloes tied the score at 7-7 late in the quarter on a one-yard run by Scott Phillips, which was set up a Ron Woolfork blocked punt. Ted Johnson tackled Martin Houston in the endzone for a safety early in the second quarter, and then the teams traded field goals to enable CU to take a 12-10 lead at halftime.

Barker hooked up with Siran Stacy for a 13-yard touchdown play in the third quarter, only to see the Buffs come back 18 seconds later on a 62-yard scoring strike from Darian Hagan to Michael Westbrook. Barker added a 12-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Lee later in the quarter to give the Crimson Tide a 23-19 lead after three quarters. Barker and Palmer connected on a five-yard TD pass with 8:10 left in the game to put Alabama ahead 30-19, but the Buffs cut the lead to five on a 13-yard pass from Hagan to Charles Johnson with 3:30 left.

Colorado got the ball back with 1:49 left and drove to the 'Bama 33 yard line before being stopped on a fourth-and-one play with 40 seconds left. Alabama outgained CU, 307-199, running more plays (81-60) and holding on to the ball for 38:10. The game marked the debut of CU's new one-back, pass-oriented offense.

1991 ORANGE BOWL

Colorado 10, Notre Dame 9

Jan. 1, 1991 at Miami, Florida

In an Orange Bowl where there was no shortage of heroes for Colorado, the Buffaloes toppled Notre Dame, 10-9, enabling the school to claim its first-ever national championship in football. CU overcame two key injuries in rallying in the second half for the victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Buffaloes drew first blood on a 22-yard field goal by Jim Harper three minutes into the second quarter. Notre Dame came right back, marching 62 yards in nine plays, with Ricky Watters scoring from two yards out. The score remained at 6-3, however, as CU's Ronnie Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Just prior to halftime, CU lost the services of quarterback Darian Hagan (knee injury) and outside linebacker Kanavis McGhee (shoulder). Both missed the remainder of the game.

Hentrich booted a 24-yard field goal early in the second half to extend the Irish lead to 9-3. Charles S. Johnson took over at quarterback for the Buffs, with Notre Dame stopping CU cold on its first possession of the second half. On the first play of the next Notre Dame drive, Chad Brown forced Watters to fumble, with Paul Rose, subbing for McGhee, making the recovery.

Johnson, his feet now wet, coolly directed the Buffaloes to the go-ahead touchdown. Eric Bieniemy's one-yard touchdown run and Jim Harper's extra point kick late in the third quarter rallied CU into the lead. The Buffalo defense then held Notre Dame in check, as the Irish held on to the ball for only less than four minutes the rest of the game, mustering only 35 yards of total offense after CU went on top.

Colorado's road to the national championship wasn't without a late scare. Notre Dame's Raghib Ismail broke loose on a punt return with less than a minute remaining, appearing to run 91 yards for a score, but CU's Tim James was clipped on the play, nullifying the gain.

Bieniemy rushed for a game-high 86 yards on 28 carries, with Johnson earning the MVP honor, completing five of six passes for 80 yards. The win, which gave CU an 11-1-1 record for the season, also snapped a seven-game CU bowl losing streak.

1993 FIESTA BOWL

Syracuse 26, Colorado 22

Jan. 1, 1993 at Tempe, Arizona

Kirby Dar Dar's 100-yard kickoff return at the end of the third quarter proved to be the winning points as the No. 6 Syracuse Orangemen defeated the No. 10 Colorado Buffaloes in the 22nd annual Fiesta Bowl.

A defensive battle in the first half saw Colorado go into intermission with a 7-6 lead, as the teams combined for just 226 total yards. A pair of John Biskup field goals saw the Orange take a 6-0 lead, but with 10 seconds left in the half, Kordell Stewart threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to Sean Embree on fourth down, with Mitch Berger's PAT kick giving CU the slim one-point lead at the half.

The third quarter proved to be both pivotal and wild, with 29 points scored in just over a six-minute span. David Walker's 13-yard run with 6:22 left in the quarter put Syracuse back on top, 12-7, with a two-point conversion pass falling incomplete. Berger nailed a 38-yard field goal on CU's next possession to cut the lead to 12-10, but the 'Cuse went back up 19-10 on a spectacular 28-yard run by quarterback Marvin Graves. Stewart led the Buffs on an 82-yard drive in just over a minute, completing the march with a 16-yard TD pass to Charles Johnson, but Berger missed the point after and the score stood at 19-16.

Dar Dar performed his heroics on the next kickoff, rambling 100 yards as time expired in the quarter. Lamont Warren scored the day's final points on a six-yard run late in the game, with Berger again missing the PAT try. The Buffs got the ball back in the final minute, but could not muster a scoring drive.

The Buffaloes outgained the Orange, 370-265, including a 217-64 edge in the passing game. Syracuse neutralized the CU offensive attack by netting 178 yards on kickoff returns.

Rashaan Salaam rushed for 135 yards and three touchdowns to lead the No. 17 Colorado Buffaloes to a convincing 41-30 victory over the No. 24 Fresno State Bulldogs in the 12th annual Aloha Bowl.

The Buffs zoomed to a 17-0 lead, scoring on their first three possessions of the game. Salaam and James Hill scored on short touchdown runs, sandwiched around a Mitch Berger field goal, as CU went up 17-0 with 9:18 left in the half. After trading field goals, Fresno State pulled as close as it would get at intermission on a fluke play. Berger's squib kickoff was first fumbled by the Bulldogs' Jamie Christian, then recovered by Malcolm Seabron and returned 68 yards for a touchdown. The play pulled FSU to within 20-10 at halftime.

Salaam sprinted into the endzone from 40 yards out early in the second half, putting the daylight back into the CU lead (27-10). Fresno never got closer than 10 the remainder of the game.

The Buffs held Fresno State to just three rushing yards on the day, but the Bulldogs did put an all-time best of 523 passing yards on the board against CU (though 333 came after CU took the 27-10 lead). Salaam was named Colorado's Most Valuable Player for the game, while Chris Hudson was the game's MVP on defense. Hudson had seven tackles, two forced fumbles, two recoveries, a quarterback sack and a pass deflection.

1995 FIESTA BOWL

Colorado 41, Notre Dame 24

Jan. 2, 1995 at Tempe, Arizona

Kordell Stewart amassed 348 yards of total offense and he received plenty of help on both offense and defense as the Colorado Buffaloes easily defeated Notre Dame, 41-24, in the 24th annual Fiesta Bowl.

The game was Bill McCartney's "swan song" as CU head coach, with the win giving him a final record over 13 seasons of 93-55-5, the winningest in Colorado history.

Stewart, named the game's most valuable player, had 268 total yards in the first half alone, when the Buffs built a commanding 31-3 lead with 1:05 remaining. For the game, he rushed seven times for 143 yards and a touchdown and completed 11 of 20 passes for 205 yards and another score.

1993 FIESTA BOWL

1993 ALOHA BOWL

Colorado 41, Fresno State 30

Dec. 25, 1993 at Honolulu, Hawaii

Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam rushed for 83 yards and three touchdowns, including back-to-back scores in the final five minutes of the first half that helped break the game open.

On defense, the Buffs switched from the 3-4 to the 4-3 for the game, and the result yielded relentless pressure on Irish freshman quarterback on Powlus. CU had seven sacks, including three by the defensive MVP in the game, Shannon Clavelle, along with 12 pressures. Butkus Award runner-up Ted Johnson led all players with 20 tackles, with two for losses and no interception.

The Buffs scored on five of their first six possessions, with Stewart the key fixture on each. He had a 29-yard run on CU's first touchdown drive, a 35-yard dash on the second, a 16-yard run and 46-yard pass to James Idd on the third, and a 12-yard run to the 1-yard line on the fourth. And after Notre Dame had closed to within 31-17 late in the third quarter, Stewart printed 41 yards to set up a field goal, and threw a 37-yard pass to Kidd on route to CU's final score.

The Buffs amassed 472 yards on offense in just 23:43 of possession time, laying nearly the perfect game. CU did not commit a turnover and averaged just under eight yards per play in finishing the season with an 11-1 record and No. 3 national ranking.

Washington, who then returned the ball 95 yards for the longest interception return for a touchdown in CU bowl history.

Washington's heroics enabled the Buffs to take a 13-6 lead into the lockerroom, as the weather continued to get worse. A light rainfall increased as the game went on, with winds gusting to 20 miles per hour, making the field conditions worsen.

Though the weather was more Oregon-like, it didn't appear to bother Colorado. The Buffaloes broke open the close game in the third quarter with three touchdowns, with a six-yard run by Troutman sandwiched in the middle of two Hessler touchdown passes to Matt Lepsis and Phil Savoy. Troutman ran over right tackle for a 55-yard gain, the longest run ever by a Buff in the postseason, to set up CU's first second-half score.

Troutman was named the game's most valuable player on offense, with Washington garnering the same honor on defense, making six tackles in addition to his interception return.

Colorado owned a 313-258 edge in total offense, but the day belonged to the defense, and Oregon averaged just 3.5 yards per play and were forced into five turnovers. The win enabled Rick Neuheisel's Buffs to finish 10-2 on the season and No. 4 in the nation (USA Today/CNN poll; No. 5 in the Associated Press).

1996 COTTON BOWL

Colorado 38, Oregon 6

Jan. 1, 1996 at Dallas, Texas

John Hessler threw for two touchdowns and ran for another and Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score as the No. 7 Colorado Buffaloes rallied from a sluggish start in easily defeating the No. 12 Oregon Ducks, 38-6, in the 60th annual Cotton Bowl.

The Buffs overcame two early turnovers and a long kickoff return, holding the Ducks to just two field goals. The defense clamped down all afternoon on the potent Oregon attack, especially when the Ducks worked into CU territory; Oregon had just the six points in nine penetrations across midfield.

Trailing 6-0, Hessler directed CU on a six-play, 80-yard drive in just 97 seconds, with Hessler running the ball in himself from a yard out on the first play of the second quarter. After the teams exchanged possessions, the Ducks drove to the CU 9, where a Tony Graziani pass was intercepted by freshman Marcus

Bill McCartney is carried off the field by his players following his last game, CU's 41-24 Fiesta Bowl win over Notre Dame.

1996 HOLIDAY BOWL

Colorado 33, Washington 21

Dec. 30, 1996 at San Diego, Calif.

Koy Detmer and Rae Carruth completed their careers in style, rallying No. 8 Colorado from an early two touchdown deficit to defeat No. 13 Washington, 33-21, in the 19th annual Holiday Bowl.

Detmer, who was named the game's offensive most valuable player, hooked up with Carruth on a 76-yard touchdown pass with 2:25 left in the first quarter to get the Buffaloes on the scoreboard. Until that play, the Huskies used a pair of Corey Dillon touchdown runs to build a 14-0 lead, threatening CU's three-game bowl winning streak and a chance at a third straight 10-win season.

Colorado pulled even four minutes into the second quarter, when defensive MVP Nick Ziegler intercepted a Brock Huard pass and returned it 31 yards for the first touchdown of his collegiate career. Washington answered with a Jeremy Pathon 86-yard kickoff return for a 21-14 lead, but those would be the last points CU would allow on the night. Darrin Chiaverini tied the score at 21 with a seven-yard TD pass from Detmer, and Jeremy Aldrich's 42-yard field goal gave CU its first lead at 24-21 with 1:50 left in the first half.

CU added nine second half points on a 36-yard Aldrich field goal and a four-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Carruth. The Buff defense held the Huskies to just 129 yards and seven first downs in the second half, and Washington's only scoring chance resulted in a blocked field goal attempt by Mike Phillips.

Detmer and Carruth respectively set CU bowl records for passing yards (371) and receiving yards (162). The Buffs had a 414-341 edge in total offense in the game, but a 373-204 edge after UW took its 14-0 lead. It was the largest deficit in CU bowl game history in which the Buffs rallied to win.

THE BIG 12 CONFERENCE

The Big 12 Conference became a reality on February 25, 1994, when Southwest Conference members Baylor, Texas, Texas A & M and Texas Tech merged with Big Eight Conference institutions Colorado, Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State to pursue common academic and athletic endeavors.

Individually, member schools have long been respected for successes both in its classrooms and its stadiums. In all, league institutions have received numerous accolades for the quality of academic resources, programs and services offered to students. Athletically, Big 12 teams have accounted for more than 130 NCAA team championships and 15 wire service football titles, while its student-athletes have claimed more than 750 NCAA crowns entering the 1997-98 academic year. The formation of the Big 12 represents an undertaking by school chief executive officers to combine resources to achieve even higher levels of performance heading into the 21st century.

Steven J. Hatchell, a Colorado graduate, became the conference's first commissioner on March 26, 1995, and has been in no small part responsible for the immediate success of the nation's newest conference. Under his direction, the Big 12 took a big step toward community service in May, 1996, by adopting Special Olympics as its primary philanthropy. Donnie Duncan, formerly the athletic director at Oklahoma, is the league's associate commissioner for football operations.

Another innovative venture of the Big 12 is the development of the Life Skills Program and Academic Services, which seeks to enhance the "total person" concept both on and off the field. Programs such as the Student-Athletic Advisory Committee, Special Olympics and the NCAA's heralded YES program of clinics and stay in school messages to youngsters are just a few life skills areas promoted by the Big 12.

Exposure is key in any endeavor of this magnitude, and the Big 12 has one of the most comprehensive regional and national telecast agreements in the country.

ABC and Fox Sports Network combine to produce nearly 40 football games annually in syndicated, regional, national and prime time windows. The Conference dominates network television annually on the Friday after Thanksgiving with back-to-back national telecasts of Texas versus Texas A&M and Colorado versus Nebraska.

In all, the packages with ABC, Fox Sports Network and ESPN guarantee the Big 12 the finest intercollegiate coverage through the year 2000 (2003 with ABC for football television) and at least $145 million into the coffers of the member institutions.

The Big 12 utilizes a North-South divisional format in football, with the two Oklahoma schools and the four Texas schools making up the Big 12 South with the remaining six schools competing in the Big 12 North. The champions of each respected division face each other in a showdown in early December to determine the Big 12 representative to the Bowl Alliance.

Institution chancellors and presidents serve as the chief policy makers of the Conference, operating as the Council of Chief Executive Officers. Administration of the league occurs through the Faculty Athletics Representatives, Athletics Directors and Senior Woman Administrators.

In all, the Big 12 is home to more than 1,500 student-athletes on 209 teams in the 21 men's and women's Big 12-sponsored sports. Men's programs regulated by the league include basketball, cross country, football, golf, indoor and outdoor track, swimming, tennis and wrestling. Big 12-regulated women's programs include basketball, cross country, golf, gymnastics, indoor and outdoor track, soccer, softball, swimming and tennis. Colorado, of course, also offers the prestigious programs of men's and women's skiing.

COLORADO'S CONFERENCE HISTORY

The Big 12 Conference is technically the sixth conference in which the University of Colorado will be a member.

There were no organized leagues in the Rocky Mountain region when CU started playing football in 1890. In 1893, Colorado was a charter member of the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA; also known as the Colorado Football Association), joined by Denver, Colorado College, Colorado Mines and Colorado A & M. CU remained a member through 1908 (except 1905, when it withdrew from the state conference prior to the season).

In 1909, a new alignment called the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference came into existence, with CU, CC, A & M and Mines the charter members. One year later in 1910, the name was changed to the Rocky Mountain Faculty Athletic Conference, as the league expanded geographically to include Utah and Denver, and later, Utah State (1914), Montana State (1917), Brigham Young (1918), Wyoming (1921), and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) and Western State (1924). This new league, built on a foundation of faculty control, lasted through the 1936-37 school year.

In 1937, a serious gap that had developed between the elite of the RMAC and the smaller schools was corrected with the formation of the Mountain States Conference. This new league consisted of CU, DU, A & M, Wyoming, Utah, Utah State and BYU. The remaining five schools continued on as the RMAC, which today remains one of the oldest conferences in the nation.

A decade later, CU athletics would change forever, as the Buffaloes were accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association (also known as the Big Six) on Dec. 1, 1947. Colorado started competition in this league in the 1948-49 school year, thus changing the name to the Big Seven. Other schools in the league were Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma. When Oklahoma State rejoined the group after a three decade absence in 1958, the conference became known as the Big Eight.

On Feb. 25, 1994, it was announced that Baylor, Texas, Texas A & M and Texas Tech accepted invitations to join all Big Eight schools to form a new super-conference known as the Big 12. The four former Southwest Conference schools joined the eight Big Eight schools in starting the new league on July 1, 1996; it was considered a new conference and not a merger.

SPRING FOOTBALL HISTORY

Spring practice has for the most part ended with a game between the Colorado Varsity and Alumni. Back at the turn of the century, an Alumni team usually served as the season opener for the varsity (13 times all told, with the Varsity owning an 11-0-2 edge in those games). The Varsity held a 20-3 edge in the old format of the spring series, which started back in 1953 under then head coach Dal Ward. After a pair of games, the series became dormant until 1963 when it was revived by Eddie Crowder. There was no game between 1974 and 1976, and the 1978 game was cancelled due to a blizzard.

A new format for the Varsity-Alumni game (implemented in 1988) had the alumni playing in the first and third quarters, with the first team of the varsity playing the second and fourth quarters. They were pitted against the second- and third-team members of the varsity, resulting in a competitive and fun game. The alumni and first-team varsity always wore black. This format was discontinued following 1992 for competitive reasons.

The all-time results of the Varsity-Alumni game:

Year	Score	Attend.	Year	Score	Attend.
1953 — Varsity, 6-0		2,300	1979 — Varsity, 31-0		5,277

*—played in Denver due to stadium expansion; *—First-team varsity and alumni wore black jerseys, remainder of varsity white jerseys.

The format for the game in 1993 and 1994 was to pit the first-team offense and defense against the remainder of the squad. The results of this series:

Year	Score	Attend.	Year	Score	Attend.
1993 — White, 24-13		2,500	1994 — Black, 45-3		1,650

An intrasquad game was started in 1987 and was dubbed the "Black and White Game" (now the "Silver and Gold" Game). The team is divided by the coaching staff into two units of equal strength. A look at this series:

Year	Score	Year	Score	Attend.
1987 — Black, 6-3		1995 — Silver, 20-6		2,600
1988 — White, 7-3		1996 — Gold, 30-20		7,500
1989 — Black, 14-10		1996 — Gold, 14-0		6,100
1990 — White, 14-10
1991 — Black, 28-9
1992 — Black, 22-19
1993 — Black, 17-7
1994 — White, 14-7

One of the most emotional moments in CU football history came at halftime of the 1989 spring game, when the varsity and alumni saluted cancer-stricken quarterback Sal Aunese (center). Aunese passed away on Sept. 23 later than same year.

ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

JOYCE ASCHENBRENNER

*Associate Athletic Director/External Affairs
Senior Women's Administrator*

Joyce Aschenbrenner is in her eighth year with CU, as she joined the department on Aug. 1, 1990, as the associate athletic director for external affairs. She was also named senior women's administrator on July 1, 1992. In addition to her duties as associate athletic director, she coordinates CU's spirit and outreach programs. As SWA, she represents CU at Big 12 Conference and NCAA meetings.

Aschenbrenner, 45, came to CU from the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, where she worked for seven-plus years as the assistant athletic director for communications. Prior to her position at UNLV, she was the sports information director for football at the University of Pittsburgh for two years and an assistant SID for seven.

With over 21 years of collegiate athletics experience, she has been involved in various areas such as media relations, fundraising, marketing and promotions, recruiting and television coordination. As a sports information director, she handled public relations for national caliber athletes such as Dan Marino and Randall Cunningham (football) and Larry Johnson, Armon Gilliam and Stacey Augmon (basketball). As an SID, she was associated with national champions in football (1976 at Pitt) and basketball (1990 at UNLV).

She served on the Board of Directors of the Jackie Sherrill Leukemia Golf Tournament (Pittsburgh) and was a member of the Board of Directors of the Nevada Special Olympics and served as the coordinator for the NSO summer games.

She is a member of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services, a civilian committee appointed by the United States Secretary of Defense.

Born May 31, 1952 in Pittsburgh, Pa., she graduated from suburban Pittsburgh's Brentwood High School in 1970. She graduated from West Virginia University with a B.S. degree in journalism in 1975, where she worked three years as a student assistant in the SID office. She is single.

JON BURIANEK

Associate Athletic Director/Internal Affairs

Jon Burianek is in his 30th year with the CU athletic department, his 15th as the associate athletic director for internal affairs.

COLORADO RADIO NETWORK

The Colorado Football Network originates in Denver with KOA-Radio (850am) serving as the flagship, feeding the broadcast to 21 radio stations in the Rocky Mountain region.

85 KOA
NEWSRADIO

CU and KOA are entering the second year of a new five-year contract, the fourth between the two entities since they were reunited in 1985. The first two agreements were three years in length, with the third a five-year deal. KOA, a 50,000-watt powerhouse, also handled the Buff broadcasts from 1940 through 1981. All told, KOA is entering its 55th season of Colorado football broadcasts.

For the third straight year, the KOA announcing team for Buffalo football will be comprised of Larry Zimmer, Jim Ryan and Bobby Anderson. Zimmer and Ryan also team up on CU men's basketball broadcasts.

Zimmer is in his 24th season with the Buffaloes, the second longest current tenure in the Big 12 Conference. The 1957 Missouri graduate (journalism) served as the voice of the Buffs from 1971 through 1981, and since 1985, when KOA came back on board as the radio rights holder. Zimmer did four years of play-by-play for the University of Michigan (1966-69) prior to moving to Colorado, where he has been a fixture on Denver Bronco broadcasts as well, currently teaming with former CU All-American Dave Logan. Zimmer was selected the 1995 Broadcaster-of-the-Year by the Colorado Broadcasters Association. He was also the Sportscenter-of-the-Year for Colorado as selected by the National Sportscenter and Sportswriters Association for 1988, 1990 and 1991.

Ryan is in his third season as color analyst. A 1979 graduate of the College of William & Mary (business management), he lettered four years in football and signed as a free agent with the Denver Broncos. He went on to play 10 seasons with the Broncos, seven as a starting linebacker and missing only one game in his entire NFL career. One of his many career highlights came when he was named the most valuable player in Denver's win over Cleveland in the 1987 AFC Championship game. He also works as an independent freelance broadcaster for college and pro football games, and is a motivational speaker.

Anderson is in his 21st season (18th on KOA) of handling pregame, postgame and in-game sideline coverage on Buff broadcasts. He graduated from CU in 1970, lettering three years in football in setting numerous school records. He is one of just three football players at Colorado to have had his number (1) retired. Following his illustrious CU career, he went on to play for the Broncos and Washington Redskins in the NFL.

KOA also originates the Rick Neuheisel Show, which is aired Wednesdays during the football season at 7:00 p.m. The show features a live audience at the Holiday Inn in Boulder (Olive Restaurant), and goes out over the entire network and solicits callers from around the state.

The half-hour program is hosted by Mark McIntosh and it airs at 10:35 p.m. Sunday nights during the season. It is the 13th consecutive year in which CU and KCNC have maintained a partnership to produce the CU coach's show.

Prior to the Big 12 Conference's television contract which almost exclusively guarantees games on ABC and FOX Sports, KCNC televised 51 Colorado games between 1985 and 1995, with CU posting a 44-6-1 record in those games.

MEDIA SERVICES

Colorado

Press Luncheons: Rick Neuheisel will hold Monday press conferences starting Sept. 8 through Dec. 8 (except the Mondays prior to open weeks) in the Dal Ward Center. Lunch is served at 11:30 a.m., with Neuheisel starting the conference at Noon.

Big Four Huddle: This gathering has been cancelled for the 1997 season.

Video Highlights: Colorado football highlights can be obtained through Bill Wong of the CU Sports Video department (303/492-7354).

Weekly Releases: Colorado's weekly news release will be available through a FAX network. Weekly mailings are limited but can be requested, but media members can call one number and access a menu that will provide information on demand. For further details, call the CU Athletic Media Relations office at 303/492-5626.

Internet: All Colorado media relations information is available on the Internet at: <http://buffaloes.colorado.edu>

Big 12

Monday Coaches Briefing: All 12 league coaches are available Mondays throughout the season (Aug. 25 through Dec. 8) on a Big 12 Football Coaches Teleconference. Neuheisel is on week at 10:40 a.m. mountain; please call the conference office for access information (214/742-1212).

Video Highlights: Details were not finalized at press time; please call the league office for information (214/742-1212).

Weekly Releases: All Big 12 schools and the league office will again offer a convenient way to obtain their news releases this year. Through Pivotal Communications of Atlanta, Ga., release statistics, game notes, schedules and other information will be available through a "Fax-on-Demand" Network. This system allows the media to retrieve information easily and instantaneously. Everything can be done through the hands of a FAX machine; as a result, schools and the league office have for the most part eliminated the weekly mailings. To participate, media members can contact the CU Athletic Media Relations office or the Big 12 Conference office at 214/742-1212.

INTERVIEW POLICIES

- Media representatives desiring access to players, coaches and facilities must obtain the consent of the Athletic Media Relations Office.
- Practices are generally open, but could be closed on rare occasions. When practice is open, the following rules apply:
 - Occasionally, there will be times when certain plays and formations are not to be taped, filmed, photographed or reported. In addition, no microphones at any time can be placed in a position where they can pick up the cadence from the line of scrimmage. Violation of this will result in the revocation of all privileges.
 - Members of the media are not to attempt to talk or interview the players during the daily interview moratorium period (2:15 p.m. through the end of practice). In addition, media members are to be on the sidelines only and are not to be in the end zones or on the playing field at any practice (either in the stadium or on the lower grass practice fields).
 - Live television shots must be approved by the Athletic Media Relations Office and the Head Coach in advance.
- The following are times when football players may be interviewed (in season):

9:00 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. ... *Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday
After Practice ... Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
(*—2:00 p.m. after return to standard time)

The cutoff point for player interviews is 2:00 p.m. the Thursday prior to the game. Any exceptions must be approved by the Head Coach (including any interviews on the road: newspaper, radio or television). Coaches are available for interviews Monday through Friday noon, then afterwards at their discretion. All are available following games. Television interviews can take place between 1:00 p.m. and 2:00 p.m. and following practice. Photographers are allowed to shoot practice footage, as long as they follow the guidelines of 2A above.

No posed pictures (either for newspapers or television) are to be taken between 2:00 p.m. and the end of practice.
- Exceptions to any of the above must be approved by the Athletic Media Relations Office and the Head Coach. Exceptions will be limited; one is the filming of head shots and brief interview for national, regional or local television games (usually require the Friday before the game).
- The lockerroom will be closed to the media during preseason practice, game week and spring football. It will be open following all games and scrimmages. When the lockerroom is closed, nearby meeting rooms and hallways are utilized for interviews.
 - A member of the AMR Office will be on hand to help arrange interviews following practice. Members of the media are to advise the AMR Office that they will need to conduct interview following practice (same-day notification at practice is fine).
- The training room, the equipment room and the weight room are AT ALL TIMES off-limits to the media. The only exception to this rule is if a special feature involving one of the areas is requested approval must be sought in advance from the AMR Office and the proper department head.
- The Head Coach will hold a Monday Noon press luncheon to discuss the previous Saturday's game and the upcoming week's game. He can also be heard via conference call (Mondays at 10:40 a.m. MT on the Big 12 Conference call-in).
- Sunday is the standard day off for players and coaches. Any requests of their time on Sunday will be handled on an individual basis through the AMR Office.
- Road practices are open only to members of the media which cover CU on a regular basis, as well as any members of the national media. The Head Coach is available for interviews with opponent media based on his personal discretion, as is their admittance to any road practice.
- It is the request of the University of Colorado football program that players are not to be called at home, unless permission has been granted by the player himself or through the director of media relations. Even though most phone numbers are generally listed in directory information, players are allowed to decline interviews when they have been reached at home when an interview has not been approved.

DENVER-BOULDER METRO AREA FACTS

The Sporting News ranked the Denver-Boulder area as the No. 1 sports city in America in its June 30, 1997 issue. A city has to have a franchise in all four major leagues (NFL, NBA, NHL and baseball), and also claim a university for Division I football and basketball.

The Denver-Boulder metropolitan area is the 22nd largest (1.85 million) in the United States, according to the population statistics in the 1990 census. Denver is the 26th largest city in the census, with a population of 468,000.

Denver, located just 25 miles southeast of the University of Colorado-Boulder campus, is the largest city in the Big Eight Conference area. Oklahoma City is 29th in the country, followed by Kansas City (31st) and St. Louis (34th) in the top 40.

Boulder is not classified as a suburb of Denver; it's nestled in its own valley at the foothills of the rugged Rocky Mountains. Thus, CU students and employees can live and work with the knowledge that they're in the unique situation of being "close to a big city, yet far enough away."

Called the "Mile High City" because it is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level, Denver's central location in the United States provides convenient access for the entire country. Denver International Airport is the fourth busiest airport in the country, serving almost 200 U.S. cities and over two dozen foreign countries.

Denver boasts four major league teams: the Broncos in the NFL, the Nuggets in the NBA, the Colorado Rockies in the National League (baseball), and the Stanley Cup champion Avalanche in the NHL. There are only two other colleges in addition to the University of Colorado that are unique in the fact that they are not located within a city, yet have four major league teams for their liking within a 25-mile drive.

Boulder is a sports-oriented town, and was named the No. 1 outdoor sports town by Outdoor Magazine in 1990. It is home of the Bolder Boulder, the second largest 10K race in the nation (with over 35,000 runners and walkers every Memorial Day). Boulder is also the home and training ground for several of the world's Olympic-class athletes.

- As for the climate, there are over 320 days of sunshine annually in Colorado. It is not unusual to often have 60 and 70 degree days occasionally during the winter months, and the humidity hovers at a low percentage virtually year 'round. The large snowfalls are usually confined to the mountain areas, providing the base for the dozens of Colorado ski resorts and its number one economic resource.

NEUHEISEL FOOTBALL TECHNIQUE SCHOOL

The Rick Neuheisel Football Technique School has become the most popular in the Rocky Mountain Region, as kids from ages eight to 18 have annually come to Boulder to enjoy a week's worth of learning and recreation.

Called one of the best football camps in America, the school features CU head coach Rick Neuheisel, the Buffalo coaching staff, and several area college and high school coaches. The strength of the CU technique school is the player-to-coach ratio (never more than 10-1) and the emphasis on teaching.

Neuheisel started using the camps in 1997 to also serve as a reunion for former CU players now in the NFL. Those who returned also helped with camp and included the likes of Kordell Stewart, Eric Bieniemy and Heath Irwin.

The majority of the school is spent on the field in the actual teaching and drilling of the fundamentals and techniques of each position, the same exact things the Colorado Buffaloes are taught. Campers will learn about the importance of attitude, discipline, work, pride and team concept, the same qualities that have made CU a national championship program.

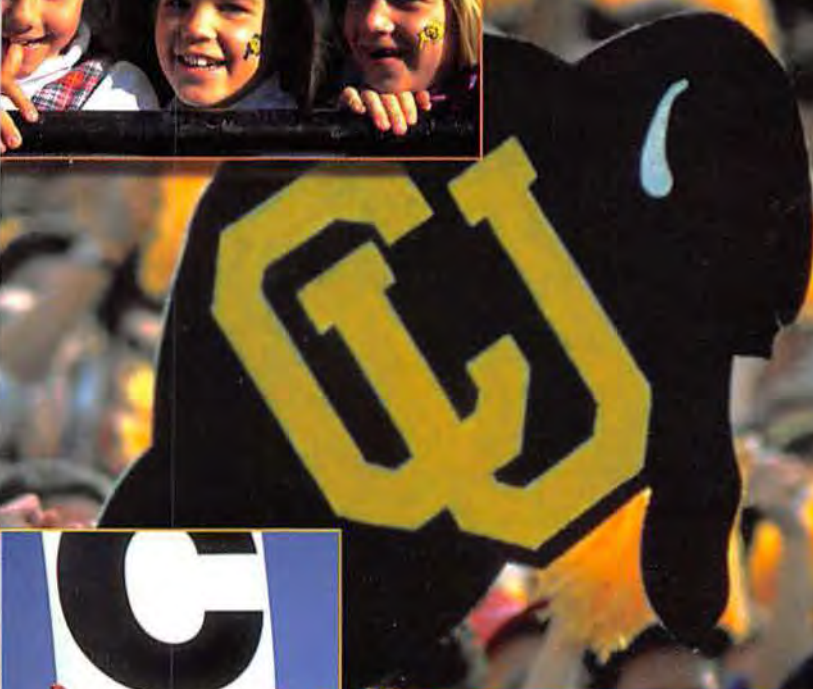

Following dinner, campers play "Buff Ball," which is best explained as fast break basketball on grass. Afterwards, they have a choice of hit movies to watch prior to lights out.

The Buffalo Technique School is now one of the largest youth football camps in the nation, as over 1,200 participated in 1997. But even with these large numbers, kids come away from the camp with the feeling of having a quality individual experience.

Camp dates for 1998 are tentatively scheduled for June 17-20 (8 to 13-year-olds) and June 21-25 (14 years and older). Rates are available for daycampers (in the $150-175 range) and dormcampers ($250-300). For more information, call the CU football office at 303/492-5371.
